- 2 Vertigans, Stephen
Sociology of terrorism: peoples, places and processes / Stephen Vertigans.-- London: Routledge, 2011. 214p.
ISBN : 9780415572651.
303.625 VER11 103283
This is the first terrorism textbook based on sociological research. It adopts an innovative framework that draws together historical and modern, local and global, and social processes for a range of individuals, groups and societies. Individual behaviour and dispositions are embedded within these broader relationships and activities, allowing a more holistic account of terrorism to emerge. In addition, the shifting forms of identification and interwoven attitudes to political violence are discussed in order to explain the emergence, continuation, and end of 'terrorist' careers. The book draws on examples from across the discursive spectrum, including religious, 'red' and 'black' racist, nationalist, and trans-national. It also spans territories as diverse as Chechnya, Germany, Italy, Japan, Northern Ireland, Pakistan, Palestine, Saudi Arabia, South America, the UK, and the US.

304 FACTORS AFFECTING SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR

- 3 Demography and migration in Asia: issues and trends / Anita Sengupta and Suchandana Chatterjee, Ed.-- Kolkata: Shipra Publications, 2011. 175p.
ISBN : 9788175415874.
304.6095 SEN11 103547
Migration trends in Eurasia and South Asia reflect a common feature--dominant communities are engaged in multi level competition as well as collaboration. These trends are analysed in both short-term and long-term historical perspectives and the locales of settlement have been emphasised. The profile of the migrant has also assumed great prominence. Elaborating about the patterns of migration in Siberia, Central Asia and India, scholars in the volume have discussed related issues on these aspects and diverse migrant experiences. The volume not only deals with migration as a specimen but also as a tool of interdisciplinary research. Demography, another related aspect of migration and the dispersal of population across the Asiatic borderlands is another focus. The intricacies in the Russian Far East have been compared with those of eastern and north-eastern regions of India.

320 POLITICAL SCIENCE

- 4 Democracy in the Arab world: explaining the deficit / edited by Ibrahim Elbadawi and Samir Makdisi.-- London: Routledge, 2011. 331p.
 ISBN : 9780415779999.
 320.174927 ELB11 103071
 Despite notable socio-economic development in the Arab region, a deficit in democracy and political rights has continued to prevail. This book examines the major reasons underlying the persistence of this democracy deficit over the past decades, drawing on case studies from across the Arab world to explore economic development, political institutions and social factors, and the impact of oil wealth and regional wars.

320.5 POLITICAL IDEOLOGIES

- 5 Bilgin, Fevzi
 Political liberalism in Muslim societies / Fevzi Bilgin.- New York: Routledge, 2011. 141p.
 ISBN : 9780415781824.
 320.51091767 BIL11 102716
 This book examines Rawls's theory of political liberalism in the context of Muslim societies, where religion wields a significant social and political influence. Contrasting a sociological analysis with a theoretical approach, the author explores the political questions brought up by religious individuals, organizations, and minorities, and examines fundamental notions such as neutrality of state, public/private distinction, and individual autonomy. Offering a rich set of conceptual and normative instruments, the author presents new ways to incorporate political liberalism into political discourses and advocating policy prescriptions for the advancement of democracy in Muslim societies

327.1 FOREIGN POLICY AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

- 6 Jacksons, Patrick Thaddeus
 The conduct of inquiry in international relations: philosophy of science and its implications for the study of world politics / Patrick Thaddeus Jacksons.-- London: Routledge, 2011. 268p.
 ISBN : 9780415776271.
 327.101 JAC11 102283
 The Conduct of Inquiry in International Relations provides an introduction to the philosophy of science issues and their implications for the study of global politics. The author draws attention to the problems caused by the misleading notion of a single unified scientific method, and proposes a framework that clarifies the variety of ways that IR scholars establish the authority and validity of their empirical claims.

The world at large is watching both China and India as powerhouses of economic growth. The two nations have achieved significantly high rates of economic growth ever since their respective economies liberalized in 1978 and 1991. Singapore, despite its limited land size and almost total dependence on external trade, has performed remarkably well and has moved 'from the third world to the first'. This book documents and explains the rapid economic growth of the three key Asian economies.

355.03 MILITARY SITUATION AND POLICY

- 9 Tan, Andrew T H
Security strategies in the Asia-Pacific: the United States' "second front" in Southeast Asia / Andrew T H Tan -- New York: Palgrave Macmillan, 2011. 264p.
ISBN : 9780230116832.

355.033559 TAN11 103724

After 9/11, the U.S.-led global war on terrorism has intruded into an already complex security environment in the Malay archipelago, home to the world's largest population of Muslims, with the potential to catalyze or unleash further dynamics that could destabilize the region. This book argues that, given the existence of a discrete Malay archipelago security complex, with its security linkages and interactive dynamics, it is a fallacy for the United States to approach this region primarily through the prism of global counter-terrorism. Instead, any strategic policy towards the region needs to be founded upon a deep appreciation of the existing Malay archipelago security complex.
