304 FACTORS AFFECTING SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR

Immigration, Social Integration and Crime: a cross-national approach / Luigi M. Solivetti.-- New York:
Routledge, 2010. 202 p.
ISBN : 9780415490726.
304.84 SOL10 102250
The problem of social control has constituted the acid test for the entire issue of immigration and integration.
But whilst recent studies show that the crime rate for non nationals is three, four or more, times higher than that of the country's 'own' citizens, academic interest in these statistics has been inhibited by the political difficulties they raise. Immigration, Social Integration and Crime addresses this issue directly. Providing a thorough analysis of immigration and crime rates in all of the main European countries, as well as examining the situation in the US, Luigi M. Solivetti concludes that the widespread notion that a large non-national population produces high crime rates must be rejected.

Noting the undeniably substantial, but significantly variable, contribution of non-nationals to crime statistics in Western Europe.

305 SOCIAL GROUPS

- 4 Peripheral centre: voices from India's northeast / edited by Preeti Gill.-- New Delhi: Zubaan, 2010. 397 p.

When Thangjam Manorama was arrested and killed by the Assam Rifles in July 2004 in Manipur, it unleashed a protest likes of which no one had witnessed before. This was one of the triggers for this collection - to provide a space for women and men from the 'Northeast' to tell us about the issues that confronted them daily, to talk about the pressures, the insecurities, the uncertainties confronting them in an area that has been facing low intensity warfare for decades. The anger and the frustrations of the Manipuri women who staged that dramatic protest after Manorama's killing have in many ways been vindicated. Each essay in this book brings to mind that troubling image, each contributor points to the Manipuri women, holding them up as a flag of rebellion, of protest, of questioning. Each essay questions issues of nation, identity, of what makes the people of the Northeast so alienated.

Ethnic conflict: Causes - consequences - response / Karl Cordell and Stefan Wolff.-- Cambridge: Polity, 2010. 231 p .
ISBN : 9780745639307.

Ethnic conflict remain one of the major security challenges in today's world? Can we avoid another Rwanda in the future? How was it possible, after almost four decades, to achieve a lasting settlement to the conflict in Northern Ireland, while that in Kashmir remains unresolved after more than sixty years. These and other questions are the focus of this book. Investigating the causes and consequences of ethnic conflict, the authors argue that the most effective responses are those that take into account factors at the local, state, regional and global level and which avoid seeking simplistic explanations and solutions to what is a truly complex phenomenon.

Yet it is increasingly clear that change is afoot. While the United States remains the world's leading power thanks to its combination of military and economic strength, technological prowess, and cultural appeal Washington cannot simply impose its
