Executive Summary

There has been a healthy tradition of national consensus in the conduct of India's Foreign Policy. The United Progressive Alliance (UPA) Government led by the Congress Party under the leadership of Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh, on assumption of power in May 2004, entrusted the External Affairs portfolio to Shri K. Natwar Singh, a career diplomat and veteran in the conduct of foreign policy and international relations. He is assisted by two Ministers of State, Shri E. Ahamed and Shri Rao Inderjit Singh. Shri Shyam Saran took over as Foreign Secretary from Shri Shashank on 1 August 2004.

The guiding principles of India's Foreign Policy have been founded on Panchsheel, pragmatism and pursuit of national interest. In a period of rapid and continuing change, foreign policy must be capable of responding optimally to new challenges and opportunities. It has to be an integral part of the larger effort of building the nation's capabilities through economic development, strengthening social fabric and well-being of the people and protecting India's sovereignty and territorial integrity. India's foreign policy is a forward-looking engagement with the rest of the world, based on a rigorous, realistic and contemporary assessment of the bilateral, regional and global geo-political and economic milieu.

The UPA Government accorded high priority to continuing the composite dialogue with Pakistan and further strengthening the already existing close relations with neighbouring countries and India's extended neighbourhood. Major world powers, notably the permanent members of the UN Security Council, Brazil, Egypt, Germany, Japan, Mauritius, Nigeria, Senegal, South Africa and ASEAN countries, engaged the Ministry's high attention. But even greater priority and attention was accorded to countries in Africa, Latin America and Small Island countries in India's bid to forge new partnerships of mutual advantage, thereby contributing towards the process of socio-economic development and building world peace.

Even though India is not a traditional donor country, nearly 1,300 crores rupees were spent in providing overseas development aid to friendly countries.

Neighbours

The logic of geography is unrelenting and proximity is the most difficult and testing among diplomatic challenges a country faces. While globalization has brought many benefits and opportunities for development and enrichment of our lives, there are also fears of losing one's identity and of being overwhelmed by the powerful and technologically advanced societies.

India is today one of the most dynamic and fastest growing economies of the world. It constitutes not only a vast and growing market, but also a competitive source of technologies and knowledge-based services. Countries across the globe are beginning to see India as an indispensable economic partner and seeking mutually rewarding economic and commercial links with its emerging economy. Should not India's neighbours also seek to share in the prospects for mutual prosperity India offers to them? Do countries in our neighbourhood envisage their own security and development in cooperation with India or in hostility to India or by seeking to isolate themselves from India against the logic of our geography?

Some neighbours have taken advantage of India's strengths and are reaping both economic and political benefits as a result. Others are not. If globalisation implies that no country can develop in an autarchic environment, is this not true even more for countries within a region? If SAARC is to evolve into an organisation relevant to the aspirations of the peoples of South Asia, then these questions will need deep reflection and honest answers.

India would like the whole of South Asia to emerge as a community of flourishing democracies. India believes that democracy would provide a more enduring and broad-based foundation for an edifice of peace and cooperation in sub-continent. Half a century of political experience in South Asia has provided a clear lesson that while expediency may yield short term advantage, it also leads to a harmful corrosion of our core values of respect for pluralism and human rights. The interests of the people of South Asia sharing a common history and destiny, requires that we remain alert to the possible dangers we face when attempts are made to extinguish a democratic order or yield space to extremist and communal forces. While democracy remains India's abiding conviction, the importance of its neighbourhood requires that India remains engaged with whichever government is exercising authority in any country in its neighbourhood.

India is prepared to throw open its markets to all the neighbours. India is prepared to invest capital in rebuilding and upgrading cross-border infrastructure with each one of them. In a word, India is prepared to make its neighbours full stakeholders in India's economic destiny and, through such cooperation, in creating a truly vibrant and globally competitive South Asian Economic Community.

Afghanistan: Bilateral relations between India and Afghanistan attained a new level of intensity and cooperation. There were regular political interactions between the two countries. Prime Minister, in his meeting with President Karzai in New York on the sidelines of UN General Assembly, underlined India's commitment to further strengthen bilateral relations between the two countries and also reiterated India's support for the economic reconstruction effort in Afghanistan. India's present commitments add up to US $ 400 million over the period 2002-2008, which is a substantial amount for a non-traditional donor.

Bangladesh, Maldives and Sri Lanka: India maintained close relations with Bangladesh, Maldives and Sri Lanka. India's quick response in providing relief assistance to Sri Lanka and Maldives following the tragic 26 December 2004 Tsunami devastation, has been widely recognised.

Bhutan: India's relations with Bhutan are characterised by a high level of mutual understanding, trust and confidence. The regular exchange of high level visits imparts new dynamism and momentum to our growing and mutually beneficial cooperation. His Majesty King Jigme Singye Wangchuck of Bhutan was the Chief Guest at the Republic Day celebrations in January this year.

Myanmar: India's policy of constructive engagement with Myanmar continued during 2004-05. Senior General Than Shwe, Chairman of the State Peace and Development Council (SPDC) of Myanmar paid a State visit to India from 24-29 October 2004. He categorically stated that Myanmar would not allow its territory to be used for insurgent activity against India. India is also working towards economic development and integration of the North Eastern states with Myanmar by developing mutually beneficial cross border projects in the fields of roads, railways, power, science and technology, communications and information technology. Further, Myanmar is emerging as an important partner in strengthening India's energy security.

Nepal: India is deeply concerned about the political and security situation in Nepal, following the dissolution of the multi-party Government, declaration of emergency and arrest of political leaders by the King of Nepal on 1 February 2005. These developments in Nepal constitute a serious setback to the cause of democracy, which would only benefit the anti-constitutional forces. India has always believed that the challenges being faced by Nepal can be addressed effectively only on the basis of national consensus. In this context, we have called for an early revival of normal democratic processes in Nepal. On its part, India will continue to support all efforts for the restoration of political stability and economic prosperity in Nepal.

Pakistan: The Government pursued a proactive policy of constructive engagement to establish peaceful, friendly and cooperative relations with Pakistan with the larger objective of cementing a viable structure of peace and stability in South Asia. Based on the solemn commitment given by the President of Pakistan on 6 January 2004 in Islamabad not to permit any territory under Pakistan's control to be used to support terrorism, the two countries maintained their Composite Dialogue in 2004-05. The engagement has resulted in significant achievements such as restoration of relations at the level of High Commissioners, enhanced people-to-people and institutional contacts, and increased communication links. Significantly, the Ceasefire has held since November 2003. Both countries are currently negotiating various proposals, which will enhance security, improve economic cooperation, and institutionalize bilateral contacts. The year 2004-05 also witnessed high level contacts such as meeting between Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh and President General Pervez Musharraf in New York on 21 September 2004, and Pakistan PM Shaukat Aziz's visit to India from 22-23 November 2004. External Affairs Minister met the Foreign Minister of Pakistan on 5-6 September 2004 in Delhi to review the overall progress in the Composite Dialogue and made a bilateral visit to Pakistan from 15-17 February 2005, where it was agreed to commence the Muzaffarabad-Srinagar Bus Service w.e.f. 7 April 2005 and start a bus service from Amritsar to Lahore, including to religious places such as Nankana Sahib.

Iran: The year 2004-05 saw further deepening and consolidation of India-Iran ties. The increased momentum of high-level exchanges, institutional linkages between their National Security Councils and Joint Commission Meeting were the highlights in 2004-05. The common resolve to impart a strategic character to the relationship was conceptualized and expounded in the New Delhi Declaration, signed in January 2003, which touches upon all aspects of bilateral relations as well as regional and global issues of mutual concern.

South East Asia and Pacific

India's relations with countries of South East Asia and the Pacific continued to broaden and intensify during the year. Important visitors from the region were Prime Ministers of Singapore, New Zealand and Malaysia. The Foreign Minister of Solomon Islands visited India in January 2005. External Affairs Minister attended a Special ASEAN Leaders' Summit in Jakarta in the aftermath of the Tsunami disaster. He visited Indonesia to participate in the 11th ARF Meeting and during the visit, a bilateral MoU on Cooperation to Combat International Terrorism was signed with Indonesia. He also signed separate MoUs with Laos, Myanmar and Vietnam for setting up Entrepreneurship development Centres by India in the three capitals. The first of such Centres was inaugurated by External Affairs Minister in Vientiane on 27 November 2004.

East Asia

China: India continued to view bilateral relations with China in a positive spirit, seeking friendly, cooperative, good-neighbourly and mutually beneficial relations on the basis of the Five Principles of Peaceful Coexistence and mutual sensitivity to each other's concerns and aspirations. India also maintained its commitment to the process of dialogue to resolve outstanding differences and to build a long-term constructive and cooperative relationship with China, marked by continuity, consolidation, and sustained momentum of high-level dialogue. Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh met Chinese Premier Wen Jiabao on 30 November 2004 on the sidelines of the 3rd India-ASEAN Summit in Vientiane, Laos. Bilateral dialogue mechanism was strengthened with the introduction of the Strategic Dialogue, which was held between Foreign Secretary and Chinese Vice Foreign Minister in New Delhi on 24 January 2005. Confidence Building Measures between the two militaries were further strengthened through exchanges/interactions at various levels. India-China trade maintained its momentum of growth and crossed the US$ 13 billion mark in 2004. A notable event during the year was the commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of Panchsheel which was jointly propounded by India and China, with events organised in the capitals of both countries.

Japan: The period 2004-05 was an active year in bilateral relations between India and Japan. The momentum of exchanges between the two countries continued during the year in pursuance of the Global Partnership for the 21st Century that India and Japan jointly established in 2000 to broaden and deepen bilateral relations. Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh met Prime Minister of Japan Mr. Junichiro Koizumi on the sidelines of ASEAN Summit in Vientiane, Laos on 29 November 2004 during which both leaders discussed issues of mutual concern. Japanese Foreign Minister Yoriko Kawaguchi visited India from 12-14 August 2004. Both sides agreed to support each other's candidature for permanent seat in the expanded UN Security Council and closely work together towards realizing the reform of the UN Security Council.

Republic of Korea (ROK): The year 2004-05 marked the 30th Anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between India and the ROK. President Mr. Roh Moo-hyun's visit to India from 4-6 October 2004 gave further impetus to bilateral relations. External Affairs Minister visited ROK from 14-16 December 2004 to co-chair the third session of the India-ROK Joint Commission.

Eurasia

India's relationship of friendship, warmth and mutual support with the countries of the Commonwealth Independent States (CIS) region was further strengthened during the year. A 'Focus CIS' programme was launched to provide a boost to economic and trade relations. High level visits were exchanged on a regular basis with the countries of the region. These were complemented by the visits of trade delegations and through participation in industrial and consumer goods exhibitions. Indian cultural festivals and media exchanges have further enhanced the scope of India's relations with the region.

Indo-Russian relations are a matter of considerable importance to both the countries. This year witnessed a concerted effort by both the sides to transform cooperation from a declaratory stage to a constructive phase. The visit by President Vladimir V. Putin to India from 3-5 December 2004 for the fifth India-Russia Annual Summit provided an occasion for both the countries to review the state of their bilateral relations, discuss regional and international issues of mutual concern and to provide a bilateral focus on energy, IT, banking and other areas of high technology.

The third trilateral meeting of the Foreign Ministers of Russia, China and India was held on 21 October 2004 at Almaty on the sidelines of the CICA Foreign Ministers'

Meeting. They exchanged views on issues of regional and international interest, and agreed to explore the possibility of trilateral economic cooperation.

Europe

India's engagement with the individual countries in Europe and the European Union continued to grow during the year. Interactions were marked by regular exchanges of visits, including at the highest level, demonstrating a mutual desire to deepen and diversify bilateral relations. India shared a strategic relationship with France, Germany and UK and growing ties with a number of other countries in Europe, aimed at promoting more intensive bilateral cooperation over a wide range of areas. The 5th India-EU Summit, held at The Hague in November 2004, was a landmark in India's relations with the EU, for it launched the India-EU Strategic Partnership in recognition of India's growing stature as a major regional and global player. Interactions with individual member countries in Europe reflected a shared understanding on various international issues. On the debate of the UN reforms, India was able to garner significant support from several EU Member States. India and Germany, in a strategic move, agreed to support each other's candidature in an expanded UNSC.

Economic considerations continue to underpin India's strong ties with countries in Europe. EU Member States' desire to enter into bilateral agreements/MoUs for enhanced S&T cooperation in niche areas of technology, demonstrate the growing recognition of India's potential in this area. The civil society dialogue with the major European countries, represented by the different Eminent Persons Group, contributed to strengthening the multi-faceted relationship.

India has traditionally enjoyed friendly and substantive relations with 29 countries of the Europe-II Division, created in the Ministry in March 2004. The year under review saw epochal changes in the eco-political geometry of the region. On 2 April 2004 seven East European countries, viz. Bulgaria, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Romania, Slovakia and Slovenia joined the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO). A month later, the European Union was enlarged to take ten more Member States. By the year-end, the EU decided that Bulgaria and Romania were on track to join the body in 2007/2008. The EU also decided to commence accession negotiations with Croatia and Turkey. The EU being our largest trading partner and source of investment, the ongoing changes have direct implications for India. The Ministry has encouraged and fostered high-level political interactions and increased economic cooperation with all the countries.

Gulf Countries

The year 2004-05 witnessed significant developments in India's relations with the Gulf countries including the visit by External Affairs Minister to Oman and UAE in December 2004, Kuwaiti Foreign Minister to India in August 2004, Minister of State Shri E. Ahamed to Saudi Arabia (June & November 2004), Bahrain (August 2004), Qatar (October 2004), Oman (November 2004) and Yemen & Kuwait (February 2005). Signing of the Framework Agreement on Economic Cooperation between India and GCC is a landmark development. President of India visited Abu Dhabi in November 2004 to condole the death of President Sheikh Zayed. The Conference of Heads of Mission in West Asia was held in Dubai under the Chairmanship of External Affairs Minister to give a fresh direction and thrust to our diplomatic efforts in the region. India participated in the Iraq Donors Conference in Doha (May 2004) Tokyo (October 2004). Three Indian nationals, who were held hostage by an Iraqi militant group in July 2004, were released unharmed after sustained diplomatic efforts. Extradition Treaties were signed with Kuwait and Oman. The GCC countries extended broad support to India's candidature for Permanent Membership of the Security Council.

West Asia and North Africa

India's relationship with West Asia and North Africa (WANA) region received further boost during the year. High level visits included visits of Moroccan Prime Minister and Israeli Vice Prime Minister to India. The visit of Moroccan PM was the first high level visit from the Arab world to India since June 2005. A high-level delegation including a Cabinet Minister led by External Affairs Minister attended the funeral of President Arafat at Cairo on 12 November 2004. Economic relations between India and WANA region showed a substantial growth, particularly with Libya and Israel. India has entered the hydrocarbon sector in Sudan, Libya, Egypt and Syria through acquisition of stakes in oil exploration and gas distribution. Mr. Mahmoud Abbas was elected as the new President of the Palestinian National Authority following the demise of President Yasser Arafat. A significant development was the resumption of the peace dialogue between the Israel and Palestinian leadership at Sharm Al Sheikh Summit on 8 February 2005. India has appointed Special Envoy to the West Asia and Middle East Peace Process.

East and Southern Africa

India's relations with the East and Southern African countries strengthened during the year. President of Zanzibar visited India in March 2004. India's Vice President visited South Africa to participate in their 10th Freedom Day in April 2004. Rashtrapati visited Tanzania and South Africa in September 2004. He had the rare honour of addressing the Pan-African Parliament, the first non-African Head of State to do so.

India participated in various peacekeeping operations in Africa such as Burundi, Ivory Coast, DRC, etc. which had been suffering from civil war, ethnic violence, etc. A large contingent from the Indian army forms part of the UN Force, which is keeping peace between Eritrea and Ethiopia. The present commander of this force (UNMEE – United Nations Mission in Ethiopia and Eritrea) is a senior army officer from India.

There is universal recognition in Africa that India has now become a major power in every sense of the word. This is why most countries of Africa have enthusiastically endorsed India's candidature for a permanent seat in the UN Security Council. The Indian communities in various African countries have, in recent years, proved themselves as a valuable bridge strengthening the relationship between India and their countries of residence.

West Africa

India continued to enjoy cordial links with the countries of West Africa. Indian Diplomatic Missions in West Africa were strengthened and decision has also been taken to reopen the Indian Embassy in Kinshasa, Democratic Republic of Congo. The region holds great promise for India's energy security and the Ministry took the initiative in exploring possibilities to access the oil and petroleum sector in this region, particularly in Angola, Nigeria, Cote d'Ivoire, Mauritania and Equatorial Guinea. India also established its close cooperation with the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) and High Commissioner of India to Nigeria was made the Permanent Representative accredited to the ECOWAS. Technical assistance and development aid continued with food aid being given to Cote d'Ivoire and Guinea. Anti-HIV drugs were also sent to countries in this region. The President of Nigeria paid a transit visit to India in November 2004 and had meeting with Prime Minister. The launch of the new initiative TEAM-9, a techno-economic cooperation venture between India and eight countries of West Africa, was a major initiative aimed at demonstrating the special focus that India was putting on Africa in general and West Africa in particular.

Americas

USA: India and US continued their intensive engagement as reflected in the frequency and intensity of bilateral contacts and dialogue. Both sides showed strong commitment to engage across the wide spectrum of their relationship that included strategic and security issues, defence, counter-terrorism, counter-proliferation, science and technology, health, trade, space, energy and environment.

The Prime Minister had a meeting with President Bush on the sidelines of the UNGA in New York on 17 September 2004. The Joint Statement "US-India Partnership: Cooperation & Trust" issued after the meeting laid out the future directions of our relationship and noted that "bilateral relations had never been as close as they were at present". The meeting served to underline its strategic dimension including our commitment to combating WMD proliferation, terrorism and enhancing global security. The leaders noted that the implementation of first phase of the Next Steps in Strategic Partnership (NSSP) marked the beginning of a new era of cooperation and trust. Emphasis was also laid on advancing economic cooperation in multilateral institutions including WTO's Doha Development Agenda, and through bilateral mechanisms including the India-US Economic Dialogue and the High Technology Cooperation Group (HTCG).

High-level engagement at the political level continued through the year. External Affairs Minister's visit to Washington DC in June 2004 and his meetings subsequently with his US counterpart Secretary of State Colin Powell on the sidelines of ARF on 1-2 July 2004 and again in January 2005 in the aftermath of Tsunami, both held in Jakarta, served to establish and consolidate political level contacts between the two countries after the formation of new Government in India. On the US side, then Deputy Secretary of State Richard Armitage, visited New Delhi on 13-14 July 2004; US Defence Secretary Donald Rumsfeld visited India on 8-9 December 2004.

Canada: The Prime Minister of Canada Mr. Paul Martin visited India on 17-18 January 2005. In a Joint Statement the two leaders agreed on the initiatives to strengthen and enhance the architecture of India-Canada partnership and contribute to global challenges more effectively. The two Prime Ministers agreed that India and Canada should enhance their dialogues on international, regional and global strategic issues. Both leaders also recognized a multilateral initiative for regional warning and natural disaster preparedness as a priority. India and Canada continued to actively promote bilateral trade and investment during the year.

Latin American Countries (LAC)

The level of engagement of the Government of India with the Latin American region continued to strengthen and deepen in 2004. The thrust of policy towards the region is to strengthen and widen the existing relationship, setting up a mechanism for political dialogue and cooperation, and enhancing trade and commerce. Framework agreements are established with the regional groupings such as with the MERCOSUR group of countries, Political Dialogue and Cooperation mechanism with the CAN (Andean Community), a standing Joint Commission on consultation, cooperation and coordination with CARICOM and mechanism of political consultations with the Central American Group of countries (SICA).

United Nations and DISA

Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh led the Indian delegation to the 59th session of the UN General Assembly and in his address, reaffirmed India's commitment to multilateralism. Prime Minister emphasized the need to reform the United Nations system including through expansion of the Security Council, in both permanent and non-permanent categories, to make it a truly representative body. India is presently one of the leading troop contributors to the UN peacekeeping operations.

India's commitment to non-discriminatory and universal nuclear disarmament and the global elimination of all Weapons of Mass Destruction (WMD) continued to be reflected in its policy pronouncements and diplomatic initiatives. The country's stand on issues related to disarmament and international security in various multilateral and regional forums was premised on India's national security interests and its tradition of close engagement with the international community to promote cooperative efforts at addressing these challenges.

Bilateral dialogues with key countries continued to be pursued this year and harmonisation of India's national imperatives and security obligations with international concerns on non-proliferation and disarmament also progressed steadily. On the regional level, India's participation in the confidence and security building process and structure under the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and Conference on Interaction and Confidence Building Measures in Asia (CICA) acquired greater momentum. Regular contacts were maintained with key international and non-governmental organisations active in the field of disarmament with a view to disseminating India's perspectives on disarmament issues.

Multilateral Economic Relations

In pursuance of the priority attached to India's 'Look East' policy, the Government continued efforts to forge new links and enhance economic cooperation with countries of South-east and East Asia, a geographically contiguous, rapidly growing and dynamic region with which India shares deep-rooted cultural and civilizational ties. The 1st ever BIMSTEC Summit was held in Bangkok on 30-31 July 2004. The 3rd India-ASEAN Summit was held in Vientiane, Lao PDR on 29-30 November 2004 during which the landmark "India ASEAN Partnership for Peace, Progress and Shared Prosperity" document was signed. The first India-ASEAN Motor Car Rally, starting from Guwahati in India and concluding at Batam island in Indonesia from 23 November-11 December 2004 after travelling through eight ASEAN countries, was a resounding success.

IBSA: India is cooperating closely with Brazil and South Africa, both bilaterally as well as within the framework of the India, Brazil and South Africa (IBSA) initiative. IBSA provides a unique forum for trilateral cooperation among the three countries.

Investment and Trade Promotion

The Ministry attaches top priority to economic diplomacy in view of the need to protect and promote India's economic and commercial interests abroad in this era of globalization and to face the challenges and exploit the opportunities thrown up by the fast integrating world economy. This includes promotion of trade, two-way foreign investments, exports and increased engagement with regional groupings. Greater emphasis is now laid on economic and commercial part of our relations with friendly countries, particularly the developing ones. The Ministry also believes in a close partnership between Government and business and industry in the pursuit of investment and export promotion goals, and general economic cooperation.

Policy Planning & Research

The Ministry maintained close interaction with several academic and non-governmental organizations and provided financial assistance for holding seminars and undertaking research studies on matters of foreign policy interest. External Affairs Minister has also constituted a Foreign Policy Advisory Group and regular meetings were held to understand and evaluate foreign policy options on emerging major external issues of interest to India. Foreign Policy dialogue was held with China in Beijing on 7 November 2004 and Canada in New Delhi on 28 February 2005.

External Publicity

On External Publicity front, the Ministry continued to express India's perspective on various foreign policy issues with emphasis on clear articulation of the foreign policy direction of the UPA Government since its assumption of office in May 2004. India's intensive engagement with major powers, neighbours and traditional friends naturally received high publicity. The Ministry played a major role in keeping the media abreast of all developments on the external front and notably during the hostage crisis in Iraq and on India's Tsunami relief efforts. The work of the media delegations was facilitated during incoming and outgoing VVIP visits. The Ministry also commissioned several documentaries in consonance with India's foreign policy priorities, brought out the monthly magazine "India Perspectives" and other special publications on important issues and events besides maintaining an active website www.meaindia.nic.in

Protocol

The Ministry remained fully engaged with the growing number of incoming and outgoing high-level visits, conferences, credential ceremonies, official entertainment and other multifarious functions. The Ministry's ability to handle a large number of visits of foreign dignitaries also contributed to India's enhanced international image and profile. Streamlining of protocol norms and standards continued to be a matter of priority.

Consular, Passport & Visa Services

The consular, passport and visa services rendered by the Ministry are its public interface in India and abroad. All the 30 passport offices in India are computerized and issued machine printed and machine-readable passports. As part of the decentralization scheme, approximately 400 district passport cells (DPCs) have been opened in 25 States at district level. This has helped in decongestion of passport offices. The innovative 'Tatkal' scheme for out of turn issue of passports at an extra fee has helped to meet the growing demand for issuance of passports in cases of urgency. Tele-enquiry system is available in 22 passport offices and a touch-screen enquiry kiosk has been introduced in Passport Office, Bangalore on pilot basis. All Missions and posts abroad continued to efficiently meet the Consular needs of overseas Indians. Bilateral agreements with several countries were signed in order to provide a legal and institutional framework to combat organized crime, international terrorism and drug trafficking and growing international dimensions of financial crimes.

Coordination

Coordination Division is the nodal point of the Ministry for all work relating to Parliament and for examination of proposals for clearance of foreign tours of Ministers and legislators of the Union and State Government, and Government officials. This Division also handles clearance for holding international conferences and international sports events in India; participation by Indian sports persons in overseas events; as well as diplomatic clearance for all non-scheduled flights. Observance of Anti-Terrorism Day, Sadbhavana Diwas and Quami Ekta Week/Diwas and processing of recommendations for grant of Padma Awards in respect of nominations of foreign citizens were undertaken. Coordination Division also administers the self-financing scheme for admission of foreign students in selected professional courses in India.

Foreign Service Institute (FSI)

The Foreign Service Institute continued its endeavour to train foreign diplomats apart from training IFS Probationers and other Ministry of External Affairs officials. Three Professional Courses for Foreign Diplomats (PCFD) and two Advanced Courses on Asia for Foreign Diplomats (ACA FD) and a Special Course for Palestinian Diplomats (SCPD), were conducted by the Institute during the year. A Special Course for Canadian Diplomats is to be conducted from 21-24 March 2005. The Virtual Campus of FSI, set up in consultation with Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU) to impart Mid-Career Training to serving Indian diplomats, was inaugurated by the External Affairs Minister on 27 July 2004. The Institute also conducted a two-week residential mid-career Module on Foreign Policy, Security, Economic and Regional Issues for serving Indian diplomats who have completed 18-20 years of service. MoU for Cooperation with Foreign Service Institutes of Bulgaria, Venezuela and Afghanistan were signed during the year.

Administration

Ministry made optimum utilization of available resources in order to ensure its efficient functioning, both at Headquarters and in the 162 Indian Missions/Posts abroad. In order to have adequate number of qualified personnel manning the Ministry and also to provide adequate promotional avenues to officers/staff, Cadre Reviews of IFS and IFS 'B' were completed during the year. The 4th Cadre Review of IFS was aimed at having sufficient number of officers, both at senior and junior levels. The first ever Cadre Review of IFS (B) was implemented to streamline the much needed support staff, as well as to provide relief from stagnation in promotions at various grades. The Ministry also continued with new steps to make the best use of technological resources. As part of a seamless e-governance project, measures like development of a Personnel Information System (PIS), name-based and designation-based e-mail IDs, creation of on-line databases, etc. were carried out.

Consistent with the Government's policy of promotion and propagation of Hindi, the Ministry has been making special efforts to support use of Hindi language. All important documents like bilateral treaties, MoUs, Credentials, Speeches of President and Prime Minister, Annual Report of the Ministry and replies to Parliament Questions were issued bilingually. Most Missions/Posts abroad are now enabled to entertain correspondence in Hindi. 43 students from 18 countries were admitted in the Kendriya Hindi Sansthan, Agra. A Regional Hindi Conference was organized in Romania for propagation of Hindi abroad. A high-level Committee under Minister of State was set up to promote introduction of Hindi as a language in the UN. A Hindi Fortnight was organized in the Ministry in September 2004. Hindi forms an integral part of the Foreign Service Institute's training programmes.

Since its very inception, the Indian Foreign Service has been open to women. The Ministry stays committed to ensuring gender equality in all spheres of its functioning and provides equal opportunities to women officers to take up challenging and prestigious assignments. Women officers are occupying positions of prominence, both at Headquarters and Missions/Posts abroad.

Cultural Relations

The Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR), established in the year 1950, has been functioning as the autonomous cultural wing of the Ministry of External Affairs for furthering the objectives and mandate of India's foreign policy. ICCR's "cultural diplomacy" plays a significant role in strengthening bilateral cultural relations among the nations. ICCR's activities also contribute to creating awareness about India and its rich cultural heritage among the people of other countries. The ICCR fulfils its objectives through activities undertaken by the Indian Cultural Centres and Chairs of Indian Studies abroad, scholarship schemes for overseas students, publications, organizing events of performing/non-performing arts in India and abroad, etc. The Council has nine regional offices in different States of India.

Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS)

RIS is as an autonomous policy think-tank funded by the Ministry. RIS lent its support in preparations for the ASEAN-India Summit, BIMSTEC Ministerial Meeting, NAM Ministerial Meeting, SAARC Ministerial Meeting, UNCTAD XI, the ongoing WTO negotiations, and the bilateral joint study groups on comprehensive economic dialogue with China, South Korea, and various FTA negotiations, among others. It held policy dialogue on the relevance and the way forward for an Asian Economic Community in Tokyo, in collaboration with leading policy think-tanks in Asia, and has networked with policy think-tanks in other countries to bring policy coherence and capacity-building on international economic issues and development cooperation.

India has always accorded priority to relations with its neighbours and maintained close ties with them. Institutional mechanisms with all these countries were reinvigorated and cooperation expanded in diverse areas to mutual benefit. High-level exchanges reflecting the friendship and increasing understanding of each other's interest and common goals were intensified. A significant development in the case of Sri Lanka and Maldives was India's quick response to their request for relief assistance following the tragic Tsunami devastation on 26 December 2004. Although India itself was under pressure in dealing with its own devastation caused by Tsunami, but it acted swiftly. India dispatched immediately, on the 26th itself, relief supplies, medical teams and assistance to Sri Lanka and Maldives by air and sea, which helped in providing succour to the victims. The Indian teams have since been working in the relief operations by providing medical aid, food, water, clothing, prevention of outbreak of epidemic and assisting in rehabilitation projects for the displaced. India's assistance has been widely appreciated in these countries as well as internationally.

India continued to provide development assistance to a large number of projects in each of the neighbouring countries that showcased its expertise in information technology, human resource development, infrastructure engineering (roads and waterways) railways, etc. Cultural and educational exchanges with neighbours grew and India continued to host an increasing number of students for higher studies and training.

Afghanistan

India and Afghanistan have long history of friendship and cultural affinity. Bilateral relations between the two countries have attained a new level of intensity and cooperation. There were regular political interactions between the two countries. India has continued and built further upon its economic and financial assistance for Afghanistan's rehabilitation and reconstruction process.

Prime Minister called on President Karzai on 21

September 2004 in New York, during his visit to New York for the UN General Assembly. The two leaders discussed bilateral issues, including Indian assistance to Afghanistan's reconstruction as well as the presidential elections in Afghanistan. Prime Minister underlined India's commitment to further strengthen bilateral relations between the two countries and also reiterated India's support for the economic reconstruction effort in Afghanistan. Expressing appreciation for India's contribution to Afghanistan's economic reconstruction and rehabilitation, President Karzai sought India's continued cooperation in every sphere, including rebuilding of state institutions.

Some of the important projects operationalised during the period 2004-05 are as follows:

- i) Reconstruction/upgradation of Zaranj-Delaram road (218 kms) at an estimated cost of Rs. 377.47 crore. The project will be executed by Border Roads Organization. The developments in Afghanistan since the Bonn Agreement of December 2001 can be assessed positively. The successful conclusion of the presidential elections was a historic milestone in Afghanistan's history. However, the process of peace and stabilization in Afghanistan is still fragile. Taliban, Al Qaeda and Hizb-e-Islami elements, with support from outside, continue to pose a threat to peace and security. This has been compounded by the continued increase in the cultivation, production and trafficking of narcotic drugs that could undermine the political and economic reconstruction of Afghanistan and has potentially dangerous repercussions for the region and beyond.

Bangladesh

India has very deep historical, cultural and social affiliations with Bangladesh. The institutional mechanisms that govern various aspects of our bilateral ties have diversified in recent years.

The year was marked by high level political visits from Bangladesh. Foreign Minister of Bangladesh (BDFM) Mr. M. Morshed Khan visited India as the special envoy of the Prime Minister of Bangladesh (BDPM) from 31 May – 4 June 2004 to congratulate the new government upon assuming charge. The visit provided an opportunity to discuss issues related to security and other matters of bilateral concern. BDFM also visited India from 31 October to 2 November 2004 as the special envoy of BDPM to invite Indian Prime Minister for the 13th South Asian Association for Regional Co-operation (SAARC) summit to be held at Dhaka in January 2004. Both sides reiterated their commitment to enhance as well as sustain the momentum imparted to cooperative bilateral relations initiated in recent years.

During the talks, Bangladesh agreed to provide double entry and exit visas to Indian citizens transiting through any international airport and/or land port.

The seventh meeting of the Indo-Bangladesh Joint Committee of experts (JCE), chaired by the Water Resources Secretaries of the two countries was held in Dhaka in September 2004. Institutional dialogue on key issues related to border management continued through the biannual DG level talks between the Border Security Force (BSF) and the Bangladesh Rifles (BDR). Several operational and field level issues to increase cooperation and confidence building measures were discussed. Other issues like coordinated patrolling to tackle cross border crimes and peaceful border management were also discussed.

Pursuant to a proposal offered during the 6th Joint Economic Commission (JEC) meeting in July 2003, the GOI has sponsored 250 Bangladeshi teachers in computer training in New Delhi under the Aid to Bangladesh Programme. The programme was conducted by Tata Infotech and involved 6 weeks of training for the candidates selected by the Bangladesh government.

It was also during the 6th JEC meeting that discussions were held on a possible new line of credit to Bangladesh. Presently negotiations are on to discuss the terms and conditions and modalities of the proposed $150 million EXIM bank credit line to Bangladesh for funding infrastructure related projects in the rail and road sectors.

Following the severe floods in Bangladesh in 2004, Government of India has granted a flood relief assistance of Rs.100 crores for Bangladesh. This amount would be utilized by the Government of Bangladesh to procure food grains, medical supplies and building material from India. An MoU was signed between the two countries in New Delhi in February 2005 specifying the modalities for using this amount.

Bhutan

As close friends and neighbours, India's relations with Bhutan are characterized by mutual understanding, trust, confidence and multifaceted cooperation in a wide range of areas for the mutual benefit of the people of the two countries.

This relationship is sustained and enhanced by the exchange of regular visits, including at the highest level. During the year 2004, His Majesty King Jigme Singye Wangchuck of Bhutan was the Chief Guest at the Republic Day celebrations 2005. Three Memoranda of Understanding were signed during the visit. These relate to (i) Preparation of feasibility studies for establishment of railway linkages between bordering towns of India and Bhutan; (ii) Preparation of Detailed Project Reports (DPRs) for two hydro-electric Projects in Bhutan and (iii) Cooperation in Agriculture and allied sectors. The delegation accompanying the King included the Crown Prince and the Foreign Minister of Bhutan. His Majesty the King of Bhutan had earlier visited India from 24-29 November 2004. construction of 1020 MW Tala project is progressing well. DPR on Punatsangchu Phase – I is expected to be completed in first quarter of 2006 and DPRs on two more projects (Punatsangchu Phase – II and Mangdechhu Projects) would be initiated shortly.

The Government of India assistance package to 9th Plan of Bhutan was also reviewed during the visit of the King of Bhutan in January 2005 and an additional Rs. 280 crores towards Development subsidy was pledged.

Other important developments during the current year include the signing of (i) an MoU on Project Implementation Mechanism. The Project Implementation mechanism would streamline monitoring of GOI assisted Projects under implementation in Bhutan and also simplify the procedures for making financial releases to the Projects (ii) a Protocol for repayment of Government of India loan extended to Kurichhu Project. The project, completed at a cost of Rs. 560 crore, had a 40 percent loan component, which is now being repaid by the Royal Government of Bhutan.

To mitigate the problem of floods in both countries, a Joint Group of Experts on Flood Management was constituted in August 2004. The Group will assess the probable causes and effects of the recurring floods and erosions in the southern foothills of Bhutan and adjoining plains of India. Two meetings of the Group have already been held.

India and Bhutan have also strengthened cooperation in the field of security and border management in the aftermath of the successful military action taken by the Royal Bhutan Army in December 2003-January 2004 against Indian Insurgent Groups. An India-Bhutan Group on Border Security and Management that was established in March 2004 has made several practical recommendations relating to training, exchange of information and better cross-border coordination between the security and administrative authorities of the two countries, which are being implemented.

China

India is committed to developing a long-term constructive and cooperative partnership with China on the basis of the principles of Panchsheel, mutual respect and sensitivity for each other's concerns and equality. Cooperation between India and China is not only conducive to their socio-economic development and prosperity, but also to strengthening multi-polarity in the world and enhancing the positive factors of globalisation.

Continuity and consolidation during the year marked India-China relations. The exchange of high level visits and discussions imparted continuity in direction and provided for diversification of the relationship into newer areas of cooperation. The period saw an intensification of exchanges at the functional levels.

Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh met Premier Wen Jiabao in Vientiane, Laos in November 2004 on the margins of the 10th ASEAN Summit. The two leaders noted that India-China relations enjoyed a good momentum and had wide-ranging discussions on the nature and direction of the relationship. They highlighted the importance of further expanding economic and trade relations. The two leaders also reviewed the discussions between the Special Representatives of the two countries on the boundary question. Premier Wen Jiabao is expected to visit India in 2005.

External Affairs Minister Shri K. Natwar Singh met Chinese Foreign Minister Li Zhaoxing on the sidelines of international conferences, on four occasions, during which he had discussions on bilateral relations, and regional and international issues.

A number of high-level dignitaries from China visited India, including Politburo Members He Guoqiang and Liu Qi, and State Councillors Tang Jiaxuan and Chen Zhili. India and China reaffirmed desire to take a long term and strategic perspective of their bilateral relations, seize the opportunity provided by the current state of relationship and maintain its momentum. They agreed to continuously expand and develop further areas of cooperation, while seeking fair, reasonable and mutually acceptable solutions to outstanding issues, including the boundary question. During the visit, State Councillor Tang conveyed that China supports a bigger role for India in the international community, including in the United Nations Security Council.

The Special Representatives of India and China, who are tasked to explore from the political perspective of the overall bilateral relationship the framework of a boundary settlement, held two rounds of discussions viz. in July 2004 at New Delhi and in November 2004 at Beijing. Their discussions were frank, constructive and detailed.

A notable event during the year was the commemoration of the 50th anniversary of Panchsheel. A number of events were held both in New Delhi and Beijing to mark the occasion. To mark the event, both sides issued special postal covers. Subsequently, in November 2004, the Indian Council of World Affairs (ICWA) hosted a Panchsheel Seminar in New Delhi, which was addressed by External Affairs Minister Shri K. Natwar Singh and a commemorative volume on Panchsheel was released on the occasion.

As part of the programme for exchanges between Communist Party of China (CPC's International Liaison Department) and Chief Ministers of India, Politburo Member Liu Qi visited India in November 2004 at the invitation of the Chief Minister of Delhi. The Chief Minister of Andhra Pradesh visited China from 30 January- 4 February 2005. Six Indian political parties were represented at the third International Conference of Asian Political Parties (ICAP) hosted by the CPC in September 2004. Functional exchanges and dialogue has been initiated between pairs of Indian and Chinese organisations such as Indian Institute of Public Administration (IIPA) and Central Party School (CPS), ICSSR and Zhejiang Provincial Academy of Social Sciences, and Planning Commission and National Development & Reform Commission. These exchanges serve the purpose of not only broad basing the relationship, but also providing forums for exchange of views including on policies, challenges and development experiences.

Apart from the above exchanges, the bilateral dialogue mechanism between the two countries continued to provide a systemic means of facilitating enhancement and implementation of existing initiatives and identifying newer ones. In addition to the meetings of the Special Representatives on the Boundary Question, there were, during the year, consultations between the Foreign Ministries and the second round of the Policy Planning Dialogue. The first round of Strategic Dialogue at the level of Foreign Secretary Shri Shyam Saran and Chinese Vice Foreign Minister Wu Dawei was held on 24 January 2005. The Dialogue focussed, inter alia, on issues of global political and strategic importance.

The year witnessed continued growth in India-China trade. From a bilateral trade volume of US$ 338 million in 1992, the trade volume touched US$ 7.6 billion in 2003. The report of the JSG, giving recommendations to the two governments, is expected to be completed in March 2005.

The momentum of bilateral defence exchanges was maintained with the visit of Chief of Army Staff (COAS) to China from 22-29 December 2004. This was a visit by an Indian COAS to China after ten years. The COAS called on Chinese Vice President Zeng Qinghong and Defence Minister Gen. Cao Guangchun, and had extensive interaction with the Peoples' Liberation Army (PLA). Both the sides expressed satisfaction that peace and tranquility is being maintained in India-China border areas. There was also consensus on further enhancing military exchanges and cooperation at different levels.

Cooperation in facing non-traditional threats, particularly against international terrorism was also discussed. PLA's Chief of General Staff accepted COAS's invitation to visit India to carry forward the cooperation between the two militaries. COAS's visit was an important element of the expanding military contacts between India and China, as part of the overall development of bilateral relations.

As part of the confidence building measures, interactions were organised between the border personnel of the two countries, including joint mountaineering expedition on the Chinese side and sports event on the Indian side. Iran

India and Iran enjoy historical ties. The year 2004 saw continued co-operation between India and Iran in the field of energy security, transit routes in the region, cooperation on Afghanistan and its reconstruction and increasing bilateral trade and commercial relations, which imparted a strategic dimension to bilateral relations.

High Level Political Exchanges

After the formation of the new Government in India in May 2004, Iranian President Seyyed Mohammad Khatami talked to Prime Minister over telephone. Foreign Minister Dr. Kharrazi visited New Delhi on 25-26 July 2004. During the visit, he called on Prime Minister, External Affairs Minister and National Security Adviser. Dr. Kharrazi paid a second visit to India in February 2005.

Security and Strategic Consultations

India and Iran have both stressed upon the need for a peaceful, stable and prosperous Afghanistan free from external interference. They have also agreed to join hands in the reconstruction of Afghanistan. India, Iran and Afghanistan have expressed their support to the development of alternative access routes to Afghanistan through the Chahbahar port of Iran via Melak-Zaranj-Delaram road stretch in Afghanistan. India has commenced the road construction project in Afghanistan for which Iran has assured support in the form of visa facilitation, sourcing of raw material from Iran, port and transit facilities etc.

Iranian Foreign Minister Dr Kharrazi and External Affairs

Minister remained in regular touch, including through telephonic discussions, over the evolving situation in Iraq.

During Dr Kharrazi's visit to India in July 2004, the two sides reviewed progress in bilateral cooperation in different areas and situation in Afghanistan and Iraq.

The two sides also held regular security and strategic consultations through the established mechanisms of interaction between their National Security Councils. During his visit to Iran in October 2004, National Security Adviser Late Shri J. N. Dixit held discussions on bilateral issues and situation in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Cooperation in the Hydrocarbons Sector

Energy security is an important area in India-Iran bilateral relations. Following the visit of President Khatami and signing of the MoU on cooperation in the hydrocarbons sector, India and Iran have taken several steps to broaden their cooperation in this field. The two sides have constituted a Joint Working Group (JWG) on cooperation in hydrocarbons sector. As per the discussions held by the JWG, India and Iran agreed to work towards longterm purchase of LNG by India from Iran. It was also agreed that Indian oil companies would participate in oil exploration fields in Iran on competitive basis.

Technical discussions between the two sides on these aspects of cooperation are continuing. Union Minister of Petroleum and Natural Gas Shri Mani Shankar Aiyar visited Iran from 5-6 December 2004. He met Iranian Petroleum Minister Dr. Bijan Zanganeh to discuss further cooperation in this area.

India is committed to ensure a cost-effective, long term and secure mode of transfer of Iranian gas to India. The India-Iran Joint Committee on transfer of Iranian gas to India is entrusted with examining all aspects of this issue. The two sides have set up a technical sub-committee led by GAIL and NIOC from the two sides to commission studies on the offshore and onshore routes.

Maldives

The India-Maldives relations continued to be close and friendly during the year 2004-2005. The warmth of these relations was kept up through regular meetings/exchanges of visits.

The External Affairs Minister met Mr. Fathulla Jameel, Foreign Minister of Maldives on July 2004 at Islamabad on the sidelines of the SAARC Council of Ministers Meetings and in January 2005 in Jakarta on the sidelines of ASEAN meeting on Tsunami Relief. Foreign Secretary paid a visit to Maldives from 18-19 October 2004. During this visit, Foreign Secretary held detailed discussion on the bilateral relations between the two countries and other areas of regional and international interests. Foreign Secretary also called on President Gayoom of Maldives.

The process of economic and technical co-operation continued on a satisfactory note. An expert team from the National Research Laboratory for Conservation of Cultural Property (NRLCCP), Lucknow, visited Maldives in May 2004 to work on the conservation of Dharumavantha Rasgefaanu Mosque.

Due to public protests, which started on the 12-13 August 2004, the Government of Maldives declared a state of national emergency in Male and its surrounding areas on 13 August 2004. The President of Maldives deputed Mr. Ahmed Abdullah, the then Minister of Health to India as his Special Envoy to brief the Government of India on the developments in the Maldives. Mr. Abdullah met External Affairs Minister on 25 July 2004 and handed over a personal letter from President Gayoom of Maldives addressed to the Prime Minister. The state of national emergency was lifted on 10 October 2004.

In a significant bilateral move, Maldives opened a resident High Commission in New Delhi and appointed Mr. Abdul Sattar Adam as its first resident High Commissioner to India. He presented his credentials to the President of India on 30 November 2004.

Another important bilateral development was in the wake of recent Tsunami disaster. At the request of Maldivian Government, Indian ships, planes and helicopters with relief material, medical teams and specialized personnel were rushed to Maldives on 27 December 2004. Our personnel went ashore and helped to provide essential services, medical relief and assisted in search and rescue operations, transporting relief materials, repairing and restoring generators and communications. Prime Minister informed President Gayoom that Government of India has decided to earmark Rs. 5 crores for assisting in the programme of relief and rehabilitation for Maldives.

Myanmar. A large body of population of Indian origin (estimated at 2.5 million) lives in Myanmar. Geo-strategic factors make it important for India and Myanmar to have a close relationship. India-Myanmar relations are reflective of the two countries' common desire to cooperate with each other in order to promote peace and tranquillity along their border, to achieve sustained economic development and to foster people-to-people interaction. Recent years have seen a steady growth of exchanges, resulting in the deepening and widening of bilateral ties.

India's policy of constructive engagement with Myanmar further strengthened during 2004 with exchanges at the highest level. Senior General Than Shwe, Chairman of the State Peace and Development Council (SPDC), paid a State visit to India from 24-29 October 2004 at the invitation of the President. He was accompanied by a high-powered delegation including Lt-Gen. Thein Sein, Secretary-1 of SPDC, Lt-Gen. Thiha Thura Tin Aung Myint Oo, Quarter Master General and Chairman, Myanmar Economic Corporation (MEC) and eight Cabinet Ministers including Ministers for Foreign Affairs, Industry, Energy, Rail Transportation, Communications, Science & Technology, Health and Religious Affairs. The visit was historic in nature, being the first Head of State level visit from Myanmar in 24 years and the first Head of State - Head of Government level interaction between the two countries in 17 years.

During his visit, Senior General Than Shwe met with President and Vice President and held wide ranging talks with Prime Minister on bilateral, regional and global issues of mutual interest and concern. Chairman, SPDC categorically stated that Myanmar would not allow its territory to be used for hostile activity against India. A Memorandum of Understanding for Cooperation in the field of Non-traditional Security Issues was signed between the two countries. Both sides also expressed great interest in furthering co-operation in the fields of infrastructure projects and energy. An MoU on the Tamanthi Hydroelectric Project on Chindwin River in Myanmar was signed. The two sides also initialled a Cultural Exchange Programme for 2004-2006. In the Joint Statement released at the end of the visit, the Myanmar Government expressed full support for India's bid for permanent membership of the UN Security Council.

Five bilateral meetings took place at ministerial level between External Affairs Minister and Myanmar's Minister of Foreign Affairs, U. Nyan Win; Commerce and Industry Minister, Shri Kamal Nath and Myanmar's Minister for Industry- I, U. Aung Thaung; Minister for Railways, Shri Laloo Prasad Yadav and Myanmar's Minister for Rail Transportation, Major General Aung Min, Minister of Communications and Information Technology, Shri Dayanidhi Maran and Myanmar's Minister for Communications, Posts and Telegraphs, Brig.Gen. Thein Zaw; and Minister of State (Independent Charge) Science and Technology, Shri Kapil Sibal and Myanmar's Minister for S&T, U Thaung. The visit was very successful and generated much goodwill in the Myanmar leadership towards India.

Other important high-level exchanges during the year included the visit by Myanmar's Foreign Minister U. Win Aung to India on 24 July 2004, during which he called on Prime Minister. In his meeting with External Affairs Minister, the two sides discussed the Indian-Myanmar-Thailand trilateral highway project, enhancement of bilateral trade to US$1 billion by 2006 and co-operation in the energy sector. The two Ministers had earlier met on the margins of the ASEAN Post-Ministerial Conference/ASEAN Regional Forum meeting in Jakarta in early July where they signed an MoU on setting up of an Entrepreneurship Development Centre (EDC) in Yangon. Dr. San Lwin, Associate Professor, Yangon Institute of Economics has been selected as Director and five Myanmar officials as trainers for the proposed EDC. The Deputy Foreign Minister of Myanmar, U Kyaw Thu attended the Third India-ASEAN Business Summit held in New Delhi on 19 October and in Chennai on 20-21 October 2004.

Myanmar's Minister for Rail Transportation, Maj-Gen. Aung Min also led a 6-member delegation to India from 26 July-3 August 2004. During the visit, Myanmar and India signed an MoU for upgrading the Yangon-Mandalay Trunk Line. Under the MoU, Government of India has made available a Line of Credit of US$56.36 million to the Government of the Union of Myanmar for purchasing rolling stock as well as upgrading workshops, tracks and communications and signalling systems.

Shri Mani Shankar Aiyar, Minister of Petroleum and Natural Gas paid a visit to Myanmar from 11-14 January 2005 to discuss co-operation in the energy sector. During the visit, a bilateral MoU on cooperation between India and Myanmar in the Hydrocarbon Sector was signed. In addition, the Petroleum Ministers of India, Myanmar and Bangladesh agreed to explore construction of a gas pipeline from Myanmar to India via Bangladesh.

Myanmar also hosted the annual Foreign Office Consultations (FOC) between India and Myanmar on 3 - 5 October 2004. Shri Shyam Saran, Foreign Secretary led the Indian delegation and U. Kyaw Thu, Deputy Foreign Minister headed the Myanmar side. A comprehensive review of India- Myanmar relations was carried out during the meeting. The tenth National Level Meeting between the two countries was held simultaneously in New Delhi from 4-7 October 2004. The delegations were led by the respective Home Secretaries. Discussions covered security related matters, drug trafficking, issues related to the free movement regime, border trade and banking arrangements.

On the economic front, India remains committed to achieving the target set by the Joint Trade Committee of increasing bilateral trade to US$1 billion by 2006. In fact, bilateral trade between the two countries has expanded significantly over the last few years. During 2003-04, Myanmar's exports to India amounted to US$361.38 million and its imports from India were US$108.85 million. An Agreement on setting up of a Joint Task Force to make recommendations for enhancing bilateral trade was also signed between the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) and the Union of Myanmar Federation of Chambers of Commerce and Industry (UMFCCI) in February 2004. The Task Force's report was released during Senior General Than Shwe's visit to India and its recommendations are under consideration.

An important plank of India's policy has been to work towards economic development and integration of Northeast India with Western Myanmar by implementing mutually beneficial cross-border projects. These include projects in the field of roads, railways, power, science and technology, communications and information technology. The National Hydroelectric Power Corporation Ltd. is carrying out pre-feasibility study on the Tamanthi Hydroelectric Power Project. Myanmar is also emerging as a partner in strengthening our energy security. ONGC Videsh Ltd. (OVL) and GAIL have acquired 20 per cent and 10 per cent participating interest in the A-I block off the Rakhine coast of Myanmar. OVL has also succeeded in securing participation in the A-III Block.

India-Myanmar cooperation in science and technology has also deepened and diversified during the year. A joint project on installation of tidal gauges in coastal Myanmar fructified in April 2004. Cooperation in the fields of communications & information technology has also expanded. Following the first meeting of the India-Myanmar Joint Working Group on Communication & Information Technology in January 2004, a Letter of Understanding on cooperation in the Telecom Sector was signed between Telecommunications Consultants India Limited (TCIL) and Myanmar Posts and Telecommunications, Government of the Union of Myanmar on 27 July 2004 in Yangon. The EXIM Bank of India and Foreign Trade Bank of Myanmar signed an Agreement in October 2004 to extend a special line of credit of US$7 million for commissioning CorDECT WLL based basic telephone and internet networks in Yangon and Mandalay. The project also includes installation of an Optical Fibre Cable between the border towns of Moreh (India) and Tamu (Myanmar). India has also announced a grant of US$ 3 million to set up two e-learning centres in Yangon and Mandalay and for conducting an e-governance project.

The first-ever India-ASEAN Car Rally, which was flagged off at Guwahati on November 22 by Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh, transited through Myanmar between 24 and 28 November 2004. The Rally received extensive coverage in Myanmar media. A ten-member high-level delegation from Myanmar led by Lt-Gen. Ye Myint, Member, State Peace & Development Council and comprising Brig-Gen. Thura Aye Myint, Minister of Sports and Maj-Gen. Tha Aye, Commander, North-West Command went to Guwahati to participate in the flag-off ceremony. To coincide with the Rally, a Seminar on 'India-Myanmar Trade and Economic Cooperation' was jointly organized by Embassy of India, Yangon, Consulate General of India, Mandalay, Union of Myanmar Federation of Chambers of Commerce & Industry (UMFCCI) and Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) in Mandalay on 25 November 2004. Shri Santosh Mohan Dev, Minister of State for Heavy Industries & Public Enterprises (Independent Charge), Government of India visited Yangon and Mandalay in connection with the Seminar. From Myanmar side, Brig-Gen. Tin Naing Thein, Minister of Commerce addressed the Seminar.

As regards HRD cooperation, about 200 candidates from Myanmar are expected to undergo training in India in 2004-05 under various programmes such as TCS of Colombo Plan, ITEC and GCCS of ICCR. The bilateral linkage between the Press Trust of India (PTI) and Myanmar News Agency (MNA) has also been working well. MNA has been regularly using news feeds from PTI, which are published in Government dailies such as 'The New Light of Myanmar' and other local language newspapers.

On the cultural front, Indian films, particularly from Bollywood, are extremely popular in Myanmar. After a gap of about 20 years, Embassy of India in Yangon, in collaboration with the Ministry of Information of the Government of Myanmar, organized an Indian Film Week in Yangon from 18-24 August 2004 and in Mandalay from 1-5 September 2004. The festival attracted huge crowds and received considerable media coverage. Besides, a Qawaali group of Nizami brothers visited Myanmar from 20-24 December 2004 and performed at various venues including Bahadur Shah Zafar Mazaar to the delight and appreciation of large gatherings.

Defence co-operation has also continued on a sound footing through the mechanism of bi-annual border liaison meetings of the army. A series of high-level exchanges took place during the year including the visits to Myanmar by Lt Gen J S Verma, GOC-in-C Eastern Command from 21-24 September 2004 and by Air Chief Marshal S. Krishnaswamy, Chairman of Chiefs of Staff Committee and Chief of Air Staff on from 15-19 November 2004.

Nepal

The political and security situation in Nepal is a cause for serious concern. On 1 February 2005, the multi-party Government led by Prime Minister Sher Bahdur Deuba was dissolved by the King of Nepal. An emergency has been declared and fundamental rights suspended. Political leaders, media personnel, intellectuals, human rights activists and student leaders are under house arrest/detention. There is strict censorship on both print and electronic media.

Meanwhile, the security situation in Nepal continues to deteriorate. The Maoists have expanded their reach and presence throughout Nepal. They have demonstrated their ability to disrupt life in the major towns including in the Kathmandu valley at will. Growth of Maoist insurgency in Nepal is a matter of serious concern to India because of its adverse fall-out for India due to the open and unregulated border as well as the links between Nepal's Maoists and the Indian Naxalite groups.

The developments in Nepal constitute a serious setback to the cause of democracy, which would only benefit the anti-constitutional forces and undermine both democracy as well as the institution of monarchy. India has always believed that the challenges being faced by Nepal can be addressed effectively only on the basis of national consensus. In this context, India has called for a return to democratic processes at the earliest. India has also called for immediate release of all arrested political leaders, media personnel, intellectuals and human rights activists who should be allowed to exercise their Constitutional rights. On its part, India will continue to support all efforts for the restoration of political stability and economic prosperity in Nepal.

Bilateral Cooperation

During the year, bilateral relations proceeded satisfactorily, particularly in the period before dismissal of the multi-party Government and imposition of emergency in Nepal. Nepal was the first country that External Affairs Minister visited after assumption of charge, reflecting the priority that India attached to further development of relations with Nepal. The then Prime Minister of Nepal H. E. Mr. Sher Bahadur Deuba paid a very fruitful and productive visit to India from 8-12 September 2004. Minister of State for External Affairs Shri Rao Inderjit Singh visited Nepal from 29 November 1 December 2004. In addition, regular consultations across a broad spectrum of issues were held through existing bilateral mechanisms.

A comprehensive review of bilateral issues was undertaken during the visit of Prime Minister of Nepal to India. In addition, several important bilateral meetings were held including the Home Secretary-level Talks (19-20 January 2005), Joint Working Group on Border Management (17-18 January 2005), Meetings of India-Nepal Bilateral Consultative Group on Security Issues, Joint Committee on Water Resources (7-8 October 2004), the Joint Group of Experts Meeting on the Pancheshwar Project (6 October 2004), Secretary-level Telecommunication Coordination Meeting 1-2 (November 2004) and Joint Secretary-level Trade Talks (1-2 November 2004). As a result, significant progress was achieved on several bilateral issues.

During the year, the following documents were concluded: (i) MoU on Cooperation in the field of Weather Forecasting; (ii) Agreement on Cooperation in the fields of Culture and Sports; (iii) MoU between Indian Oil Corporation and Nepal Oil Corporation for Construction of an Oil Pipeline; (iv) Bilateral Cooperation Agreement between Bureau of Indian Standards and Nepal Bureau of Standards and Metrology; and (v) Rail Services Agreement (facilitating commencement of rail service between India and Nepal in July 2004).

In order to streamline security related cooperation between India and Nepal, a network of bilateral institutional mechanisms has been evolved, comprising Bilateral Consultative Group on Security Issues, Home Secretary level talks and Joint Working Group on Border Management, which have proved to be very effective in addressing mutual security concerns. Recognising that the growth of Maoist insurgency in Nepal is a shared security concern, we have provided assistance as required by Nepal to deal with it. Measures have been taken to enhance co-operation with Nepal for effective border management and intelligence sharing. Sashastra Seema Bal (SSB) personnel have been deployed along the Indo-Nepal border with a view to ensure peace and security along the border and prevent unfriendly elements from exploiting the open border for cross border subversive activities. Discussions were also concluded on bilateral Agreement on Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters and an updated Extradition Treaty which would strengthen the institutional legal arrangements between India and Nepal for effectively combating crime and terrorism.

A comprehensive review of India-Nepal cooperation in the field of water resources was undertaken in a series of meetings of bilateral institutional mechanisms in September-October 2004. The two sides worked out a definitive road map to move forward on various projects. The Joint Committee on Water Resources would also be finalising a comprehensive strategy for flood management and control, including measures that can be implemented in the short to medium term.

India continued to contribute to the development efforts of the Government of Nepal by undertaking various development projects in the areas of infrastructure, health, rural and community development, education, etc. During the year, a major aid-project for laying of optical fiber cable network along the East-West Highway was completed. A number of small grassroot level projects in the areas of health, education and community development were also executed.

With a view to facilitate trade and transit and strengthen security, Government of India has taken up several new projects to improve border infrastructure along the India-Nepal border. These projects include development of border check-posts, improvement of road infrastructure in the Nepalese Terai to strengthen connectivity of towns and villages with the East West Highway, improvement in the roads and highways on the Indian side of the border which connect to the towns in Nepal and bringing broad-gauge railway connectivity to Nepalese towns in the Terai from the nearest points in India where broad-gauge already exists. The Indian Consulate in Birgunj has started functioning.

Government of India offers annually more than 1000 scholarships to Nepalese students in various courses. During the year, a new scholarship scheme, Dr. Homi J. Bhabha Scholarship Scheme, was operationalised under which 5 M. Tech. scholarships would be awarded to meritorious Nepalese students every year for studying in India. In addition, a number of Nepalese students also come to India to study at their own expense.

Pakistan

India is committed to the establishment of peaceful, friendly and co-operative relations with Pakistan. In pursuance of this goal, the Government has, from time to time, taken a number of policy initiatives. The year 2004-05 witnessed the commencement of a serious, sustained and comprehensive dialogue with Pakistan. Building upon the tremendous goodwill that was demonstrated by the people in both countries, the Government pursued a proactive policy of constructive engagement with Pakistan with the objective of cementing a durable structure of peace and stability in South Asia.

Based on the solemn and categorical commitment given by the President of Pakistan on 6 January 2004 not to permit any territory under Pakistan's control to be used to support terrorism in any manner, the Foreign Secretaries of the two countries met in February 2004 to commence the Composite Dialogue. The talks signalled the unfolding of a substantive dialogue process, including initial interactions between Border Security Force (BSF) and Pakistan Rangers on 24-27 March 2004 and the Narcotics Control authorities of the two countries on 15-16 June 2004. Issues related to border management and combating smuggling and drug trafficking were discussed, and the two sides agreed to continue to cooperate to mutual advantage, including through sharing of operational intelligence.

Expert level meeting on Nuclear CBMs (19-20 June 2004)

During the February 2004 meeting between the Foreign Secretaries of India and Pakistan, India suggested an expert level dialogue on Nuclear Confidence Building Measures (CBMs). These talks, held on 19-20 June 2004 in New Delhi, resulted in agreements on establishing a “hotline” between the two Foreign Secretaries, upgrading, dedicating and securing the communication link between the DGMOs, and working towards an agreement on the pre-notification of the flight-testing of missiles.

Foreign Secretary level talks (27-28 June 2004)

During the Foreign Secretary level talks on 27-28 June 2004 on Peace and Security and Jammu & Kashmir, views were exchanged on carrying the process forward in an atmosphere free from terrorism and violence. India proposed a comprehensive framework of CBMs. It was, inter alia, agreed to immediately restore the strength of the respective High Commissions to the original level of 110; to immediately release all apprehended fishermen in each other's custody and put in place a mechanism for the return of unintentionally transgressing fishermen and their boats from high seas without apprehending them; and to initiate steps for early release of civilian prisoners. It was also agreed in principle to re-establish the Consulates General in Karachi and Mumbai. The two Foreign Secretaries had a detailed exchange of views on Jammu and Kashmir and agreed to continue with a sustained and meaningful dialogue in order to find a peaceful, negotiated and amicable solution to the issue.

The Composite Dialogue (July-August 2004)

Talks on the remaining six subjects of the Composite Dialogue, namely, Siachen, Sir Creek, Tulbul Navigation Project, Economic and Commercial Cooperation, Terrorism and Drug Trafficking, and Promotion of Friendly Exchanges in various fields, were held in the last week of July and first half of August.

During discussions at the level of Secretaries (Culture) on “Promotion of Friendly Exchanges in Various Fields” in New Delhi, on 3-4 August 2004 India made wide-ranging proposals for promoting friendly exchanges and cooperation in the fields of art, culture, archaeology, education, science and technology, youth affairs and sports, and media and tourism. Views were also exchanged on liberalizing the visa regime and expanding the scope of the 1974 bilateral Protocol on Visits to Religious Shrines by increasing the number of pilgrims and shrines on both sides. Both sides agreed to address the humanitarian issues concerning civilian prisoners and fishermen in each other's custody. The Commerce Secretaries of the two countries met in Islamabad on 11-12 August 2004 to hold discussions on the subject of Economic and Commercial Cooperation. India made wide ranging proposals on trade promotion, transit, new trade routes, cooperation in the fields of agriculture, petroleum and natural gas, banking, information technology, telecommunications, postal services, civil aviation, shipping and capital market.

On 5-6 August 2004 the Defence Secretaries of the two countries met in New Delhi for discussions on the Siachen issue within the framework of the Composite Dialogue. The two sides exchanged views, and a separate meeting was also held between the military experts to discuss modalities for disengagement and redeployment of troops. It was agreed to continue discussions with a view to resolving the issue in a peaceful manner. During the talks on Terrorism and Drug Trafficking on 10-11 August 2004 in Islamabad, both sides reaffirmed their determination to combat terrorism and emphasized the need for complete elimination of the menace. It was also agreed to work towards an MoU to institutionalize cooperation between Narcotics Control Authorities of the two countries, and to designate nodal officials in their respective High Commissions to liaise on drug control issues.

A joint computation of the coordinates of these pillars was carried out from 8-12 February 2005 and the joint report would be submitted to the respective governments.

- Separate meetings on Nuclear and Conventional CBMs were held on 14-15 December 2004 in Islamabad. The two sides discussed various proposals in these fields. Understandings were reached on upgrading the link between DGMOs, and establishing hotline between the two Foreign Secretaries.
- Further, the technical level meetings on various subjects are expected to be held between January and June 2005. The meeting of the Joint Study Group on trade matters headed by Commerce Secretaries has taken place on 22-23 February 2005.

New Round of the Composite Dialogue

The Foreign Secretaries of the two countries met in Islamabad on 27-28 December 2004 to initiate the next round of the Composite Dialogue. They had discussions on the overall progress in bilateral relations, and on Peace and Security including CBM, and Jammu and Kashmir. A schedule of meetings on the other six subjects in the Composite Dialogue was worked out. On the issue of Peace and Security including CBMs, building upon the existing contacts between DGMOs, the two Foreign Secretaries agreed to promote regular contacts at local level at designated places and explore further CBMs along the international boundary and the LoC. On Jammu and Kashmir, India suggested five places along the International Boundary and the LOC where members of the divided families from the two sides could come and meet under a joint security arrangement.

High-level Political Contacts

The process of engagement with Pakistan has been taken forward through high-level political contacts and visits. External Affairs Minister Shri K. Natwar Singh had several interactions with the Foreign Minister of Pakistan. During his visit to Islamabad on 19 - 23 July 2004 for the SAARC Ministerial Council Meeting, he held discussions with his Pakistani counterpart, and called on the President and the Prime Minister of Pakistan. Earlier, the two Foreign Ministers met in Qingdao on 21 June 2004 and in Jakarta on 2 July 2004 during the course of multilateral events.

Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh met President Pervez Musharraf in New York on 24 September 2004. It was the first meeting at the highest level after the formation of the new Government in India. Prime Minister emphasised that the dialogue process was based on President Musharraf's assurance on terrorism as contained in the Joint Press Statement of 6 January 2004.

The two leaders reiterated their commitment to continue the bilateral dialogue to restore normalcy and cooperation, and also agreed to look at the possibility of a gas pipeline in the larger context of expanding trade and economic relations between the two countries. On J&K, PM conveyed India's willingness to explore all options, short of redrawing of boundaries, or a second partition of the country.

The visit of the Prime Minister of Pakistan, Mr. Shaukat Aziz, on 23-24 November 2004 in his capacity as the Chairperson of SAARC facilitated further forward movement in bilateral relations. Although SAARC was the occasion for the visit, there was also an exchange of views on bilateral issues. Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh underlined the importance of Pakistan fulfilling, in letter and spirit, its commitment on cross-border terrorism. He also reiterated India's determination to address all issues on the bilateral agenda, in a serious and purposeful manner.

As agreed during the Foreign Secretary level talks during 27-28 December 2004 in Islamabad, the contacts at political level have continued. External Affairs Minister Shri K. Natwar Singh visited Pakistan from 15-17 February 2005 where an agreement to start the Srinagar-Muzaffarabad bus service from 7 April 2005 and to start a bus service from Amritsar to Lahore and religious places such as Nankana Sahib was reached. It was agreed to initiate discussions on reducing risks of nuclear accidents or unauthorized use of nuclear weapons and preventing incidents at sea and to look at a gas pipeline through Pakistan subject to satisfaction of India's security concerns and assured supplies.

People to people exchanges- Visa liberalisation measures

The overwhelming desire of the people for peaceful and normal interaction found expression in the increased people-to-people exchanges, including among Parliamentarians, journalists, jurists, sportspersons, artistes, businessmen, etc. The Speaker of the Pakistan National Assembly led a Parliamentary delegation to India from 18-23 December 2004 at the invitation of Speaker, Lok Sabha, and the Chief Election Commissioner of Pakistan visited India at the invitation of his Indian counterpart from 29 November to 5 December 2004.

In order to further facilitate people-to-people contact and to provide a fillip to the present process in India-Pakistan relations, the Government, on 18 September 2004, announced unilateral measures to liberalize visa regime for Pakistan nationals, including accredited journalists with minimum 3 years accreditation with national or international media of repute; academicians and professors, Vice Chancellors and those coming on the invitation of reputed/eminant universities and institutions; medical doctors, if accompanying patients for treatment at leading/reputed hospitals in India; all Pakistan nationals above the age of 65 years. It was also decided to grant permission to Pakistan nationals to visit upto twelve places during each visit, and to liberalize the issue of visas for participation in conferences.

In December 2004, the Government took the unilateral decision to grant visas to senior citizens (above 65 years), children (below 12 years), and members of pre-vetted groups from Pakistan on arrival at Wagah Border. In addition, the Government also decided to allow admission to students from Pakistan in technical institutions in India, on a case-by-case basis.

Exchange of visits by pilgrim groups

The year witnessed a number of visits by pilgrim groups on both sides. This included the visits by Indian pilgrim groups on the occasion of Martyrdom of Guru Arjan Dev in June, Barsi of Maharaja Ranjit Singh in June, birth anniversary of Guru Nanak Dev in November, and Kataraj and Hayat Pitafi in November 2004. Similarly, groups of Pakistani pilgrims undertook visits to Kalyar Sharief, Ajmer Sharif, and Sirhind Sharif in India.

In addition, India allowed Pakistani pilgrims to visit places outside the bilateral protocol of 1974, including 400 pilgrims to Khandoor Sahib in April 2004, 1000 pilgrims to Golden Temple at Amritsar in August - September 2004 for "Prakash Utsav"; 12 pilgrims from Pakistan to Charar-e-Sharief in J&K from 26-31 October 2004; 250 pilgrims to Fatehgarh Sahib in December 2004 for 300th 'Shahidi

Divas'; and a visit of a 2000 strong group from Ahmediya community to Qadian (Punjab) on 26-28 December 2004.

In keeping with the desire of the people, India made a number of proposals to Pakistan for addition of new shrines to the 1974 Protocol on Visits to Religious Shrines, and to increase the size of pilgrim groups visiting on various occasions as well as sending additional groups on occasions outside the Protocol. It was also proposed to start a bus service between Amritsar and religious places in and around Lahore. The two sides agreed to allow visits by pilgrim groups to Gurudwara Darbar Sahib (at Kartarpur) and Dera Baba Bhuman Shah Shrine at Okara in Pakistan, Shadani Darbar at Raipur (Madhya Pradesh) and Shrine of Hazrat Boo Ali Shah Qalandar (at Panipat, Haryana) in India.

Issues related to Civilian Prisoners and Fishermen

The humanitarian issues related to prisoners and fishermen are high on the agenda of the Government. The issue of early release and repatriation of about 900 Indian civilian prisoners, 54 Prisoners of War, and 974 fishermen, presently in Pakistan's custody, was taken up consistently with Pakistan at all levels. The matter was also raised during the visit of the Prime Minister of Pakistan to New Delhi in November. As a result of continuous efforts, Pakistan released 266 Indian fishermen on 6 January 2005. Pakistan has on 17 January 2005 provided consular access for 40 civilian prisoners and six fishermen who were imprisoned in Quetta, Gwadar and Mach Jails. Pakistan provided consular access to another 701 fishermen and 9 civilian prisoners from 8-12 February 2005 and has indicated that it would be providing consular access to all fishermen in its custody in February 2005. India provided consular access to 135 Pakistani civilian prisoners and released as many as 58. Besides, 108 Pakistani fishermen (out of a total of 140) were provided consular access.

During the Foreign Secretary level talks in December 2004, it was inter-alia agreed that:

- Immediate notification would be provided to the respective High Commissions through the Foreign Ministries of arrested Pakistani/Indian nationals;
- Consular access would be provided within three months of apprehension;
- Repatriation would be done immediately after completion of sentence and nationality verification;

- A mechanism would be introduced for early repatriation, without sentencing of inadvertent crossers;
- A similar mechanism would be established for early release, without sentencing of those under 16 apprehended by either side.

Status of Cross Border Terrorism

The ceasefire of 25 November 2003 along the International Boundary, Line of Control and the Actual Ground Position Line (AGPL), continues to hold. While there has been some decline in the level of infiltration in the recent past, Pakistan has so far not taken any significant action to dismantle the infrastructure of support to terrorism, such as communications links, launching pads, and training camps. The Government is monitoring the situation closely and continues to emphasize upon Pakistan the criticality of the fulfilment of its commitment on terrorism.

Relations have been restored at the level of High Commissioners, transport and communication links have resumed, a series of technical level and Composite Dialogue related meetings have been held on schedule, and people to people contact has been sustained and has given further energy to the process. The two Foreign Secretaries have already chalked out a calendar of meetings for the year 2005. The Government intends to continue with the present process of building confidence, enhancing cooperation and dialogue in an atmosphere free from terror and violence.

Sri Lanka

The current year saw further consolidation in India-Sri Lanka relations with high-level visits, expansion of trade, increased Indian investments in Sri Lanka, and augmentation of defense linkages. The President, Prime Minister, Leader of Opposition and Foreign Minister of Sri Lanka all visited India during this period in order to exchange views on bilateral issues and other areas of mutual interest and to work towards further intensification of bilateral relations. The close political understanding between the two countries and the importance accorded to bilateral relations is reflected by the endorsement of India's candidature for a permanent seat in the UN Security Council.

Parliamentary elections were held in Sri Lanka in April 2004 and a new government under the leadership of Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa assumed office. Prime Minister Rajapaksa chose India as the first destination of his visit abroad in July 2004. Sri Lankan Foreign Minister Lakshman Kadirgamar had earlier visited India on 28-29 April 2004. President Chandrika Bandaranaike Kumaratunga visited India from 4-7 November 2004 and Leader of Opposition Ranil Wickremesinghe was in India from 11-14 October 2004.

The Sri Lankan leaders also briefed India on developments in the peace process in Sri Lanka. India reiterated its support for the process of seeking a comprehensive, negotiated settlement acceptable to all communities of Sri Lanka, which should reflect the pluralistic nature of Sri Lankan society, within the framework of a united Sri Lanka and consistent with democracy and respect for individual rights. India maintains an abiding interest in the security of Sri Lanka and remains committed to its unity, sovereignty and territorial integrity. India favours the early resumption of negotiations pertaining to the peace process. Any interim arrangement on administration should be an integral part of an enduring final settlement that maintains the unity and territorial integrity of Sri Lanka and ensures the safety, well-being and prosperity of the people.

The Sri Lanka peace process is currently stalled. The LTTE withheld participation in the peace process from April 2003. Subsequently, it proposed creation of an Interim Self-Governing Authority (IGSA) for the Northern and Eastern areas, which is clearly outside the present constitution of Sri Lanka. The LTTE, on its part, is refusing to state unambiguously that it is committed to a unified Sri Lanka. A new dimension to the peace process was added in 2004 as a result of rebellion by LTTE's prominent eastern military commander Karuna, which added to the bloody internecine conflict and assassinations.

The existing understandings between India and Sri Lanka on the humane treatment and early release of fishermen who stray across maritime boundary lines continued to be implemented. It has been decided to constitute a Joint Working Group to deal with this issue. The Joint Working Group would meet frequently to deal with issues relating to straying fishermen, work out modalities for prevention of use of force against them and the early release of confiscated boats, and explore possibilities of working towards bilateral arrangements for licensed fishing. A memorandum of understanding on fisheries that will institutionalize cooperation in the fisheries sector between the two countries is also under consideration. Some of the salient features of this memorandum are consideration of licensed fishing, cooperation in enhanced surveillance to minimize the problems of incursions of trawlers from both sides and cooperation in preservation of ecology and conservation of marine fisheries in the Palk Straits.

A large number of Sri Lankan soldiers, sailors and airmen are being trained in Indian defense establishments. About 2100 slots in various defense institutions in India are expected to be utilized by Sri Lankan armed forces personnel in the current year. A bilateral Defense Cooperation Agreement and the memorandum of understanding on the Rehabilitation of the Airfield in Palaly are under consideration.

Bilateral economic ties saw further intensification during this period. In addition to expansion of trade and an increase in investments, efforts were made to deepen and widen the framework of trade by upgrading the Free Trade Agreement into a Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement by including trade in services and investments. Two rounds of talks at the level of Commerce Secretary on the Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement were held in August 2004 and February 2005.

India is today the fourth largest foreign direct investor in Sri Lanka (after Singapore, UK and Australia). Although historical inflows have been low, there has been an rapid increase after the Free Trade Agreement became operational. A major attraction for Indian investors has been the ability to re-export to India while benefiting from lower tariffs on raw materials in Sri Lanka. Belying the erstwhile trend, India was the biggest FDI investor in Sri Lanka in 2002 and 2003.

Sri Lanka Board of Investment as of August 2004 had given approvals to 147 projects with total FDI of US$ 450 million. Figures of actual inflows are not available but it is estimated that 50 per cent of Indian investment in SAARC countries is in Sri Lanka. A major power project involving setting-up of a 300 MW coal or LNG driven power plant by the National Thermal Power Corporation and Bharat Heavy Electricals Ltd is under consideration.

The Government of India has extended a number of credit lines to Sri Lanka. Two of them are currently operational. These are a US $100 million line of credit for capital goods, consumer durables, consultancy services and food items and a US $31 million line of credit for supply of 300,000 tonnes of wheat to Sri Lanka. In addition a US $150 million line of credit has been offered to the Sri Lankan government for purchase of petroleum products as has been another US $100 million line of credit for rural infrastructure projects. Thus a total of about US $381 million (approx. Rs 1700 crores) is being made available to Sri Lankan Government through lines of credit.

The Government of India is in the process of executing development projects in Sri Lanka worth about Rs 70 crores and has made additional commitments worth approximately US$ 87 million. The projects that are being implemented or are being considered include the construction of a general hospital, grant towards construction of a Cancer Hospital, projects to strengthen educational and vocational training systems, conduct of 1500 cataract operations and rural development projects.

Following the devastating tsunami on 26 December 2004, on the request of Sri Lankan Government, massive Indian relief operation involving naval ships and helicopters got underway in Sri Lanka. The Indian naval ships with medical teams, aircrafts, vessels provided immediate assistance in search, rescue, transport, damage assessment operations, salvage and debris clearance in the harbours of Galle, Trincomalee and other areas. The fact that Indian relief was the first to arrive has been acknowledged by President Kumaratunga and Foreign Minister Kadirgamar among others.

Building on tremendous historical and cultural linkages with the South-east Asia region, India continued to pursue closer relations with South East Asia as envisioned in its Look East Policy. India's Look East Policy has been extended to Phase II, beyond South East Asia to the Pacific region. Regular exchange of high level visits at bilateral level and interactions at regional and multilateral fora have contributed to a higher degree of comfort and familiarity among the leaders, which in turn helped in imparting fresh dynamism in India's relations with these countries. The high point in India's contacts with the region was the visit of Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh to Vientiane, Lao PDR to attend the third India-ASEAN Summit from 29-30 November 2004. From the other end, Prime Minister of Singapore Mr. Goh Chok Tong was the first Head of Government to be received by the UPA government. The Prime Ministers of New Zealand and Malaysia visited India during the year. On the margins of third India-ASEAN Summit, Prime Minister had bilateral meetings with President of Indonesia H.E. Mr. Sushilo Bambang Yudhoyono, Prime Minister of Australia H.E. John Howard and Prime Minister H.E. Mr. Lee Hsien Loong of Singapore. The Foreign Ministers of India and ASEAN met for the first time before the summit. At the Summit, "India-ASEAN Partnership for Peace, Progress and Shared Prosperity" was signed. External Affairs Minister attended a Special ASEAN Leaders' Summit in the aftermath of the Earthquake and Tsunami hosted by the Indonesian President in Jakarta on 6 January 2005. Third India – ASEAN Business Summit was held in New Delhi on 19 October and in Chennai on 20-21 October 2004 witnessed impressive participation from all the ASEAN countries. India-ASEAN car rally was flagged by Prime Minister at Guwahati on 22 November 2004 and by ASEAN leaders at Vientiane on 29 November 2004. The year saw fresh contacts with the leadership of South East Asian countries, which witnessed change of power i.e. Indonesia, Malaysia and Singapore. A number of ministerial visits that took place during this period also helped in further consolidation of India's relations with the region.

As far as the Pacific region is concerned, India participated for the second time in the Post Forum Dialogue meetings with the PIF, in Samoa in August 2004. India reiterated its intention to assist in the development of the Pacific Island economies through economic and technical cooperation. India's bilateral relations with countries of this region saw further consolidation and growth. India continues to attach due importance to countries of South East Asia and Pacific region as envisioned in our "Look East Policy" I & II".

The Coalition victory in the Federal Parliament and return of Prime Minister John Howard of Australia ensured continuity and added strength to the efforts made in enhancing the bilateral relations between India and Australia.

Indonesia

India's relations with Indonesia, the largest country in South-east Asia and a strategically important neighbour with which we share a maritime boundary, continued to broaden and intensify during the year. These relations are underpinned by India's shared values as Asia's largest pluralistic democracies, with a mutual stake in each other's success and prosperity.

As in India, 2004 was an election year in Indonesia. Well organized and peaceful Parliamentary and Presidential elections were held in Indonesia from April-September 2004, marking a major step forward in the consolidation of Indonesia's transition to democracy. As a long-standing democracy, India welcomed the smooth democratic transition to a new leadership in Indonesia. Both President and Prime Minister facilitated H.E. Dr. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono, who assumed the office of the President of Indonesia on 20 October 2004 and expressed the desire to foster even closer relations with Indonesia based on our common values and challenges.

The tradition of annual summit level interaction established in 2000 was maintained, with Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh and Indonesian President Dr. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono meeting in Vientiane on the margins of the Third India-ASEAN Summit on 28 November 2004. state solution, that it does not involve a transfer of settlement activity to the West Bank, that there is an organized and negotiated handover of responsibility to the Palestinian Authority, and that Israel facilitates rehabilitation and reconstruction in Gaza. The proposed withdrawal should be properly coordinated with the international community so as to ensure that an orderly situation in Gaza results, which would permit the maintenance of security as well as rehabilitation and reconstruction”. India reaffirmed that “a just, peaceful and lasting solution to the Middle East conflict can only be achieved through political negotiations between the parties with the active support of the international community. Such a comprehensive solution must also include Syria and Lebanon”. In July 2004, India voted in favour of the UNGA resolution calling on Israel to comply with the Advisory Opinion of the International Court of Justice (ICJ) on the West Bank “Separation fence” that the construction of the separation fence by Israel was contrary to international law.

Libya

Bilateral relations in the economic and commercial fields made significant progress during the current year. Lifting of UN, US and EU sanctions present greater opportunities and increased competition from other countries to Indian companies. Hydrocarbon and Power sector, along with Pharmaceuticals, Automobiles, Software and IT education are the focus areas which have tremendous potential for our companies. Indian companies are executing $ 600 million worth of projects currently. In the power sector, BHEL is currently executing Rs 1200 crore contract for setting up a 600 MW power plant. ONGC already has a presence in Libya. In the new Exploration and Production Sharing Agreement Round (EPSA-IV) of National Oil Corporation, Libya, a total of 15 oil blocks were offered and IOC won a block in January 2005 in the present round.

National Supply Corporation lifted the ban on Indian commodities in the month of July 2004. The ban was in place since 2000. The trade figures are expected to go up manifold during the current year. As per available trade figures, Indian exports for the initial two months (April-May) stood at Rs 48.11 Crores (Approximately US $ 10.7 million). This is in comparison with previous year's exports (2003-04) which stood at Rs. 86.60 Crores (18.73 $ million).

At the invitation of Speaker of Lok Sabha and the Chairman of the Rajya Sabha to the leaders of both the Houses of Moroccan Parliament, Mr. Abdelouahed Radi, Speaker of the Moroccan House of Representatives (Lower House) is expected to lead a 5-member Parliamentary delegation to New Delhi later this year.

A special course for 10 Palestinian diplomats has been organized by Foreign Service Institute of the Ministry from 22 November to 17 December 2004.

Following the death of President Arafat on 11 November 2004 India stated that he “was a towering and highly respected international personality who fought selflessly and courageously, at great personal sacrifice, for the Palestinian cause and an independent homeland for the Palestinian people, to which he dedicated his whole life. He enjoyed great respect and admiration among the people and leaders of India, and will always be remembered as a sincere and steadfast friend of India.”. External Affairs Minister led a multi-party delegation to Cairo for the funeral ceremony of President Arafat. Condolence messages were sent from President, PM and External Affairs Minister to their counterparts in the Palestinian National Authority. Parliament adopted a long obituary honouring President Arafat.

After the sad demise of President Arafat, India’s commitment to the Palestinian cause was reaffirmed in PM’s message issued on 29 November 2004 on the occasion of the International Day of Solidarity with the Palestinian people.

As a mark of support to the cause of democracy in Palestine and as the world’s largest democracy, India sent, at the invitation of the Palestinian National Authority, a team of Election Observers to observe the Palestinian residential elections in January 2005. India welcomed Mr Mahmoud Abbas as the new President of the Palestinian National Authority. India welcomed the resumption of the Israel-Palestine peace process and issued a statement on 10 February 2005 which stated:

“The Summit in Sharm-el Sheikh on 8 February 2005 and the significant meeting between the leaders of Israel and Palestine after a gap of about four years is an important step in the resumption of the Israel-Palestine peace process and deserves the support of the international community. We have noted the encouraging statements of both leaders. However, a number of important issues remain to be addressed. India has consistently urged an end to violence from all sides. We look forward to further progress in the peace process that would bring about a just and peaceful solution within a reasonable time frame, leading to a sovereign, independent State of Palestine with well-defined and secured borders, living at peace with the State of Israel”.

Sudan

The year 2004-05 witnessed a substantial activity in the field of bilateral economic & commercial relations. A “Technical Agreement” for setting up solar photovoltaic (SPV) module manufacturing plant, near Khartoum in Sudan between Central Electronics Limited (CEL), India and the Sudanese Ministry of Science & Technology was signed in June 2004. In July 2004 Telecommunications Consultants of India Limited (TCIL) prepared a feasibility study for “Sudan Electronic City.” ONGC Videsh Ltd (OVL) has, in addition to its 25 per cent stakes in the Greater Nile Petroleum Operating Company (GNPOC), acquired 26 per cent and 24.5 per cent stakes in Blocks 5A and 5B respectively from OMV of Austria at a total cost of US$ 115 million in May 2004. Apart from OVL’s stakes in Sudanese oil blocks, OVL was awarded the project for construction of products pipeline from Khartoum Refinery to Port Sudan on 1 July 2004. India is also negotiating for upgrading of a refinery in Port Sudan. In response to the Sudanese government’s request for India’s help for the people in Darfur, GOI granted 20,000 tons of wheat as humanitarian assistance for the people of Darfur. Sudan is a major beneficiary under the ITEC Programme and it has been allocated 60 slots during 2004-05.

At the invitation of Honourable Home Minister, Sudan’s Minister of Interior, H.E. Maj-Gen (Eng.) Abdul Rahim Mohamed Hussein visited India from 24-29 January 2005. The fourth round of FOCs between India and Sudan were held on 10 February 2005 at New Delhi.

Syria

Bilateral relations further strengthened during the year building on the Prime Minister's visit in November 2003. President Assad in principle accepted an invitation to visit India.

The first meeting of the Joint Working Group on the Small and Medium Sector was held in New Delhi in November. Bilateral trade (highly skewed in India's favour), recorded steady growth and stood at 205 Million US$ in 2003-04 showing a growth of 66 per cent over 2002-03. A number of Indian companies participated in various Government tenders. ONGC (Videsh) along with an American Company IPR signed an exploration contract with the Syrian Government for exploration and development of oil in Block No.24 in northeastern part of Syria. ABB India bagged another contract worth 30 million US$ in December 2004 for supply of substation. A team from DMRC (Delhi Metro Rail Corporation) led by its MD.

Shri E. Sreedharan visited Syria for a feasibility study of Metro project in Damascus which will be funded from the the credit line of 25 million US$ which was announced by the former Prime Minister last year. The India-Syria Joint Hydrocarbon committee meeting was held in New Delhi on 14 February 2005.

Tunisia

Bilateral relations between India and Tunisia remained cordial during this period. Tunisia has been supportive of India's candidatures in various international fora. Prospects of bilateral business have been explored and are beginning to fructify with major Tunisian investment in fertilizer sector in India and substantial increase in Indian trade to Tunisia. A Six Member delegation of Indian Electrical & Electronics Manufacturers Association (IEEMA) visited Tunisia and held fruitful discussions with their Tunisian counterparts. There is great scope for Indian supply in telecommunications industries. The second meeting of the Indo-Tunisian JWG on Drugs & Pharmaceuticals was held in Tunisia in 2005 and will further consolidate Indian exports of medicines and allied items to Tunisia and the region.

East and Southern Africa

India's relations with the African countries have strengthened during the year. African States remember with gratitude the assistance extended by India to them during their struggle against colonialism and apartheid. During recent years, India's ties with these countries have much expanded in economic and commercial arenas. India has sizeable two-way trade with most of the African countries. There is recognition that Indian goods, whether consumer or capital, are amongst the best in the world and price-wise unbeatable. There is immense appreciation and admiration for the Indian technology. It is widely felt that India can be of great help to the African continent as it marches towards progress and development.

Reflecting the closeness of relations between India and Africa, President of Zanzibar visited India in March. President of Nigeria paid a brief visit to India in November 2004. India's Vice President visited South Africa to participate in their 10th Freedom Day in the last week of April. Foreign Ministers of Comoros, Lesotho, Mauritius, Senegal and Burkina Faso had visited India during the last 2-3 months.

Indian President paid a visit to Tanzania and South Africa in September 2004. During his visit the President had the rare honour of addressing the Pan-African Parliament. He was the first non-African Head of State to do so. Smt. Sonia Gandhi, President of the Congress Party, visited Mauritius during the last week of November 2004. PM is scheduled to visit Mauritius shortly.

It would be evident from this exchange of visits at the highest level between India and Africa that both the sides are extremely keen to further build and strengthen the relationship between them. It is a testimony to the fact that both India and Africa well realize that they have much to offer to each other and are natural partners in their common struggle against backwardness and poverty.

During the last year a number of credit lines have been extended to the countries of this region. One may specially mention here the credit line of US$200 million extended to NEPAD. Recently India extended credit lines to Mozambique, Kenya, Lesotho, Senegal, Angola, etc. Earlier it was decided to provide eight countries of West Africa with a credit line of 500 million dollars and this is generally known as the TEAM-9 Initiative. A high-level meeting of representatives of these countries (which included four Foreign Ministers) was recently held in India to further discuss the modalities of utilization of this credit line.

The highlights of India's cooperation with Africa include building an International Convention Centre in Mauritius at a cost of US$15 million. Half of this amount will be paid as grant while the other half is in the form of credits. Recently construction of the Cybercity was completed there and this was entirely financed through Indian credit line. There are a number of other projects under consideration for which suitable credit lines will be provided to Mauritius. India is assisting Mauritius in several areas and its excellent economic and political ties are underpinned by close people-to-people contacts. It may be noted that no less than 58 per cent of the Mauritian population is of Indian origin.

India is cooperating closely with South Africa, both bilaterally as well as within the framework of IBSA dialogue. The IBSA is looked upon as a model of cooperation in the developing world and has evoked much interest and admiration among other countries. India is also considering joint ventures with South Africa in other African countries in the field of mineral extraction, oil/gas exploration, etc. A joint forum between captains of industry belonging to India and South Africa was formed recently. It is headed by Mr. Ratan Tata, from Indian side while on the South African side it is headed by Mr. Patrice Motsepe, who is the head of a big corporation in that country. It is hoped that the formation of this forum will lead to increase in economic interaction between India and South Africa and especially would encourage formation of joint ventures in key areas. There are thus excellent prospects for expansion of our bilateral ties with South Africa in economic and commercial arenas.

Special mention must be made about the announcement made by Indian President during his recent visit to South Africa. President declared that India would provide technical assistance and expertise for establishing a fiber optic and electronic connectivity between all the countries of Africa. This is a highly ambitious project and would enable the African states to adopt modern technologies and methods of communication. It is hoped that such a linkage would give a major boost to the development of Africa in the fields of education, health, etc. and they would be able to implement schemes based on e-medicine, e-governance, e-education, etc.

There is no doubt that the relations between India and Africa are at a major turning point now. There is a widespread feeling in Africa that it was India which stood by them while they were struggling to secure their independence and it is India again which is standing by them as they are now engaged in a new struggle against the legacy of the colonial era represented by poverty, backwardness and lack of infrastructure. Perhaps what Africa feels for India can best be expressed with a quote from a speech recently made by the Prime Minister of Mauritius in their Parliament.

“I also think that we are blessed. We will never stop saying ‘thank you’ to India. In every difficult situation, India is there. We want to get the ICT sector off the ground, India is there! We have a problem to host a huge UN Conference on AIDS, India is there! And here, when we want to take a further step in consolidating, modernizing democracy, once again, India is there. We are benefiting from this accumulated experience in the largest democracy in the world – India. That is why I say that we are not just chanceux; we are blessed. What sign of maturity, what lesson in democracy this huge subcontinent India has just given. For the first time, electronic voting machines were used for a general election in one go across this huge subcontinent. And surprise, those who thought they would win, lost! Mr. Speaker, Sir, again, this is a sign of maturity! Not the slightest challenge! Fantastic! They have devised a superb piece of electronic machinery; they have used it and there is not the slightest challenge. What a lesson! And we stand to benefit from all this, Mr. Speaker, Sir.”

In the field of manpower training under ITEC and similar schemes, India has been providing training in a wide range of fields to countries of Africa since the early 1960s. It is a tribute to the high quality of training, which is imparted under the ITEC that there is much competition to be selected for the courses being offered under its aegis. Keeping in view the overriding need for Africa for trained manpower the Government of India has over the years greatly expanded the scope of the ITEC and the number of seats allotted to Africa has shown a steady increase over the years.

Mention must be made here of the sterling role played by India’s defence forces while participating in peacekeeping operations in various countries of Africa such as Burundi, Ivory Coast, DRC, etc. which had been suffering from civil war, ethnic violence, etc. A large contingent from the Indian army forms part of the UN Force, which is keeping peace between Eritrea and Ethiopia. The present commander of this force (UNMEE – United Nations Mission in Ethiopia and Eritrea) is a senior army officer from India. African countries highly appreciate the vital contribution, which India is thus making to restoration of stability and peace in various parts of this continent. Indian defence personnel participating in these operations have everywhere distinguished themselves by the professionalism as well as by their humane approach, thus demonstrating to the common man in Africa that India is genuinely concerned about the problems being faced by the people of Africa.

There is universal recognition in Africa that India has now become a major power in every sense of the word. This is why most countries of Africa have enthusiastically endorsed India’s candidature for a permanent seat in the UN Security Council. Indian communities in various African countries have, in recent years, proved themselves as a valuable bridge strengthening the relationship between India and their countries of residence. These communities mostly consist of PIOs whose great-grandfathers had migrated to Africa from India in the 19th century. In most African countries, members of the Indian community are generally engaged in trade and they usually account for a large percentage of the retail trade in the country concerned. The earlier image of a greedy and rapacious Indian trader who exploited the local people and reaped huge profits has now almost become a thing of the past. It also needs to be noted that members of the Indian community in Africa have started to invest in local industries and they thus have been proving that their links and attachment first and foremost is with the country of their residence in Africa. It is also gratifying that many members of the Indian community have become members of Parliament in different African States. One can safely say that the Indian Diaspora in Africa has finally come of age and while retaining their Indian culture and identity have managed to merge themselves with the mainstream society in Africa in the most harmonious manner.

India looks to the future and there is no doubt that immense opportunities for cooperation exist between India and Africa. Indian technology and capital aided by its skilled manpower are best suited to enable Africa to exploit its natural resources in a manner mutually beneficial both to the people of India as well as of Africa. A brief account of developments in these countries is as follows:

Botswana

Deep cordiality and mutual benefit mark the bilateral relations between India and Botswana during the year. Botswana extended support on a number of issues and voted for India at international elections, and cooperated with India on a wide range of issues. A delegation of top officials of the Botswana Export Development and Investment Authority (BEDIA) visited India to seek new investors in May 2004. Chairman & Managing Director of Telecommunication Consultants India Ltd. (TCIL), Shri G.D. Gaiha, visited Botswana in July 2004. He met Minister of Science, Communications and Technology Boyce Sebetela and senior officials in the Ministry as well as those of Botswana Telecommunications Corporation (BTC) and postal department. A group of eleven Indian businessmen including representatives of M/s. Larsen & Toubro (Kolkata) and Tata Infotech, visited Botswana in July 2004 at the invitation of Botswana Export Development and Investment Authority (BEDIA). A 9-member delegation sponsored by EEPC visited Botswana in August 2004 and discussed export prospects. Lt.Gen. L.M. Fisher, Commander of Botswana Defence Force (BDF) visited India in August 2004 at the personal invitation of Gen. N.C. Vij, Chief of Army Staff. India's export to Botswana also increased by 54 per cent during the year.

The relations between the two countries remained friendly.

Comoros

The Foreign Minister of the Union of Comoros H.E. Mr. Souef Mohamed El-Amine paid an official visit to India from 23-27 August 2004 at the invitation of External Affairs Minister. During his visit, the first ever bilateral, high-level visit from either side, India and Comoros agreed on strengthening cooperation in a wide variety of fields. At the 59th session of the UNGA Comoros supported India's candidature for permanent membership of the Security Council and for ECOSOC.

Eritrea

No high level visit took place during the period under reference. However, when Ambassador met President and several Cabinet Ministers, they impressed upon the urgent need of opening a Diplomatic representation at the earliest. Around 1500 Indian Teachers/Doctors/ Experts are working in Eritrea in different Departments/Sectors. Indian contingent comprising 1400 defence personnel is the largest component of United Nations Mission in Ethiopia and Eritrea (UNMEE). Action is being taken to appoint an Hon. Consul General in Eritrea.

Ethiopia

India and Ethiopia continued to enjoy warm and friendly relations during the period and it was further strengthened especially in the areas of capacity building and human resource development. This has been acknowledged by the Government of Ethiopia in its annual performance report, which says that a good result has been achieved in the training of health extension workers and this has been possible because of training the trainers by using the services of professionals from India. Central African Republic(CAR)

Bilateral relations between India and the Central African Republic have been stagnating since 1998. The former Ambassador (desig.) to the CAR was not able to present his credentials. Also, it is almost three years now and the Agreement in respect of the present Ambassador (design.) has not been conveyed by the CAR authorities. As such, no forward movement in bilateral relations has taken place and there are no significant developments to report. One of the reasons for the above mentioned lack of response from CAR is the internal situation in the country following the coup d'etat in March 2003, in which President Felix Patasse was ousted by a former army chief of CAR, General Francoise Bozize.

levels in all spheres. Some of the major developments are summarized below together with agreements signed during the year.

To facilitate bilateral trade, two Lines of Credit (LOCs) were agreed for Ghana. The first signed EXIM Bank line of credit of $15 million for a rural electrification project became effective, and disbursements are expected to commence soon. A second US $27 million EXIM LOC, which was announced by the then PM at the above-mentioned meeting in Abuja, has been approved and is in the process of being implemented. These LOCs will help finance projects with poverty alleviation objectives in various sectors including rural electrification, purchase of tractors for the President's Special Initiative on agriculture and purchase of buses for transportation sector.

Senior Minister, Mr. J. H. Mensah, of Ghana visited India from 1-2 March 2004 to participate in the inaugural meeting of TEAM-9. List of projects for financing under TEAM-9 have been sent to Ministry. They include projects in the power, agriculture, railways and industrial sectors.

Indians are now the second largest foreign investor in the private sector in Ghana and the Indian private sector is continuing to steadily increase its presence in Ghana. The mission has requested an additional 25 slots this year, as human resource development is a key objective of the Ghanaian government's developmental programmes. The five available long-term scholarships under the Cultural Exchange Programme and Commonwealth Scholarship Programme have been awarded and are being utilized by Ghanaian students for undergoing higher studies in Indian universities.

The number of high-level government and private sector delegations visiting India and Ghana has increased considerably in 2004-05. These include ministers, public-sector organizations, business delegations, senior government officers, Export Promotion Councils, MPs, etc.

Economic and commercial relations between Ghana have shown a dramatic increase. This trend in India's bilateral trade with Ghana, which shows significant increase in trade and India's exports (up 65% in 2003-04), is expected to continue in 2004-05. Exports to Ghana are estimated to increase by 62% and the total trade is projected to increase by 59% in 2004-05. To a large extent, these strong results may be attributable to the aggressive trade promotion and commercial initiative that were undertaken by the Indian Mission. Indian companies are also increasingly bidding on large international tenders financed by World Bank, etc., and are being assisted by the Indian Mission in this regard.

Some initiatives of strategic importance for India are underway. In the petroleum sector, an MoU has been signed between ONGC (Videsh) and the Ghana National Petroleum Company for co-operation in petroleum exploration, development and production. EUROPE I

India's engagement with the individual countries in Europe and the European Union continued to grow during the year. Interactions were marked by regular exchanges of visits, including at the highest level, demonstrating a mutual desire to deepen and diversify bilateral relations. India shared a strategic relationship with France, Germany and UK and growing ties with a number of other countries in Europe, aimed at promoting more intensive bilateral cooperation over a wide range of areas. The 5th India-EU Summit, held at The Hague in November 2004, was a landmark in India's relations with the EU, for it launched the India-EU Strategic Partnership in recognition of India's growing stature as a major regional and global player. Interactions with individual countries in Europe reflected a shared understanding on various international issues. On the debate on UN reforms, India was able to garner significant support from several EU Member States. India and Germany, in a strategic move, agreed to support each other's candidature in an expanded UNSC.

Economic considerations continue to underpin India's strong ties with countries in Europe. The desire of EU Member States to enter into bilateral agreements/MoUs for enhanced S&T cooperation in niche areas of technology demonstrate the growing recognition of India's potential in this area. The civil society dialogue with major European countries, represented by the different Eminent Persons Groups and Round Tables, was another dimension of the multi-faceted relationship.

European Union (EU)

The year 2004 has been a watershed year for both India and the EU (its membership expanded from 15 to 25 countries). The EU upgraded its bilateral relations with India to a Strategic Partnership. India joins five other countries with which EU has this privileged relationship. The 5th India-EU Summit – the latest in the series of the annual institutionalized political dialogue at the highest level between India and the EU – was held on 8 November 2004 at The Hague, under the Dutch Presidency of the European Union. The Summit launched a Strategic Partnership between EU and India. It had an agenda that spanned the entire spectrum of India-EU relations, including global issues such as the fight against international terrorism, the role of multilateralism, regional developments of mutual concern, and a review of cooperation between the two sides on economic and trade matters. The scope of enhancing relations on the Science & Technology front was also underlined, particularly in the context of the proposed signing of a Framework Agreement between the two sides regarding India's participation in the Galileo Project, and India's interest in the ITER project. India and the EU also decided to set up an Energy Panel and an Environment Forum and agreed to draw up a Joint Action Plan covering the entire gamut of India-EU relations. The two sides also issued a Joint Declaration on Cultural Relations and a Joint Press statement. The Political Summit was followed by a CEOs Round Table from both sides. He held extensive talks with them on a range of bilateral, regional and international issues of concern.

A delegation of four senior Members of the European Parliament, including the President of the EPP Group in the European Parliament Mr. Hans-Gert Poettering and the Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee Mr. Elmar Brok, visited India in February 2005. The delegation met External Affairs Minister and held discussions with Members of the Standing Committee on External Affairs. These meetings were especially important in the context of our efforts to enhance mutual understanding amongst Parliamentarians on both sides.

India and the EU have substantial trade and economic interests. The EU (as a bloc of 25 nations) is India's largest export destination and has a share of over 24 per cent in her total exports. India's exports to the EU in 2003 were Euros 13.30 billion and imports were worth Euros 14.20 billion – an increase of nearly 7 per cent over the previous year. In the year 2003, India was the 19th largest exporter to EU and occupied a share of 1.35 per cent in the total EU imports. On the other hand, India was the 16th largest importer of EU's products and had a share of 1.46 per cent in EU's global exports. The EU is one of the largest sources of FDI for India. Between the years 1991 to 2003, cumulative actual inflows are estimated at around Euros 6.2 billion, according to Eurostat Data. The most important sources of FDI from the EU are UK, Germany, and the Netherlands followed by France, Italy and Belgium.

USA

India-US relations continued to witness intensive engagement towards a qualitative transformation in the year 2004-05. Both Governments reiterated their resolve to continue the process of developing a strategic partnership between India and the US. There is strong commitment on both sides to further widen, deepen and strengthen these ties. This is reflected in the Common Minimum Programme of the Indian Government and the Address of President to the Parliament in June 2004. With the re-election of President Bush in November 2004 the US Government has expressed its commitment to make the strategic partnership between India and US even more solid.

The two countries are involved in a broad dialogue on issues of mutual concern and interest, including strategic issues, defence, combating international terrorism, peacekeeping, science and technology, cyber security, health, trade, space, energy and environment. There is interaction between the two governments at all levels. External Affairs Minister's visit to Washington DC in June 2004 and subsequent meeting on the sidelines of ASEAN Regional Forum on 7-8 July 2004 with then US Secretary of State Colin Powell served to establish direct contact at the political level. On the US side, then Deputy Secretary of State Richard Armitage visited New Delhi on 13-14 July 2004 to reconfirm US commitment to continued expansion of India-US ties. In the Joint Statement "US -India partnership: Co-operation & Trust" they noted that "bilateral relations had never been as close as they were at present" and set the direction for further development of the India - U.S. strategic partnership. During the meeting, President Bush emphasised that US relations with India were vital and had great potential. Prime Minister underscored that mutual resolve to strengthen bilateral relations would create the environment of peace, prosperity and safety from terrorism. They welcomed the implementation of Phase 1 of the Next Steps in Strategic Partnership (NSSP) to include the removal of ISRO Headquarters from the Commerce Department's Entity List, as the beginning of a new era of co-operation and trust. Expanded defence co-operation was perceived as an integral aspect of the expanding ties. The two leaders exchanged thoughts on their shared global concerns and agreed that making the world a safer place was an overriding priority. They recognized the importance of working closely together in the war against terrorism and in combating proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and their delivery systems. They agreed that policies encouraging greater integration of the two economies and with the global economy would offer opportunities to expand and strengthen their economic partnership. To this end, the two leaders also expressed their desire to strengthen cooperation on international economic issues including the WTO's Doha Development Agenda, and on the bilateral efforts such as the U.S.-India Economic Dialogue and the High Technology Cooperation Group. Foreign Secretary visited Washington DC from 16-18 September 2004 to hold discussions with his counterparts in the US Administration. He had meetings in the State Department, the White House and the Pentagon. Foreign Office Consultations and the Asian Security Dialogue were held between Foreign Secretary and Under Secretary Marc Grossman. Foreign Secretary had very good meetings with top officials in the US Administration, including Secretary of State-designate Condoleezza Rice, Deputy Secretary of Defence Paul Wolfowitz, Deputy Secretary of State Richard Armitage and with Under Secretary for Business, Economic & Agricultural Affairs Alan Larson. Foreign Secretary also met with Under Secretary of Defence Douglas Feith, Under Secretary of Commerce Kenneth Juster and Deputy National Security Adviser, Steve Hadley. These meetings provided occasion for a very extensive exchange of views at high levels, on both bilateral relations as also a number of regional and global issues. The US reiterated its strong commitment to strengthen Indo-US relations. Foreign Secretary led an industry-government delegation for the third HTCG meeting in Washington DC on 18-19 November 2004.

During this meeting Data Privacy and Defence Technology were the main themes for the industry-government day, while Strategic Trade and Trade Facilitation were the areas of focus on the government-government session. The meetings saw strong participation by both Indian industry and US as well as by government representatives from both sides. The plenary session had almost 100 participants.

India welcomed President Bush's initiative of 11 February 2004 enunciating proposals to combat WMD proliferation. As part of our bilateral dialogue mechanisms, AS (UN) and JS (AMS) held discussions with Assistant Secretary Stephen Rademaker on Strategic Stability and with Assistant Secretary Susan Burk on Non-proliferation Issues in Washington D.C. on 22 November 2004. U.S. Defence Secretary Donald Rumsfeld visited India on 8-9 December 2004 and called on the Prime Minister besides having meetings with External Affairs Minister, Defence Minister, and the National Security Adviser. An elaborate institutional structure of dialogue on defence issues is overseen by the Defence Policy Group, which continued its discussions at the meeting on 1-2 June 2004. Three aspects of our relationship - military exchanges, defence supplies and technical cooperation - are each addressed by a separate bilateral group. Military contacts, exchanges and exercises have been regular and have developed their own dynamics. TOW-2A missiles and 14 TOW-2A Fly-to-Buy missiles (valued at $ 1.2 billion). India's strong concern with respect to U.S. arms package to Pakistan was conveyed at high levels to the US Government. The repercussions of such sales on the ongoing India-Pakistan dialogue, currently poised at a sensitive juncture, were brought out. It was also pointed out that such transfers of arms to Pakistan at a time when Indo-US relations were seeing significant transformation and the US was being perceived in India as strategic partner, would impact on the positive sentiments and goodwill that have come to characterize Indo-U.S. relations. U.S. officials stated that the United States values its relationship with India and that President Bush is personally committed to take it forward. As far as India-Pakistan relations were concerned, while the US has an arms supply relationship with Pakistan, it was supportive of the India-Pakistan dialogue. It would also continue to take up concerns relating to cross-border terrorism.

Established in January 2000, the Joint Working Group on Counter Terrorism (JWGCT) continued to be a useful mechanism to further understanding of each other's concerns. The sixth meeting of the JWGCT, held in New Delhi from 31 August - 1 September 2004, discussed current trends in international terrorism, the situation in Afghanistan, and trends and concerns in South Asia, including cross-border terrorism. The two sides also (i) exchanged information on the law enforcement, legislative, financial and other measures taken in the field of counter-terrorism; (ii) agreed to continue training and capacity building programme; (iii) exchanged perspectives on multilateral efforts to counter-terrorism.

US is India's largest trade partner and India rank 18th in the list of USA's partners. The total trade in merchandise and commodities was $15.91 billion (up 17 per cent from $13.56 billion in the same period last year) in the first nine months (January-September) of calendar year 2004. The rate of growth of our exports to US in this period has been impressive 26 per cent (from $9.95 billion to $ 11.54 billion).

The US is India's major FDI source, accounting for 21 per cent of approved FDI ($16.48 billion) between January 1991 and March 2004. India's service exports to the US are more than $6 billion annually. To enhance the trade and economic relationship between the two countries a dialogue process consisting of a triad was followed – Next Steps in Strategic Partnership (NSSP), High Technology Cooperation Group (HTCG) and the high-level Economic Dialogue.

Since the establishment of the HTCG, high-technology trade between India and US, including licensed trade in dual-use items, has grown substantially. The U.S. dual use licenses for India climbed from 423 in FY 2002 to 619 in FY 2003 and 912 in FY 2004. In value terms too, this trade has gone up from $26.78 million in FY 2002 to $90.06 million in 2004. The license approval rate has increased from 84 percent to 90 percent in two-year time.

The Next Steps in Strategic Partnership (NSSP) gave political direction to enhance cooperation in four areas - civilian space, civilian nuclear energy, 'dual use' items and missile defence. These areas of cooperation are designed to progress through a series of reciprocal steps that build on each other. Since January 2004, the two governments worked closely to conclude Phase One of the NSSP. This included implementation of measures to address proliferation concerns and ensure compliance with export controls. These efforts enabled the US to make modifications to export licensing policies that will foster cooperation in commercial space programs and permit certain exports to power plants at safeguarded nuclear facilities. ISRO Headquarters was removed from the Department of Commerce Entity List. The completion of Phase One of NSSP was announced in a Joint Statement on 17 September 2004 during Foreign Secretary's visit to US. Subsequently, two meetings - one in New Delhi on 21 October and the other in Washington on 18 November - took place of the Implementation Group of NSSP to explore ways to move further in the next phase.

The new agreement was initialled by representatives of the two countries and is expected to be signed at a later date at ministerial level. The proposed ATA would replace the existing 1956 Agreement to meet the growing requirements for air services and rising demand for travel facilities between the two countries. Following the conclusion of ATA, the air services between the two countries are expected to see an exponential growth, giving a greater fillip and thrust to the existing passenger, air cargo and mail services between the two countries. The ATA would also facilitate the rapidly increasing trade and commercial traffic, promote tourism and further enhance travel amenities and choices for the movement and travel of people of two countries.

India-US Economic Dialogue was set up following an understanding between US President and Prime Minister of India in November 2001. In 2004 both Governments agreed to the designation of Deputy Chairman, Planning Commission as the Co-Chairperson and Foreign Secretary as his Deputy, and the Economic Policy Assistant to the US President as the Co-Chair and Under Secretary for Economic, Business and Agricultural Affairs as his Deputy from the respective sides. The dialogue is being revamped to lend it greater focus and efficacy.

The second meeting of the India-US Cyber Security Forum (IUSCSF) was held in Washington on 8-10 November 2004. The Plenary and the Working Group sessions resulted in a very substantive programme of action.

Following the Tsunami tragedy, India and USA together with Japan and Australia and later joined by the Netherlands, and Canada formed a Core Group to coordinate more effective joint action in the first phase of operations. The group worked together closely with the UN and examined ways in which the relief effort could best be channelised through the UN. Even after disbanding of the Core Group, the two countries cooperated within the overall ambit of the UN. India had deputed Liaison Officers at Hawaii with the Pacific Command and at Utaphao at the Combined Support Force (CSF) 536 and sent two US MPAT (Multinational Planning and Augmentation Team) trained officer to Utaphao to participate in the planning exercise at the CSF 536.

India's candidature as a permanent member of UNSC

The year saw a steady accretion of support for India's candidature for permanent membership of the UN Security Council, from various countries. India reached agreements of mutual support with the other three main aspirants, namely, Brazil, Germany and Japan. These were announced during their visits to India in 2004, by President of Brazil in January, German Foreign Minister in July and Japanese Foreign Minister in August, respectively. It is noteworthy that these aspirants are now going to work together. This was reiterated at the highest levels during the Summit held on 21 September 2004 in New York, on the sidelines of the 59th UN General Assembly, of the leaders of Brazil, Germany, India and Japan. The Group highlighted the need to reform the Security Council to make it more representative, legitimate and effective. They stressed that it was essential that the Security Council include, on permanent basis, countries that have the will and the capacity to take on major responsibilities with regard to the maintenance of international peace and security. They also agreed that Africa must be represented in the permanent membership in the Security Council.

A large number of leaders in their speeches, during the General Debate at the 59th session of the UN General Assembly, referred to the necessity of UN institutional reforms, the expansion of the Security Council, the inclusion of new permanent members and India's credentials in this regard.

Discussions on these issues are likely to intensify in the UN in the coming months. India will actively participate in these discussions and see how best the objective of UN reforms and of India's candidature for permanent membership of the UN Security Council can be advanced.

Political issues at the General Assembly and Security Council

Terrorism

The Security Council's Counter-Terrorism Committee (CTC) established pursuant to Security Council resolution 1373 (2001) followed an active programme of implementation involving appropriate legislative framework and measures to check financial flows to terrorists. India has to-date submitted four reports detailing legislative and other counter-measures in place against terrorism. India also made statements on three separate occasions in the Security Council in 2004-05 on the item "Threats to International Peace and Security Caused by Terrorist Acts".

With the adoption of resolution 1535 of 26 March 2004 the Security Council established the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate (CTED) to enhance the CTC's ability to monitor the implementation of resolution 1373 and effectively continue the capacity-building work in which it was engaged. It also reflected the intention of the CTC to assume a more proactive role in its dialogue with Member States, evaluate the implementation of Resolution 1373, facilitate technical assistance to Member States and promote closer cooperation and coordination with International, Regional and Sub-regional organisations.

The adoption of resolution 1566 (8 October 2004) by the Security Council which, inter alia, condemned in the strongest terms all acts of terrorism irrespective of their motivation and called upon Member States to cooperate fully to expeditiously adopt the draft Comprehensive Convention on International Terrorism (CCIT) and the draft international convention for the suppression of acts of nuclear terrorism, was welcomed by India as a logical extension of the existing multilateral cooperation on counter-terrorism and the ideas first enunciated in Security Council resolutions 1267 (1999) and 1373.

Peacekeeping

India is presently one of the leading troop contributors to UN Peacekeeping. India presently contributes troops to eight of the sixteen ongoing UN Peace-keeping operations. India has a bilateral dialogue on peacekeeping with U.S. and UK. The fourth meeting of the Indo-UK Joint Working Group on Peacekeeping was held in CUNPK, New Delhi from 23-25 November 2004. The meeting saw a comprehensive exchange of views on the emerging challenges in peacekeeping and an understanding of mutual perspectives on various conceptual and operational dimensions of peacekeeping. Apart from an exchange of experiences and ideas, the JWG is also a forum for planning joint activities and identifying institutional cooperation in peacekeeping. In this framework, a three-week 'Train the Trainer' programme was conducted in New Delhi by Centrex, the U.K. national police training institute, for Indian police officers involved in training for UN peacekeeping. Further initiatives in bilateral cooperation including a mutual exchange of instructors for peacekeeping training Centres have been identified.

India participated at the Ministerial Meeting of the NAM Committee on Palestine held at Putrajaya, Malaysia on 13 May 2004 which decided to establish a Ministerial delegation to be led by the Malaysian chair, to interact with the Quartet (UN, EU, US and Russia) and the P-5, to facilitate forward movement in the Middle East peace process. Reiterating its solidarity with the Palestinian cause and expressing concern at the grave political and humanitarian situation in the occupied territories and the unravelling of the peace process, the meeting also urged the U.N. Security Council to authorize an international presence and establish a UN Peacekeeping Mission in the occupied territories; convene a special meeting on Palestine on the sidelines of the next UNGA and further mobilize international public opinion and civil society. India also supported adoption, by the General Assembly, of the NAM resolution entitled "Reaffirming the central role of the United Nations in the maintenance of international peace and security and promotion of international cooperation", on 5 August 2004.

The Annual Meeting of the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the Non-Aligned Movement was held on the margins of the 59th session of the UN General Assembly on 29 September 2004. India participated in the interactive debate held during the meeting on the topic "Reforming the United Nations to meet Global Threats and Challenges in the 21st Century". Based on the views expressed by the delegates, the inputs of NAM on the issue of UN reform were forwarded to the UN Secretary General's High Level Panel on Threats, Challenges and Change.

Middle East

The situation in the Middle East was a matter of continued debate in the UN this year. The Tenth Emergency Special Session of the General Assembly on the Situation in the Occupied East Jerusalem and the rest of the Occupied Palestinian Territory was reconvened on 16-20 July 2004 to consider the item on the "Advisory Opinion of the International Court of Justice on the legal consequences of the construction of a wall in the occupied Palestinian territory". India made a statement at the meeting and voted in favour of the resolution which, inter alia, acknowledged the advisory opinion of the International Court of Justice. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 150 votes in favour, 6 against and 10 abstentions.

Consideration of Agenda Items on the situation in the Middle East and the Question of Palestine was taken up at the General Assembly on 29-30 November 2004. Several countries, including India, participated in the debate on these items. While expressing regret and condolences over the death of President Arafat, most speakers called upon the parties concerned to put an end to violence and resume political dialogue through implementation of the "Quartet" Roadmap. Many delegations were of the view that elections scheduled in the Palestinian Authority and Israel's disengagement plan offered new opportunities to fulfil the vision of two States living side by side within secure and recognised borders. India voted in favour of the traditional resolutions under the above agenda items. India also participated in an open debate of the Security Council on the item 'The situation in the Middle East'.

Iraq

Following the request of the Iraqi Governing Council and the Coalition Provisional Authority (CPA) for UN facilitation in the transitional political process, the UN Secretary General's Special Advisor Lakhdar Brahimi visited Iraq in February and April 2004 and outlined a detailed roadmap for political transition. UN Security Council resolution 1546 adopted unanimously on 8 June 2004 endorsed the Brahimi timetable for Iraqi political transition and stated that the U.N. should play a leading role in the process, as requested by the Iraqi Government.

As the first step in the above plan, an Iraqi Interim Government (IIG) took over sovereignty on 30 June 2004 with the simultaneous dissolution of the Iraqi Governing Council. The U.N. Security Council and the UN Secretary General welcomed the handover of full responsibility and authority for governing Iraq to the IIG and the end of the occupation. On 14 July 2004, Mr. Ashraf Jehangir Qazi, who was serving as Pakistan's ambassador to the U.S was nominated as the Secretary General's Special Representative for Iraq. The second step of the Brahimi Plan was completed in mid-August 2004 when the U.N. facilitated the convening of a representative National Conference of over a thousand delegates, which in turn selected the members of the Interim National Council, set up to advise the Interim Government on policy matters. The UN also assisted in a limited manner in organizing the direct national elections held on 31 January 2005 to elect a Transitional Government. The UN assisted in establishing an independent Electoral Commission and in the technical preparation involving drafting of a legislative framework, preparation of voters' lists and training of electoral workers. The elections are to be followed by the drafting of a new constitution and convening of a referendum to approve it, followed by the setting up of a constitutionally elected permanent Iraqi Government by 31 December 2005.

Apart from outlining the timetable for Iraqi political transition, UN Security Council resolution 1546 also determined the thorny issue regarding status of the multinational force and its relationship with the Iraqi Government, by mandating the setting up of the MNF on the basis of the request of the IIG; by endorsing a 'security partnership' between the MNF and the IIG and by making the continuation of the MNF in Iraq beyond the stipulated one year, contingent upon the wishes of the IIG. UNSCR 1546 also included provisions for full transfer of economic powers including the disbursal of the Development Fund of Iraq and the Oil-for-food Programme.

Thus, from being a marginal player in the immediate aftermath of the war, the UN moved on to play a bigger role in the Iraqi political transition process. While the U.N. is being called upon to play a larger role and has the necessary mandate for it under UNSCR 1546, in reality, it is hamstrung by the difficult security situation and has had only a limited impact on the ground. Although the UN has been re-engaged in Iraq, whether it would be able to play a more substantive role and lead the forthcoming critical steps in the transition process remain to be seen.

India welcomed the unanimous adoption of UNSCR 1546, viewing the endorsement of the Interim Government of Iraq as the first step towards the transparent transfer of full sovereignty to the people of Iraq. Noting that the role of the UN had been unanimously accepted, it expected that the UN would play a central role in the developing situation in Iraq. Since the priority, in India's view, was to ensure an early return to conditions of security and normalcy for all the people of Iraq, and keeping in mind its historic and long-standing relationship with the Iraqi people, India reiterated its commitment to assist Iraq in the arduous task of political and economic reconstruction. India announced a contribution of $ 30 million towards humanitarian assistance and reconstruction needs of Iraq through the 'International Reconstruction Fund Facility for Iraq (IRFF) set up by the UN. In June 2004, India conveyed its interest in having the contribution earmarked for electoral assistance in Iraq. Subsequently, pursuant to the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding between the Election Commission of India and the United Nations for Cooperation in Electoral Assistance on 29 August 2004, India has offered assistance to Iraq, through the United Nations, in training of election officials and other election-related areas, as also financial assistance of $ 5 million through the IRFF. Of this, an amount of $ 2.5 million has been earmarked for the UN Iraq Trust Fund for Iraqi elections.

Afghanistan

In the UN, India continued to be supportive of a strong, united, sovereign and independent Afghanistan. On 8 December 2004 the UN General Assembly took up two items for discussion: 'The situation in Afghanistan and its implications for international peace and security' and 'Emergency international assistance for peace, normalcy and reconstruction of war-stricken Afghanistan'. A number of countries, including India, made statements under these agenda items. While India commended the Afghan people for the successful electoral process and the election of President Karzai as the first democratically elected President of Afghanistan, it also cautioned about the fragile security situation in the country, especially continuing terrorist activity; drug production and challenges to the consolidation of the central government. All speakers, without exception, noted the remarkable progress made by Afghanistan in its transition process, in particular the successful adoption of a Constitution and holding of presidential elections. Many delegations, however, referred to the continuing challenges faced by Afghanistan including, inter alia, terrorist threats, presence of militias, drug production and trafficking and criminal activity. Several delegations also referred to the need to conduct timely and credible parliamentary and local elections. Demonstrative of continued international interest in Afghanistan, as many as 145 Member States, including India, co-sponsored the General Assembly resolution on Afghanistan, which was adopted by consensus.

Information

The Committee on Information (COI) which makes recommendations to the General Assembly on the policy and activities of the Department of Public Information (DPI) held its annual session in New York in April–May 2004. The main issue of interest continued to be the controversy over the United Nations Information Centres (UNICs). It was agreed that any decision on regionalisation of UNICs would be deferred until a detailed status report was made available to the Committee on the functioning of the Regional Information Centre that has been functional in Brussels since February 2004. Upon conclusion of its proceedings, the Committee adopted two resolutions on “Information in the service of humanity” and “United Nations Public Information Activities and Policies”. The Committee also took a decision to expand its membership from 102 to 107 to include Qatar, Iceland, Luxembourg, Madagascar and Cape Verde. The two resolutions and the decision were subsequently endorsed by the Fourth Committee when it discussed the agenda item: “Questions Relating to Information” on 21 October 2004. These were thereafter adopted by the plenary of the General Assembly on 10 December 2004.

The Economic and Social Council

The substantive session of ECOSOC was held in New York from 28 June -23 July 2004. The theme for the high-level segment this year was “Resources Mobilisation and Enabling Environment for Poverty Eradication in the context of the implementation of the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the Decade 2001-2010”. A Ministerial Declaration was adopted at the conclusion of the high-level segment, which recognised the weak implementation of the Programme of Implementation for the LDCs, reaffirmed that good governance both at national and international levels was essential for the implementation of the commitments embodied in the Programme of Action and emphasised the need for concrete and substantial international support from governments and international organisations to the efforts by LDCs themselves.

The ECOSOC decided to endorse a strategy for smooth transition of countries graduating from Least Developed Country status and the recommendation of the Committee on Development Policy to graduate Cape Verde and Maldives from the group of Least Developed Countries and requested the General Assembly to take note of the recommendation.

The ECOSOC reviewed the work of the ad hoc advisory groups of the ECOSOC on African countries emerging from conflict and decided to extend the mandate of the ad hoc advisory groups on Guinea-Bissau and Burundi till the substantive session in 2005. The ECOSOC also decided to reactivate the ad hoc advisory group on Haiti and mandated the group to provide advice on Haiti's long-term development strategy to promote socio-economic recovery and stability for consideration of the ECOSOC at its substantive session in 2005.

The ECOSOC decided to upgrade the Ad hoc Group of Experts on International Cooperation in Tax Matters to a Committee of Experts on International Cooperation in Tax Matters and to expand its mandate to consider, inter alia, how new and emerging issues could affect international cooperation in tax matters and develop assessments and appropriate recommendations.

59th General Assembly

India continued to play an active role in the Second Committee. The General Assembly decided to convene a high-level plenary meeting of the Assembly at the commencement of the 60th session in 2005, to undertake a comprehensive review of the progress made in the fulfilment of all the commitments contained in the Millennium Declaration, including the internationally agreed development goals and the global partnership required for their achievement, and of the progress made in the integrated and coordinated implementation of the outcomes of the major UN conferences and summits in the economic, social and related fields. In the light of this decision, deliberations on economic, environment and development issues in the Second Committee focused on the implementation of the outcomes of the major UN conferences and summits and the need for increased resource flows for development. Delegations also emphasised the need to discuss new and innovative sources of financing for development, to complement the increased aid flows. The General Assembly decided to consider the proposals within the overall framework for the follow-up of the International Conference on Financing for Development.

The report of the World Commission on the Social Dimension of Globalisation entitled “A fair globalisation: Creating opportunities for all” received broad support of delegations. A special meeting was organised by co-chairs of the World Commission, Finnish President Tarja Halonen and Tanzanian President Benjamin William Mkapa, on 20 September 2004 at the United Nations to launch the report. Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh in his message on this occasion highlighted that effective national action required an enabling and facilitatory international environment, in which countries may formulate policies designed to promote economic growth and social justice, and expressed the hope that the report would lead to the development of a broader international consensus on this subject. The General Assembly, for the first time, underlined the importance of policy space in the context of globalisation and interdependence.

Environment and Sustainable Development Issues

India participated actively in the work of the twelfth session of the Commission on Sustainable Development, the high-level commission within the UN system for sustainable development with the role of reviewing and promoting the implementation of Agenda 21 and the Johannesburg Plan of Implementation. The twelfth session of Commission on Sustainable Development was held in New York from 14-30 April 2004, which focused on the constraints, obstacles and challenges faced by developing countries in meeting the agreed Johannesburg Plan of Implementation goals and targets in the thematic cluster of Water, Sanitation and Human Settlements. The high-level segment of CSD 12 was held from 28-30 April. Dr. Prodipto Ghosh, Secretary, Ministry of Environment and Forests led the Indian delegation to CSD-12. He stated that the meeting had brought to fore the challenges faced by developing countries and emphasised the need to adopt and monitor the targets for means of implementation, including provision of financial resources by State partners and multilateral financial institutions and to address the issue of transfer of necessary technologies to developing countries.

The outcome of CSD-12 identified a number of challenges, including mobilising resources from all sources, facilitating the transfer of appropriate technologies and capacity-building in developing countries. These aspects will be addressed in the 13th session of CSD, to be held in April 2005, for decisions on policy options and practical measures.

Social, Human Rights & Humanitarian Issues

India participated and contributed actively in debates and discussions in areas of social development and human rights issues. The participation in debates by India on these issues in the General Assembly, the ECOSOC and the Functional Commissions was guided by its status as the largest democracy in the world, as a developing country and its commitment to the rule of law and the promotion and protection of human rights. India also played a very active role in the Regular Session of the NGO Committee.

Human Rights

In keeping with its traditional commitment to the human rights system of the United Nations, India continued to participate in the working of the principal human rights bodies – the Commission on Human Rights (CHR), the Sub-Commission on the Promotion and Protection of Human Rights, their subsidiary bodies and Working Groups. Shri Soli Sorabjee, India's representative in the Sub-Commission was elected the Chairperson of the Sub-Commission at its 56th Session. A constructive dialogue was maintained with the relevant Special Procedures and Treaty bodies. India accepted the request of the Special Rapporteur on the Right to Food to visit India on mutually convenient dates.

The 60th session of the Commission on Human Rights (CHR) was held in Geneva from 15 March-23 April 2004. Foreign Secretary addressed the high level segment on 18 March 2004. India voted in favour of holding the special sitting requested by the OIC on the situation arising out of the assassination of Hamas leader Sheikh Ahmed Yassin.

India continued to play a leading and balancing role at a time of increasing politicization and polarization of this important international forum. India participated actively in negotiations on thematic resolutions, and besides co-sponsoring many resolutions on a wide spectrum of thematic issues, piloted two biennial resolutions - on Advisory Services & Technical Cooperation and Tolerance & Pluralism – which were adopted by consensus. In tandem with other like minded delegations, India strongly opposed, in some cases successfully, attempts to create or indefinitely extend intrusive international monitoring mechanisms in spheres such as internally displaced persons, minorities, counter terrorism, etc.

Terrorism continued to be a subject of debate at the Commission, in which India participated in keeping with its well-founded approach that terrorists violate the most fundamental of the human rights - the right to life. Through constructive debate and discussions, India was able to reflect some of its concerns in the Mexican resolution on the issue and joined consensus.

The third and fourth sessions of the ad hoc Committee on a Comprehensive and Integral International Convention on Promotion and Protection of the Rights and Dignity of Persons with Disabilities were held from 24 May to 4 June and 23 August to 3 September 2004. India participated actively in the first reading of the draft text prepared by the Working Group.

In November 2004, India signed the Optional Protocols to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography, and on the involvement of children in armed conflicts.

A number of eminent Indians continued to serve as members of important Treaty monitoring bodies and human rights mechanisms. These include Shri P. N. Bhagwati (Member of the Human Rights Committee), Mrs. Chokila Iyer (Member of the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights), Shri R. V. Pillai (Member of the Committee on Elimination of Racial Discrimination), and Shri Miloon Kothari (Special Rapporteur on the Right to Adequate Housing). Shri Arjun Sengupta's mandate as the Independent expert on the Right to Development came to an end.

Refugee, Migration and Disaster Reduction

India took part in the meetings of the Standing Committee and informal consultations of the UN High Commission for Refugees (UNHCR), as well as the Convention Plus initiative of the High Commissioner. It also participated in the annual 55th Session of the Executive Committee of the Office of the UNHCR in October 2004. India highlighted its historical tradition of hosting refugees and commitment to the principle of non-refoulement. In its interaction with the UNHCR, India articulated issues of particular concern to developing countries which host the bulk of refugees today, including the needs to address the phenomenon of massive and mixed refugee flows, and international burden sharing and responsibility. It also highlighted the link between humanitarian assistance and long-term development as a key input for preventive strategies for refugee protection. India reiterated its consistent position that durable solutions can only be based on the consent of concerned countries, together with an impartial, transparent and objective role of the UNHCR.

Humanitarian Assistance

India continued to pilot, on behalf of the Group of 77, the annual resolution on international cooperation in humanitarian assistance for natural disasters, from relief to development. The resolution adopted by the 59th session of the General Assembly focussed on the issue of resources and mandates the Secretary-General to prepare a comprehensive report on this subject. A number of developed countries also joined the Group of 77 in co-sponsoring this resolution. The Indian delegation played an active role in the preparations for the World Conference on Disaster reduction held in Kobe in Japan in January 2005.

Global Commission on International Migration

The Global Commission on International Migration (GCIM) is a global panel which has been set up to address the question of international migration. It was launched with the support of UN Secretary General on 9 December 2003. Three Regional Hearings for Asia and the Pacific, Mediterranean and Middle East and for Europe have been held in Manila, Cairo and Budapest respectively. An inter-Ministerial delegation comprising of representatives of Ministries of Labour, Home Affairs and Ministry of External Affairs have been participating in the GCIM hearings. Shri N. K. Singh, former Member, Planning Commission is India's representative to the GCIM.

India, as a country of destination, origin and transit, has been able to put forward its concerns regarding the need to make a distinction between legal and illegal migration, the need to have non-discriminatory rules and regulations for legal migrants and the need for more liberal commitments on part of developed countries with regard to admission of independent professionals and contractual service suppliers at these meetings. The need to reach agreement on more liberal commitments under Mode 4 of GATS was stressed by India at this meeting.

Specialized Bodies: Operational Activities

Operational Activities of the UN System/UN Funds and Programmes

India continued to play a significant and constructive role in the work of the UN Funds and Programmes. Indian efforts contributed to ensure that these organisations continue to focus on their primary mandate of assisting developing countries in their efforts for poverty eradication and sustainable development without any dilution of the principle of country-driven programming, in accordance with national development plans and priorities. The Indian delegation also contributed to resisting efforts for introduction of conditionalities in the UN's development assistance programmes. India also made significant contributions to the triennial comprehensive policy review of the operational activities for development of the UN system, undertaken during the 59th session of the UN General Assembly.

United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD)

the plenary and held several bilateral meetings with his counterparts on the sidelines of the Conference. The Conference adopted a Ministerial Declaration – the Sao Paulo Consensus – and a political message – the Spirit of Sao Paulo. The Consensus document provided a policy analysis of the current process of globalization and how this will impact on developing countries. It is also perhaps the first document to emanate from a multilateral forum which specifically draws attention to the shrinking policy space available to developing countries to pursue development objectives in the light of increasing commitments that they are being asked to assume pursuant to multilateral trade and other negotiations. One of the most significant developments of the UNCTAD XI Conference was the launching of the Third Round of negotiations under the Global System of Trade Preferences among Developing Countries (GSTP).

The fact that India is among the largest contributors to the UNIDO was taken note of with appreciation in the statement made by the G-77 and China. It was mentioned that with the changing global requirements, UNIDO must emphasize on Information and Communication Technologies and their application for increasing the cost competitiveness of SMEs and structure their programmes accordingly and that India could contribute to structuring such programmes through its capabilities in this sector. India also pointed out that within the overall strategic imperative of sustainable development and employment generation, India had identified food processing, rural industry, skills up-gradation and small hydro power plants as among the focus areas for working together with UNIDO for greater impact. In the context of the discussion on South-South cooperation, India’s commitment to working towards this goal by offering Indian technology and expertise to other developing countries was highlighted, including in specific sectors such as biomass, small hydro power and manufacturing technology for low cost and earthquake resistant housing.

In its statement and interaction, India highlighted the need for developing countries to coordinate their position and present a united front at multilateral trade negotiations so that these processes could be adequately influenced in favour of developing countries. India also reiterated its continued commitment and contribution to strengthening South-South cooperation.

Disarmament

India's commitment to non-discriminatory and universal nuclear disarmament and the global elimination of all Weapons of Mass Destruction continued to be reflected in its policy pronouncements and diplomatic initiatives. The country's stand on issues related to disarmament and international security in various multilateral and regional forums was premised on India's national security interests and its tradition of close engagement with the international community to promote cooperative efforts at addressing these challenges.

Bilateral dialogues with key countries continued to be pursued this year and harmonisation of India's national imperatives and security obligations with international concerns on non-proliferation and disarmament also progressed steadily.

On the regional level, India's participation in the confidence and security building process and structure under the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and Conference on Interaction and Confidence Building Measures in Asia (CICA) acquired greater momentum.

Regular contact was maintained with key international and non-governmental organisations active in the field of disarmament with a view to disseminating the Indian perspectives on disarmament issues.

ASEAN Regional Forum

India took part in the work of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) through participation in the various meetings organised under the aegis of the ARF, including the second Inter-Sessional Meeting on Counter-Terrorism and Transnational Crimes (ISM on CT-TC) held in Manila, Philippines on 30-31 March 2004, the ARF Senior Officials' Meeting held in Yogyakarta, Indonesia in May 2004 which took stock of the developments and prepared for the 11th ARF Ministerial Meeting in July; Workshops on 'Maritime Security' organized by Indonesia, Malaysia

United Nations General Assembly

India continued to play an active role on disarmament issues in the First Committee of the UN General Assembly. At the 59th Session of the First Committee, India's Resolution on "Measures to Prevent Terrorists from Acquiring Weapons of Mass Destruction", was adopted once again unanimously. India had first tabled this Resolution at the 57th Session of the UNGA in 2002. At the 59th session, the number of co-sponsors for the Resolution increased from 17 last year to 47, including Japan, Russia and the UK. The Resolution reflects the shared concern of the international community on the threats posed by the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and retains its continuing relevance as an unambiguous statement from a truly universal and democratic body like the UN General Assembly.

India reiterated commitment to its principled stand on global nuclear disarmament based on the firm conviction that progressively lower levels of armaments globally will guarantee undiminished security for all. India believes that its security would be enhanced in a nuclear-weapons-free-world. With this commitment to global nuclear disarmament, India re-introduced its Resolution "Convention on the Prohibition of the Use of Nuclear Weapons" which was first introduced in 1982. This Resolution calls upon the Conference on Disarmament to commence negotiations on an international convention prohibiting the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons under any circumstances, as a first step towards reducing the salience of nuclear weapons.

India's Resolution on "Reducing Nuclear Danger", first introduced in 1998, which calls for the review of nuclear doctrines and immediate and urgent steps to reduce the risk of unintentional and accidental use of nuclear weapons, was also re-tabled.

India's Resolution 'Role of Science and Technology in the Context of International Security and Disarmament', highlighted the qualitative aspects of the arms race, and the need for a genuinely multilateral and non-discriminatory response. India has maintained that technology denial to responsible States does not serve the objectives of non-proliferation but only signals a punitive intent. All these resolutions were adopted by a good majority as in previous years.

Conference on Disarmament

The Conference on Disarmament (CD), the 'sole multilateral disarmament treaty negotiating body', held three sessions during 2004 in Geneva on 19 January-26 March, 10 May-25 June and 26 July-10 September. Besides the usual formal plenary meetings, the Conference held this year structured informal plenary meetings on the issues on CD's existing agenda. India actively participated in the deliberations on various proposals to end the impasse in the CD over adoption of a Programme of Work. During the course of consultations, India adopted a flexible and constructive approach in order to contribute to establishing a Programme of Work for the CD that reflected the concerns and priorities of all its Member States.

United Nations Disarmament Commission (UNDC)

The UN Disarmament Commission is the only universal forum with the mandate to deliberate on issues related to disarmament and arms control and to make recommendations to the General Assembly. The Substantive Session of the UNDC in 2004 was held from 5-27 April 2004 in New York. The Commission could not adopt its agenda as there was no consensus on the two substantive issues that it could take up for its deliberations. Though various proposals were made by the Non-aligned Group, the European Union and the United States, there was no convergence of views.

International Atomic Energy Agency

The 48th Session of the General Conference of the IAEA was held from 20 – 24 September 2004. The Indian delegation was led by Dr. Anil Kakodkar, Chairman, Atomic Energy Commission. As in the past few years, the resolutions on strengthening of safeguards, security and the safety of radioactive sources were the most contentious. India endeavoured to maintain a balanced approach in the GC resolution on 'safeguards' for all the Member States of the Agency without discrimination. The Indian delegation also contributed in great measure to the scientific forum on nuclear fuel cycles and challenges. India maintains support to the promotional role of the IAEA, in particular, to IAEA's on-going work on the International Project on Innovative Nuclear Reactors and Fuel Cycles (INPRO). A case study on the Indian Advanced Heavy Water Reactor (AHWR) was one the 14 case studies conducted under this project.

Dr. Mohamed El Baradei paid an official visit to India from 13-16 November 2004. He delivered an inaugural address at the 15th annual conference of the Indian Nuclear Society (INSAC –2004) at Mumbai on 15 November and had meetings with Chairman, Atomic Energy Commission. During his stay in Delhi, he held discussions with Foreign Secretary, National Security Advisor and Minister of External Affairs on various issues of mutual interest, including on the role of IAEA in promoting access to nuclear technology for peaceful purposes. During the discussions it was conveyed that nuclear energy would continue to occupy an important place in our energy mix, given our desire to sustain a fast rate of economic growth. DG, IAEA averred that the work of the Agency encompassed both the promotion of peaceful uses of nuclear energy and contribution to non-proliferation objectives. He appreciated India's technological prowess and its contribution to various IAEA activities.

India continued to participate in several advisory groups set up by the Director General, IAEA in technical and policy areas including the Advisory Group on Security (AdSec) and the recently established experts group on the Multinationalisation of the Nuclear Fuel Cycle. India also participated in the Global Threat Reduction Initiative (GTRI) conference, organized by the US and Russia prior to the 48th General Conference of the IAEA.

Chemical Weapons Convention

India continued to play an active role at the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW) at The Hague during the year. India is an original State Party to the Chemical Weapons Convention (CWC).

India was successfully re-elected to the Executive Council of the OPCW at the Ninth Conference of the States Parties to the CWC held at The Hague from 29 November – 3 December 2004. India effectively engaged in the deliberations and decision-making particularly the implementation of the Action Plans on Article VII (National Implementation Measures) of the Convention and universal adherence to the Convention. India highlighted all issues of concern to us and to other developing countries during this Conference and also the meetings of the Executive Council.

India continued to fulfil all its commitments under the Convention. Having declared possession of chemical weapons to the OPCW in 1997, India's destruction efforts have been proceeding well ahead of the destruction timelines stipulated under the Convention, under the OPCW inspections. Mr. Roglio Pfirter, Director General of the Organisation for Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW) visited India from 28 March – 4 April 2004. In the various interactions, India's continued interest in the success of the Chemical Weapons Convention (CWC) and its full and effective implementation was reiterated.

Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention

The Second Annual Meeting of the States Parties to the BWC was held in Geneva from 6-10 December 2004 to discuss and promote common understanding and effective action on: (i) Enhancing international capabilities for responding to, investigating and mitigating the effects of cases of alleged use of biological or toxin weapons or suspicious outbreaks of disease; and (ii) Strengthening and broadening national and international institutional efforts and existing mechanisms for the surveillance, detection, diagnosis and combating of infectious diseases affecting humans, animals, and plants. India has been supportive of this process of annual meeting of States Parties of the BTWC and believes that these meetings can play an important role in promoting common understanding among states parties through exchange of views and national experiences. A Meeting of Experts was held from 19-30 July 2004 at Geneva to prepare for the Meeting of States Parties. The Indian delegation actively participated in the deliberations at the Meeting of Experts and made detailed country presentations.

Convention on Certain Conventional Weapons

India is a High Contracting Party to the Convention on Prohibitions Or Restrictions on the Use of Certain Conventional Weapons Which may be Deemed to be Excessively Injurious or to Have Indiscriminate Effects (CCW) and has ratified all its protocols, currently in force, including the Amended Protocol II on prohibitions or restrictions on the use of Mines, booby traps and other devises.

The Second Review Conference of the States Parties to the Convention on CCW held in 2001 had decided to establish an Open-ended Group of Governmental Experts to discuss in two separate Working Groups (a) ways and means to address the issue of Explosive Remnants of War and (b) Mines Other Than Anti-personnel Mines. Three sessions of the Group of Governmental Experts were held in 2004. India's Permanent Representative to the CD, was nominated by the NAM Group as the Coordinator for the Meetings of the Working Group on Explosive Remnants of War. A Meeting of States Parties to the CCW was held at Geneva from 18-19 November 2004. The Meeting decided that the Group of Governmental Experts will continue its work in 2005. It also decided with the recommendation of NAM Group that India will continue to coordinate the Meetings of the Working Group on Explosive Remnants of War in 2005.

The Annual Meeting of the States Parties to the Amended Protocol II to the Convention on CCW on Prohibitions or restrictions on the use of mines, booby traps and other devises was also held at Geneva on 17 November 2004. India informed the Meeting about the steps taken by it to implement the provisions of Amended Protocol II and its commitment to the vision of a world free of landmines.

India remains committed to the objective of a non-discriminatory, universal and global ban on anti-personnel land mines through a phased process that addresses the legitimate defence requirements of the states while ameliorating the critical humanitarian crisis that has resulted from an indiscriminate transfer and use of land mines. India participated as an "Observer" in the First Review Conference of the States Parties to the Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines (APLs) and on their Destruction (Ottawa Convention), held in Nairobi, Kenya from 29 November – 3 December 2004, as it shares the humanitarian concerns arising out of indiscriminate use of APLs, though it is not a party to this convention, as it fails to take into account the legitimate security interests of countries which necessitates the usage of landmines for defensive purposes within valid security norms and in accordance with internationally acknowledged and well defined safety parameters.

Small Arms and Light Weapons

India is acutely aware of the problem of proliferation of and illicit trafficking in small arms and remains committed to participating actively in international search for effective solutions, including the implementation of the Programme of Action (PoA) adopted at the UN Conference on Illicit Trafficking in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects, held in July 2001.

India's Permanent Representative to the Conference on Disarmament chaired the Group of Governmental Experts on Tracing and Marking of Illicit Small Arms and Light Weapons, established by the UN Secretary General pursuant to the Resolution 56/24 V of the UN General Assembly. The Group of Governmental Experts had recommended by consensus that it was both desirable and feasible to develop an international instrument to enable States to identify and trace in a timely and reliable manner illicit small arms and light weapons. This recommendation was endorsed by the 58th session of the General Assembly in 2003.

An Open Ended Working Group to negotiate an instrument to identify and trace in a timely and reliable manner illicit small arms and light weapons has been established. The First Substantive Session of the Open-Ended Working Group established by the Secretary General to negotiate an instrument on marking and tracing of small arms and light weapons was held at New York from 14-25 June 2004. The Indian delegation, led by Ambassador/PR to the CD, made a series of technical presentations on various elements of a future instrument and, thereby, helped shape the discussions within the Group. India will remain constructively engaged in the negotiating process, which will continue actively in 2005.

Outer Space Affairs

The 47th Session of the UN Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space (UN COPUOS) was held in Vienna from 2 to 11 June 2004. The Indian delegation statement highlighted the Indian Space programmes, contribution of India to international cooperation and also made a presentation on role of space technology in Disaster Management. India effectively coordinated with both the developing and developed countries on various issues and successfully represented and safeguarded its interests. The Committee also reviewed and endorsed the report of the 43rd Session of the Legal Sub-Committee, which had held its meeting earlier.

Conference on Interaction and Confidence Building Measures in Asia

The Ministerial meeting of the Conference on Interaction and Confidence Building Measures in Asia (CICA) took place in Almaty, Kazakhstan on 22 October 2004. External Affairs Minister led Indian delegation to this meeting. Apart from India, delegations of China, Russia, Kyrgyzstan and Tajikistan were represented by their Foreign Ministers. Thailand FM also participated as Thailand was inducted as the latest full member of the CICA at this meeting, thus becoming the first South East Asian country to be a member of CICA. The Meeting adopted a "CICA Catalogue of Confidence Building Measures" and "CICA Rules of Procedure". Considerations of aspects related to the establishment of a Secretariat were deferred for the Summit, which would be held in 2006, for want of consensus. The Catalogue of CBMs contains a number of CBMs which member states can adopt on a voluntary and gradual basis. These cover the politico-military sphere, new challenges and threats as well as social, economic and humanitarian spheres. At the end of the meeting a Joint Declaration was also adopted by the Ministers, which covers a number of issues including terrorism, WMD proliferation, Afghanistan, Iraq and Middle East.

External Affairs Minister in his speech at the plenary meeting noted the progress made by CICA and emphasised that peace and prosperity in Asia and beyond could only be ensured through a cooperative approach building on the strengths of each other. Minister of External Affairs highlighted the fact that terrorism posed a serious challenge and called on member states to eliminate it through a comprehensive and sustained effort. He also noted that given the diversity of Asia measures to promote greater social and economic interaction should be the first priority.

International Law and Developments

Sixth (Legal) Committee of the UN General Assembly

During the current session, the Sixth Committee of the General Assembly considered various important items, which inter alia include the following: Responsibility of States, Convention on Jurisdictional Immunities of States and their Property, Reports of the UNCITRAL, International Criminal Court, Report of the Special Committee on the Charter of the UN, Measures to Eliminate Terrorism, Legal Protection under the Convention on the Safety of the UN and Associated Personnel and the International Convention against the Reproductive Cloning of Human Beings.

The Sixth Committee further adopted two legal instruments during this session namely, the Convention on Jurisdictional Immunities of States and their Property and also the Legislative Guide on Insolvency Law.

The General Assembly on the recommendation of the Sixth Committee decided to accord observer Status in the General Assembly to the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC), Shanghai Cooperation Organization, Southern African Development Community, Collective Security Treaty Organization, Organization of Eastern Caribbean States and the Economic Community of West African States.

The General Assembly considered the draft articles on Responsibility of States for Internationally Wrongful Acts prepared by the ILC. During the discussion, different views were expressed as to the eventual form of the draft articles. Several speakers spoke in favour of convening an international conference of plenipotentiaries to negotiate an international convention. Some even suggested establishing an ad hoc Committee or Working Group to commence the preparatory work towards such a conference. Other speakers expressed doubts as to the necessity of enshrining the articles in a convention, especially since some of the provisions have already come to be accepted as part of general international law. Further consideration has been deferred to till the 62nd session of the General Assembly, so as to give more time to States to understand the legal intricacies involved in draft articles and its implications thereof.

The Convention on Jurisdictional Immunities of States and their Property recognizes the principle that States and their entities do not enjoy jurisdictional immunity from the courts of other countries in respect of their commercial transactions.

A decision was taken by the General Assembly to continue the work of the enlargement of the scope of the Convention on Safety of the United Nations and Associated Personnel including, inter alia, by means of a legal instrument.

International Criminal Court

The International Criminal Court has become functional at The Hague after the entry into force of the Rome Statute. There are 139 signatories to the Statute out of which 97 countries have ratified it. The Assembly of State Parties has adopted the Elements of Crime and the Rules of Procedure and Evidence prepared earlier by the Preparatory Commission. The Assembly of State Parties has also elected 18 judges for the Court and its Prosecutor. The Office of the Prosecutor (OTP) has currently opened two investigations in Africa. Two States Parties, the Republic of Uganda and the Democratic Republic of Congo, have referred situations to the Chief Prosecutor Mr. Luis Moreno-Ocampo. After rigorous analysis, the Prosecutor has decided to open investigations into both situations.

Human Cloning

The ad hoc Committee, which was established by the General Assembly to elaborate the international convention on Human Cloning, was unable to resolve the scope of the Convention. One group of States wanted to ban all types of human cloning immediately. Other States, including India supported the proposal for the elaboration of an international instrument prohibiting reproductive cloning immediately, and discussion and elaboration of a legal instrument regarding all other forms of cloning including the therapeutic cloning on a step-by-step basis, leaving States the freedom to take decision whether or not to allow therapeutic cloning in their country.

Special Committee on the UN Charter

The Special Committee on the Charter of the United Nations and on the Strengthening of the Role of the Organization considered several proposals on: maintenance of international peace and security; peaceful settlement of disputes between States; the Trusteeship Council; coordination with other committees etc. concerning the maintenance of international peace and security, in particular with regard to assistance to third States adversely affected by sanctions. India's stand over the years has been that the Security Council should hold the primary responsibility towards the affected third States, as a part of the sanctions imposing decisions. The Council should establish a 'Trust Fund' for that purpose based on the scale applicable to the peacekeeping operations as well as voluntary contributions.

Comprehensive Convention on International Terrorism

It may be recalled that the draft Comprehensive Convention on International Terrorism is being considered within the framework of a Working Group of the Sixth Committee since 2000 on the basis of a draft proposed by India. Though, in principle, agreement has been reached on major draft articles, a few outstanding issues remain that include: Article 2 (definition of offence), Article 2 bis (relationship with prior sectoral conventions) and Article 18 (exclusion of actions of security forces of a State). However, the main outstanding issue relates to the proposal to exclude from the application of the Convention acts against "foreign occupation".

IMO Legal Committee

One of the important agenda items before the Legal Committee of the International Maritime Organisation (IMO) is the consideration of Draft Protocol to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts Against the Safety of Maritime Navigation, 1988. This initiative was taken by IMO in the aftermath of the 9/11 terrorist attacks on US in 2000. The draft Protocol prepared by USA proposes amendments to the SUA Convention aiming to incorporate issues that are not connected with terrorism per-se, but are aimed at incorporating disarmament and non-proliferation issues including the incorporation of "proliferation security initiative". India opposed these amendments and recorded its reservations during the 88 Session of the Legal Committee as also during the IMO Council Meeting. India also made reservations on certain aspects relating to the mandate of the Legal Committee and on the discussion of the NPT related principles within the scope of the proposed amendment exercise.

Oceans and Law of the Sea

The work under this item in the UN General Assembly focused on dual themes: first, harmonizing national legislation with the provisions of the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea, 1982 and second, the protection of marine biological diversity. The highlight of this year's oceans resolution is the establishment of a Working Group to study issues relating to the conservation and sustainable use of marine biological diversity beyond areas of national jurisdiction, as destructive practices need to be addressed both within exclusive economic zones and beyond. However, the areas beyond national jurisdiction present particular legal and logistical challenges for the international community. In preparation for the meeting of the Working Group in early 2006, the Secretariat will prepare a report on these issues.

UNCITRAL

The Working Group of the United Nations Commission

on International Trade Law (UNCITRAL) relating to Insolvency Law adopted a Draft Legislative Guide during this year. The Legislative Guide includes a comprehensive statement of key objectives and core features for a strong insolvency regime including out-of-court restructuring. The crucial task in designing a general insolvency law is to balance the priorities of various interests in the process of liquidation. The recommendations in the guide have tried to achieve this delicate balance.

The Working Group on Transport Law is presently negotiating a new convention, with a view to reviewing the existing laws relating to the international carriage of goods by sea and other modes, to cope with the practical changes due to technological developments. It would be predominantly a convention pertaining to Carriage of Goods by Sea having multimodal character. At the fourteenth session, discussion was held on issues relating to the liability for the damage to or loss of goods during the carriage, freedom of contract, and jurisdiction and arbitration for the purpose of settling disputes, which may arise out of the interpretation or application of the provisions of the proposed convention.

International Hydrographic Organization

This Division participated in the restructuring of the Convention on International Hydrographic Organization (IHO). Towards this end, a Strategic Planning Working Group (SPWG) has been established to revive and enlarge the 1956 Convention establishing the IHO, as well as its General and Financial Regulations. This year the Division participated in the fifth and final meeting of the SPWG held in Tokyo. The outcome of the Meeting would be discussed at the extraordinary conference of the IHO to be held in April 2005.

AALCO

The Annual Conference of the Asian African Legal Consultative Organisation (AALCO) for the year 2004 was held at Bali from 21-25 June 2004. During the conference, the Organization discussed several contemporary issues of international law: (i) Report on Matters relating to the work of the International Law Commission at its Fifty-fifth Session, (ii) The International Criminal Court: Recent Developments, and (iii) Expressions of Folklore and its International Protection. A special one-day session considered in depth the issues relating to Trafficking in Persons especially Women and Children.

Free Trade Agreements

Pursuant to the Free Trade Agreement with MERCOSUR, agreements on Rules of Origin, Safeguard Measures and Dispute Settlement Procedures as well as the two lists of products for exchange of concessions were finalized. Negotiations were held pursuant to the SAFTA for finalization of agreements on Rules of Origin, finalization of lists of products for exchange of concessions, mechanism for compensation of revenue losses to the LDCs, provision of technical assistance and reconciliation of SAFTA provisions for smooth implementation of Trade Liberalization Programme. Free Trade Agreement among BIMSTEC countries was signed during this year. Discussions over Free Trade Agreements with ASEAN and Thailand and Framework Agreements with South African Customs Union, and with Gulf Cooperation Council are at various stages of consideration.

Investments

Under the auspices of SAARC, this Division has also participated in the negotiations aiming to conclude a SAARC Agreement on Promotion and Protection of Investments. During this year, Bilateral Investment Promotion Agreement (BIPA) negotiations were held with Latvia and Uruguay. However, bilateral discussions with Bosnia Herzegovina, Azerbaijan, Senegal, Slovak Republic, Papua New Guinea and Tunisia are at various stages. The text has been finalized for establishing the SAARC Arbitration Council, which will have competence in settling investment related and other legal disputes in the region and the agreement is expected to be signed in the forthcoming meeting of the SAARC Summit.

Private International Law

The Division is examining the Hague Conventions on Private International Law for the purpose of India's becoming a party to them. This would help the Indian courts and parties to suits in seeking international cooperation in several civil law areas from other States parties to these conventions. As a result, India has deposited the Instrument of Accession for The Hague Convention Abolishing the Requirement of Legalization for Foreign Public Documents, 1961. Accession to the Convention on the Service Abroad of Judicial and Extra Judicial Documents in Civil or Commercial Matters, 1965, and the Convention on the Taking of Evidence Abroad in Civil or Commercial Matters, 1970 is under process. The issue of becoming a party to the Hague Convention on International Child Abduction 1980 is under active consideration.

Participation of Legal and Treaties Division in the Development of International Law

This Division participated in the Inter-Governmental Experts meeting on the UNESCO's Preliminary draft Convention on the Protection of the Diversity of Cultural Contents and Artistic Expressions. It also participated in the Drafting Committee meetings held in Paris, as well as in the Inter-Governmental Experts Group Meeting on the Elaboration of a Regional Cooperation Agreement for the Suppression of Piracy and Armed Robbery in Asia, held in Tokyo.

This Division also participated in the JWG Meeting between India and the UK to discuss and strengthen the issues relating to peace-keeping; the JWG meeting between India and Israel on combating terrorism; and the Working Group meeting of BIMSTEC Countries on Counter Terrorism.

The L&T Division participated in bilateral negotiations for concluding extradition treaties, agreements on mutual legal assistance in criminal and in civil matters with foreign countries. As a result, extradition treaties with Kuwait, Republic of Korea, Bahrain, the Philippines were signed. Treaties with Nepal and Oman have been finalized and are ready for signing. Further, treaties with Israel, Malaysia and Senegal are under negotiation. As regards mutual legal assistance in criminal matters, agreements were negotiated and finalized with Bahrain, Hong Kong, and Singapore. Agreements with Nepal, Azerbaijan, Germany, Bulgaria, Turkmenistan, Egypt and Malaysia are under negotiation. Agreements in mutual legal assistance in civil matters were finalized with Bahrain and Kazakhstan.

The Division examined several extradition requests and other requests for international cooperation received from the domestic as well as foreign jurisdictions and rendered legal advice therein.

This Division participated in bilateral talks with Pakistan on issues relating to Tulbal Navigation Project, Baglihar Project and Kishanganga Project to discuss technical issues and application of relevant provisions of the Indus Water Treaty.

This Division examined the extension of the 'Dual Citizenship' scheme to the PIOs (Persons of Indian Origin), taking into account the compatibility of the legal position with regard to dual nationality and the concentration of the Indian Diaspora.

This Division provided opinion on Cabinet notes relating to: Accession to the World Custom Union; Establishing a National Clean Development Mechanism Authority (CDMA) under the Kyoto Protocol; Accession to the Rotterdam Convention on PIC Procedures relating to Pesticides and Chemicals.

Further it also provided opinion on matters relating to the Commonwealth, Antarctica, acceding to Hague Conventions on Private International Law, International Whaling Convention, Parliament Questions, International Humanitarian Law, human rights, refugees, speech of IHL for the Indian delegation attending the 111th International Parliamentary Union meeting, environmental aspects of oil exploration in the territorial sea and EEZ of India etc. It also dealt with various Parliament Questions on the subject of international law.

Various other international legal issues and cases, in particular before the Indian courts, relating to the application of Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations, 1961; Vienna Convention on Consular Relations, 1963; Passport related matters under the provisions of the Passports Act, 1967; Section 86 of the Indian Civil Procedure Code requiring the consent of the Central Government before suing the foreign government in Indian Courts were examined.

India has signed/ratified many multilateral/bilateral treaties/agreements entered into by India with foreign countries during the year. These inter alia include Social Charter of the SAARC; the Additional Protocol to the SAARC Regional Convention on Suppression of Terrorism; Agreement on South Asian Free Trade Area (SAFTA); Intergovernmental Agreement on the Asian Highway Network adopted by the UN Economic and Social Commission for Asia and Pacific; WHO Framework Convention on Tobacco Control; Convention Abolishing the Requirement of Legalization for Foreign Public Documents; Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the Involvement of Children in Armed Conflict; Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the Sale of Children, Child Prostitution and Child Pornography. A comprehensive list is placed at Appendix IX. A list of Instruments of Full Powers issued during the year 2004 is at Appendix X and a list of Instruments of Ratification is at Appendix XI.

During the period under review, India continued its efforts to increase its integration with the world economy, particularly with the economies of Asia. India also played an active role in furthering the economic interests of other developing countries in various international organizations and multilateral, regional and sub-regional groupings. India's "Look East" policy, which was initiated in 1992, added a new dimension by successfully organising the first India-ASEAN Car Rally 2004.

Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh led the Indian delegation to the 3rd India-ASEAN (Association of South East Asian Nations) Summit held in Vientiane, Laos on 29-30 November 2004. The 3rd India-ASEAN Summit marked a maturing of the multi-faceted relationship and put in place the framework for a long-term partnership with ASEAN. The Summit demonstrated mutual interest in strengthening India-ASEAN relations, which are rooted in deep historical and cultural ties. A mutual desire to expand cooperation in political, security, technological and economic areas was also evident.

The Summit adopted the "India-ASEAN Partnership for Peace, Progress and Shared Prosperity" document which sets out the vision for future cooperation between India and ASEAN. The salient features of the document and the Plan of Action annexed to it include cooperation for strengthening and reforming the UN system, cooperation in WTO and other multilateral fora, combating the menace of international terrorism and transnational crimes, disarmament, development of regional and subregional infrastructure, capacity building and human resources development. On the sidelines of the Summit, the Prime Minister held bilateral meetings with leaders of Australia, China, Indonesia, Japan, Laos, Singapore and Vietnam.

At the Summit, ASEAN leaders expressed appreciation for support provided by India to CLMV countries (Cambodia, Lao PDR, Myanmar and Vietnam) for bridging the development gaps in ASEAN. The Minister for External Affairs inaugurated the Lao-India Entrepreneurship Developmental Centre (LIEDC) established with Indian assistance in Vientiane on 27 November 2004. Similar EDCs in the other CLMV countries are expected to be ready by 2005. PM announced that India would replenish the India-ASEAN Cooperation Fund, which funds agreed projects between India and ASEAN, by an additional contribution of US $ 2.5 million. He also conveyed his support, in principle, to the newly set up ASEAN Development Fund.

The Third ASEAN-India Business Summit was held from 19-21 October 2004 at New Delhi and Chennai. Prime Minister delivered the inaugural address. Sectoral Sessions were held on Tourism, Infrastructure (roads, ports, airports, and urban infrastructure), Financial Services and Biotechnology at New Delhi and on Agriculture & Food Processing, IT & ITES, Engineering & Manufacturing, Healthcare & Pharmaceuticals at Chennai. The events were well attended.

The first India-ASEAN Car Rally was flagged off by Prime Minister at Guwahati on 22 November 2004. The second leg of the Rally was flagged off by all ASEAN leaders together with the Prime Minister at Vientiane on 30 November 2004. The Rally concluded at Batam, Indonesia on 11 December 2004. This initiative has generated enormous public interest in India-ASEAN relations and it is expected that it would promote connectivity, as well as enhance trade, investment, tourism and people-to-people links between India and ASEAN.

The year also witnessed expansion of India-ASEAN functional cooperation in areas of mutual interest, including IT, Space and Science and Technology. An ASEAN Exploratory Study Mission in Information Technology visited India from 30 March-2 April 2004. The areas of cooperation which were identified include Cyber security, ICT, Human Resources Development, IT project for disabled, e-Commerce and Wi-max for rural areas. The ASEAN-India Working Group on Science and Technology met in Singapore on 11 June 2004. Discussions were held to promote further cooperation in the areas of Advanced Materials, Biotechnology, and Information Technology. A training course under the first phase of ASEAN-India Cooperation in Space was conducted at the Indian Institute of Remote Sensing, Dehradun from 24 May to 4 June 2004. Participants from eight ASEAN countries attended the training course. The areas identified for cooperation in the initial stages are capacity building and use of Indian Remote Sensing (IRS) data for environmental management.

Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation (BIMSTEC)

The first BIMSTEC Summit held in Bangkok, Thailand on 31 July was a watershed event for the sub-regional grouping. The Summit was attended by the President of Sri Lanka and Prime Ministers of Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Myanmar, Nepal and Thailand. Nepal and Bhutan joined the grouping in February 2004. The Summit was preceded by meetings of senior officials and Foreign Ministers of the member nations.

As an outcome of the Summit, the name of the grouping was changed from BIMST-EC to BIMSTEC (Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation). The Declaration which was adopted by the Summit, places special emphasis on cooperation in the sectors of trade and investment, transport and communications, tourism, energy, human resources development, agriculture, fisheries, science and technology and people to people contacts. It was also agreed to expand the cooperation into areas of public health, education, rural community development, small and medium scale enterprises, construction, environment, information and communications technology, biotechnology, weather and climate research and natural disaster mitigation and management. The Summit attached importance to the development of transport and communication infrastructure, hydropower and hydrocarbon projects and intra BIMSTEC interconnectivity of electricity and natural gas grids. Joint development of BIMSTEC tourism packages, introduction of BIMSTEC Travel Card/Visa, coordination of efforts of member countries in combating the menace of international terrorism and transnational crimes, promotion of exchanges of parliamentarians, media persons, students and faculty, sports persons etc were also agreed upon by the Summit. India offered to host ministerial meetings in Energy and Tourism in 2005 and the 2nd Summit in 2006.

The first meeting of BIMSTEC Trade Negotiating Committee (TNC) took place in Bangkok on 7-8 September 2004 to finalise the Terms of Reference (TORs). It was followed by the first meeting of BIMSTEC Task Force on 9 September 2004 to review various sectors of cooperation. The 2nd meeting of the TNC and a meeting of the Working Group on Rules of Origin were held in New Delhi from 6-8 December 2004.

The first meeting of Chief Executives of Railways of BIMSTEC countries was jointly organised in New Delhi by the Ministry of Railways and the Asian Institute of Transport Development (AITD), New Delhi from 20-21 September 2004. This was in pursuance of recommendations of the Expert Group Meeting held in New Delhi in 2001 to address issues relating to development of rail networks, status of Trans-Asian Railway routes, harmonization of technologies and human resource development in the BIMSTEC member countries. The Meeting stressed the need to create a genuinely regional cooperative effort aimed at human resource development. The meeting recommended that a new institutional arrangement, supported by an adequate corpus of funds, be set up. AITD has offered to contribute Rs. 20 lakhs as seed capital for this purpose, to be supplemented by contributions from member countries and grants from multilateral bodies. The Indian Railways have offered to train railway personnel from member countries free of cost. The next meeting of Chief Executives of Railways of BIMSTEC countries will be held in Myanmar.

The 1st meeting of the BIMSTEC Joint Working Group on Counter Terrorism was held in New Delhi from 9-10 December 2004. The terms of Reference and "Mandate" for the Joint Working Group were adopted at this meeting.

Indian Ocean Rim Association for Regional Cooperation (IOR-ARC)

The meeting allowed participants to share their perspectives on the issue of international investment flows.

SAARC

Following the tsunami tragedy, Bangladesh the host of the Thirteenth SAARC Summit, postponed the meeting from January to 6-7 February 2005. India took a decision not to attend the Thirteenth Summit in Dhaka on the scheduled dates against the background of the then prevailing situation in our neighbourhood, which had caused us grave concern. India reiterates its continuing and consistent commitment to the SAARC process, and to increased regional cooperation among Member States and maintains that it is only in an environment free from political turmoil and violence that a Summit would yield the desired outcome.

The Twelfth SAARC Summit in January 2004 in Islamabad witnessed the signing of three documents, the SAARC Social Charter, an Additional Protocol on Terrorism and a framework Agreement on SAFTA. India offered to contribute US$ 100 million for Poverty Alleviation projects in SAARC countries (outside India).

As mandated by the Twelfth Summit, the Independent South Asian Commission on Poverty Alleviation (ISACPA) prepared a report setting out SAARC Developmental Goals (SDGs) for the next five years in the areas of poverty alleviation, education, health and environment. The ISACPA Report was launched in different SAARC capitals through the year 2004. India launched the ISACPA Report on 21 December 2004. A Regional Poverty Profile-2004, the second such report, detailing economic indicators of SAARC member countries is to be presented at the Thirteenth Summit in Dhaka.

Proposals by India

At the 25th Council of Ministers Meeting in Islamabad, July 2004, India made the following significant proposals: [the status report on each proposal is given in brackets]

- i) Setting up a South Asian Parliamentary Forum: India sought to set up a South Asian Parliamentary Forum to deliberate on issues pertaining to regional cooperation endeavours under SAARC, and offered to host the next meeting of the Forum. [India will be hosting a meeting of the Forum during the Budget Session 2005].
- ii) Establishment of a SAARC High Economic Council formed with the Finance and Planning Ministers of the SAARC Member Countries to promote ideas and initiatives related to regional economic integration in economic, trade, financial and monetary areas. [The 4th SAARC Commerce Ministers Meeting in Islamabad, 20-23 November 2004 conveyed approval for Member States to send their comments to the Secretariat for consideration during the Thirteenth Meeting of the Committee on Economic Cooperation to be held in Bangladesh at a date to be decided in 2005].
- iii) Setting up of a SAARC Infrastructure Fund, for major infrastructure projects in the region. [The 4th SAARC Commerce Ministers Meeting in Islamabad, 20-23 November 2004 approved that in the first instance, advice of SAARCFINANCE (a body comprising Governors of Central Banks and Finance Secretaries of SAARC), may be obtained about the conceptual viability and feasibility of the proposal].
- iv) Setting up of National Committees in member countries mandated to monitor and devise programmes to implement the goals of the SAARC Social Charter, as well as consult with each other to promote collaborative Poverty Alleviation Projects, including under the SAARC Poverty Alleviation Fund. [Ministry of Statistics & Programme Implementation has been identified as the nodal focal point for cooperation with SAARC counterparts].
- v) As part of the SAARC Awareness Year for TB and HIV/AIDS, India offered to host a meeting this year of experts and community workers, train paramedics from the SAARC countries, and also offered to send medical vans and mobile awareness units to each of the SAARC countries. [A project is under preparation by National Aids Control Organisation (NACO), in consultation with the Ministry of External Affairs, for implementing this project].
- vi) India has offered training in the field of statistics. [India has asked SAARC Secretariat to suggest dates suitable to member countries for holding the first meeting towards implementing this proposal].

Negotiations for a South Asia Free Trade Area (SAFTA)

The SAFTA has seen progress with six meetings held between January and December 2004. There has been progress on fine tuning the Sensitive Lists, and narrowing differences on Rules of Origin. A Concept Paper on Mechanism for Compensation to the Least Developed Contracting States (LDCS – Bangladesh, Bhutan, Maldives and Nepal) is to be discussed at the Maldives meeting in March 2005. Requests made by the LDCs for Technical Assistance would be forthcoming from India, Pakistan and Sri Lanka. It is hoped that all issues would be wrapped up by June 2005, enabling countries to complete formalities for bringing SAFTA into effect by January 2006. With SAFTA coming into force by 1 January 2006, and its full operationalisation by 2016, we shall be able to move forward in other areas of economic integration such as services and investment, with a view to moving towards a Customs Union and eventually a South Asia Economic Union by 2020. Our proposal at the July Ministerial Meeting for the establishment of a SAARC High Economic Council was with the idea of promoting ideas and initiatives related to regional economic integration in economic, trade, financial and monetary areas. Alongside SAFTA, Trade Facilitation Agreements pertaining to Customs Cooperation and Avoidance of Double Taxation are likely to be signed during the Thirteenth Summit.

Proposal for an Early Warning and Disaster Response Regime

As approved in the 6th Environment Ministers Meeting, India has prepared and circulated through the Secretariat a Concept Paper on “Information Sharing on Disaster Preparedness and Mitigation”. This would be considered by an Expert Group meeting sometime in 2005, which would submit its recommendations to the Seventh Meeting of the SAARC Environment Ministers in Dhaka, November 2005. India is keen to set up a SAARC Centre for Disaster Management in New Delhi. The Centre would provide a mechanism for sharing information on disaster management amongst SAARC countries and also benefit from best practices prevailing in the region and beyond. This Centre would be located within the National Institute of Disaster Management (NIDM), New Delhi, an institution of international standard, and can function as a resource base for data and Regional Training Centre in SAARC for Disaster Management. India would be in a position to share IT and GIS-based information systems for disaster management as well as space application technologies. The Centre would benefit from the synergies of co-location with NIDM. The proposal acquires additional relevance and urgency in the wake of the recent tsunami tragedy, which has seen such a large loss of life, displacement of persons, and loss of property and infrastructure.

In 2004-2005, to date, LOCs amounting to US$ 423 million have been approved for disbursement and an additional amount of US$ 352 million is in the pipeline. The grants and LOCs have helped Indian companies to obtain project contracts and orders for supply of goods and services in a number of countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

The Division has been highlighting to the media and the business community in India and abroad of the importance being attached by the Ministry of External Affairs to economic diplomacy to promote India’s economic and commercial interests. As part of this, the Missions are being encouraged to be pro-active in the promotion of India’s economic and commercial interest.

The website is constantly updated with comprehensive and relevant information for global investors and businessmen about the opportunities in India.

As part of its drive to promote India as an attractive investment destination, the ITP Division supported the efforts of the Ministry of Commerce in organizing the OECD sponsored Global Forum on International Investment (GFII) and the India Investment Roundtable which were held in New Delhi in October 2004. fields, including the views of the government on various facets of international relations.

The Section also remained seized of the depiction of India's international boundaries in foreign publications. Cases of incorrect depiction were taken up with the concerned governments or the publisher through the Indian Mission abroad for necessary corrective measures. The Division was also responsible for scrutinizing the depiction of India's external boundaries in the foreign publications imported into the country, and offered its advice to the Ministries dealing with the matter. The External Publicity Division, as the interface of the Ministry with the media, continued to project India's perspective on foreign policy issues. The Government's concerns and viewpoint on various issues were actively articulated and widely disseminated through regular and special press briefings, statements, backgrounders, website, audio-visual material, brochures and pamphlets etc. The Division strengthened public diplomacy efforts through providing new and updated material to Indian Missions abroad for promoting India.

Special attention was paid to articulate the foreign policy priorities of the new Government which came into power in May 2004. The subsequent intensive diplomatic engagement of the new Government was evident from the exchange of high-level visits which provided excellent opportunities for articulating India's stand on various issues. Prime Minister's visits to Bangkok for BIMSTEC Summit, London, New York for UN General Assembly, The Hague for India-EU Summit and Vientiane (Laos) for India-ASEAN Summit were extensively covered in the national and world media. India's perspectives on terrorism, international peace, security and disarmament and the progress achieved by India in the fields of economy, S&T, IT, biotechnology etc. were also highlighted.

Spokesperson's Office

Press briefings, statements and releases remained the most popular means of communication for journalists and proved to be highly effective in ensuring well-informed media coverage. The Division's approach in this regard remained both reactive and proactive with responses provided to specific issues raised by the media and information disseminated on issues of concern to the Ministry. About 150 press briefings were held or briefing points released by the Official Spokesperson during the period April 2004 – January 2005. In addition, more than 150 press releases and statements were issued during the same period.

External Affairs Minister, Foreign Secretary and other senior officials of the Ministry addressed special media briefings on important issues of concern. External Affairs Minister held press briefings in the External Publicity Division after assumption of charge and on the occasion of the completion of six months of UPA Government in office.

Media management during the hostage crisis in Iraq was one of the crucial activities carried out during the year. It was ensured that the media received regular updates through the statements issued by the Ministry during the crisis. These statements were promptly uploaded onto the website and simultaneously sent to various news organizations through email.

India's relief efforts in the wake of the Tsunami disaster were given due publicity. Besides regular briefings by Official Spokesperson, a joint briefing by Foreign Secretary and Chief of Integrated Service Command was also organized. The Division also sent regular updated information to the Indian Missions on Tsunami.

Website

The Ministry's website www.meaindia.nic.in was updated on a real-time basis with latest press releases, briefings, statements, documents, reports, Question-Answers in Parliament, interviews and relevant articles and op-ed pieces from Indian and international media. The electronic versions of our releases have become a popular and cost-effective means of disseminating information to the media. Many journalists access them directly from the website while about 200 contacts registered in the Division's database are also sent emails. All issues of the Ministry's monthly magazine "India Perspectives" and various other publications and audio-visual material produced by the Division are also placed on the website. The Division is also in the process of digitizing press conferences and briefings for the website.

The weekly MEA Newswire covering important developments of the week continued to target intellectuals, opinion-makers, think-tanks and India-watchers across the globe. An electronic Notice Board was created for use as a source of information on the publicity material available with the External Publicity Division for the Missions. During the General Elections in May 2004, which received wide and unprecedented coverage across the world, more than 100 journalists from abroad were assisted in coverage, access to polling stations, accreditation matters etc.

Visits by Foreign Media

External Publicity Division, in coordination with Indian Missions abroad, continued to organize visits of foreign journalists to India and their interaction with important institutions and centres of excellence in India. Meetings with senior officials, intellectuals, academicians, and business representatives, among others were organized for the visiting journalists. These visits have emerged as a key element of our multi-pronged efforts to bring about a more accurate and contemporary depiction of India in the foreign media as the journalists obtain a unique, first-hand impression of developments in India's foreign policy, economy, science and technology and culture.

The Division facilitated the visits of more than 50 journalists to India between April 2004 and January 2005. These included familiarization visits by senior journalists and editors from Austria, Azerbaijan, Bangladesh, Cambodia, Cuba, Czech Republic, Egypt, Hungary, Mauritius, Mexico, Mongolia, Nepal, Nigeria, Philippines, Russia, Slovakia, Sri Lanka, Sudan, Syria, Tanzania, Thailand, UK, USA, etc. For the first time in several years, a group of seven Pakistani journalists were invited for a ten-day visit. Audio-Visual Publicity

The Division received over 325 proposals from different countries for production of documentary films on varied themes depicting India's natural and cultural heritage, economy, social traditions etc. Of these, more than 275 were cleared on receipt. India Perspectives

India Perspectives continues to be the flagship magazine of the Ministry’s publicity effort abroad. The magazine aims at promoting India’s rich cultural heritage, as also the giant strides the country is making in the fields of Information Technology, space, nuclear energy, science and technology and other related fields of human endeavour. Published in ten international languages to reach almost all corners of the globe, the magazine carries carefully selected articles encompassing all facets of life in India to portray India’s achievements in diverse fields. The magazine also lends a helping hand in tapping India’s vast tourism potential by carrying beautifully illustrated features on various destinations in the country. It also seeks to articulate India’s foreign policy concerns in a subtle manner. The current and old issues of India Perspectives are available in the electronic format to the readers on the Ministry’s website. Going by the reader’s response from around the world, the magazine is keenly awaited every month and has created a niche for itself. As India celebrated 400 years of the Guru Granth Sahib, the December 2004 issue of the magazine sought to bring out the relevance and importance of this great book that has stood the test of time.

The CPV Division of the Ministry of External Affairs through the Central Passport Organisation (CPO) and through the passport, visa and consular wings of Indian Missions and Posts abroad provides a direct interface with the general public in India, with the Indian Diaspora abroad and with foreign nationals. The Ministry issues passports and renders passport related services through the Passport Offices in India.

Currently there are 30 Passport Offices in India. All Passport Offices have been computerized and issue machine-printed and machine-readable passports. Grant orders for issue of passport are generated electronically. All routine passport related work such as generation of cash, index checking, writing of passports, addresses and dispatch are computerized and records maintained electronically. Passport applications are being scanned and stored electronically. As part of strengthening the public grievance mechanism, all Passport Offices have been instructed to set up Facilitation Counters and Help Desk to assist applicants and also to attend to grievances/complaints promptly. A public grievances mechanism also exists within the CPV Division under close supervision of JS (CPV).

Passport Services

Decentralisation through Post Offices and District Offices

As part of Decentralisation Scheme, District Passport Cells (DPCs) have been opened at districts levels where the office of the District Magistrate/Superintendent of Police receives passport applications and after scrutiny and police verification forwards them to the concerned Passport Office for issuance of passports. Currently there are approximately 400 DPCs in 26 states in India. Opening of DPCs has resulted in decongestion in Passport Offices to a large extent. In addition to expediting the police verification process, DPCs also provide relief to the applicants who do not have to travel long distances to approach Passport Offices. The passport applications are also received through the network of Speed Post Centres. Currently there are approximately 215 Speed Post Centres that accept passport applications.

Ongoing Innovations

The 'Tatkaal' Scheme for out-of-turn issue of passports has enabled the system to speedily respond to demand for issuance of passports on urgent basis. During the year 2004 (upto December 2004) a total of 206915 passports were issued under the Tatkaal Scheme resulting in additional revenue of Rs. 31.12 crore.

Tele-enquiry system is available in 22 Passport Offices and touch screen enquiry kiosk has been introduced in PO Bangalore on pilot basis.

Review of Passport Issuance System

An Inter-Ministerial Committee on 'Review of the Passport Issuance System' which was set up in the Cabinet Secretariat has made several recommendations to simplify the passport issuance system. A large number of recommendations have already been implemented and the remaining recommendations are being processed in consultation with the concerned agencies.

Infrastructure

The Government has taken up construction of buildings to house the Passport Offices at Bangalore, Kolkata, Lucknow, Jaipur and Bhubaneswar. At present, Passport Office buildings at eight places viz Mumbai, Chandigarh, Cochin, Kozhikode, Ahmedabad, Hyderabad, Patna and Panaji are owned by Ministry of External Affairs (MEA). Office premises in six Passport Offices are owned by Central Government/State Government and are rented in 16 Passport Offices. The process for purchase of land for four Passport Offices i.e. Tiruchirapalli, Guwahati, Jalandhar and Mumbai is also underway.

Computerisation

At present, all 30 Passport Offices have been computerised. E-mail facility is available at all computerised Passport Offices. Web pages have also been created for all Passport Offices. A proposal for a comprehensive computerised network and connectivity with interlinking of all Passport Offices as well as creation of a Central Processing Cell is envisaged.

Workload

During the period January-December 2004, a total number of 3352780 passports were issued and 395598 miscellaneous services were rendered. Passport-Office wise break-up of the figures for number of passport applications received/passports issued/misc. services rendered and revenue and expenditure is at Appendix IV.

Scanning of Passport Files

Lack of sufficient space for storage of old applications and difficulties in speedy retrieval for reference or for court related matters have been a long-standing problem. To overcome this problem, it was decided to scan old applications and to store the information in CDs. CNE (Committee on Non-Plan Expenditure) approval was obtained. Scanning of old passport application has been completed in all Passport Offices.

Passport Officers Conference

A Passport Officers Conference was held at Cochin on 26 September 2004. Shri E. Ahamed, Minister of State for External Affairs inaugurated the Conference. He emphasized on modernization, decentralization, elimination of pendencies, speedy redressal of public grievances, proper maintenance of office buildings and zero tolerance towards corruption and negligence.

Consular Services

All Missions and Posts abroad render consular services to Indian diaspora abroad. In cases of deaths of Indians abroad, prompt assistance was provided by Indian Missions and Posts for completing the formalities for early dispatch of the mortal remains, liaison with the local and Indian authorities and keeping the relatives of the deceased informed. During January-November 2004, 8909 Indians were arrested abroad. 2378 deaths of Indians abroad were reported to the Ministry.

Visa Services

Over the years, the procedure for grant of visa by Indian Missions and Posts has been simplified. Most Missions and Posts grant visas either across the counter on the same day or at the most within 48 hours. A project for computerisation of the Visa & Passport Wings of the Missions and Posts in the Gulf, West Europe and North America is under implementation. First, those Missions and Posts would be computerised where the volume of services rendered is high. Separately, CPV Division and NIC have been working on the computerisation of the Visa and Passport Wings of High Commission of India, Islamabad and London.

Consular Attestation

During the year 2004-05, 5,37,467 documents were accorded consular attestation in CPV Division, of which 232060 were commercial documents. This service is rendered on the same day without any charges and is prompt and efficient.

Consular Agreements – Extradition and Mutual Legal Assistance Agreements

In order to provide a legal and institutional framework to combat organised crime, international terrorism and drug trafficking, and to respond to the growing international dimensions of financial and other crime, bilateral agreements are being negotiated with several countries to provide legal underpinning to this international effort. These consular agreements include Treaties on Extradition, Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters and Mutual Legal Assistance in Civil and Commercial Matters.

During the visit of the President of South Korea to India in October 2004, two agreements, Treaties on Extradition and Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal matters were signed. Extradition treaty and Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty in Criminal Matters were signed with Kuwait in August 2004 during the visit of the Foreign Minister of Kuwait to India. An Extradition Treaty was also signed between the Government of India and The Sultanate of Oman on 26 December 2004.

During the year, official delegations visited Nepal to negotiate Treaties on Extradition and Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters. An official delegation visited Singapore to negotiate Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty in Criminal Matters. Official delegations from Iran, Hong Kong, Singapore and Kazakhstan visited India to negotiate various consular agreements. As a result, text of visits of various foreign delegations to India, Extradition Treaty with Oman, Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty in Civil Matters with Kazakhstan, Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty in Criminal Matters with Hong Kong and Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty in Criminal Matters with Singapore were finalized and initialled at official level.

The Ministry actively pursues requests for extradition and legal assistance from foreign governments both for criminal and civil/commercial offences. The requests for extradition emanate from our obligations under the Extradition Treaties or Extradition Arrangements entered into with various countries. During the year 2004, 14 extradition requests from various investigation agencies were forwarded to the Foreign Governments. During the same period, India received 10 extradition requests from foreign governments. The Government of India extradited two persons. Three persons were extradited to India from foreign countries. Government of India received 88 requests for legal assistance from foreign governments and 37 Indian requests for legal assistance in criminal matters were forwarded to the foreign governments.

Administration

Shri Natwar Singh assumed charge of Minister of External Affairs on 23 May 2004. Shri E. Ahamed and Shri Rao Inderjit Singh also assumed charge of Ministers of State on the 23 May 2005. Shri Shyam Saran assumed charge of Foreign Secretary from 1 August 2004.

Effective pursuance of India's foreign policy objectives necessitates increase in India's diplomatic presence abroad. Equally important challenge for the Administration Division during the year was to keep the morale of its personnel high by providing adequate promotional avenues in all grades. As part of the policy to meet the functional requirements of the Ministry, both at Headquarters and in Indian Missions/Posts, as also to meet the aspirational needs of its personnel, the Administration Division undertook the 4th Cadre Review of IFS and also the first ever Cadre Review of IFS 'B'. The 4th Cadre Review IFS enabled creation of 29 posts at Grade III of IFS and also 40 posts at Junior Scale of IFS and Probationers' Reserve. The first ever cadre review of IFS(B) provides for creation of 60 posts at Under Secretary level, 94 posts at Section Officer level and 67 posts at Private Secretary level, and also commensurate reductions in Group 'C' posts. With the active support of DoP&T and Ministry of Finance, the Ministry has been able to get necessary approvals for both the Cadre Reviews and also implemented them in a time-bound manner.

Ministry implemented mandatory Screening Committee mechanism devised by DoP&T for optimization of Direct Recruitment at all levels— which resulted in abolition of posts. Administration Division also undertook extensive studies of human resources deployments in the Ministry and effected various measures to rationalize the distribution of personnel both in the Missions/Posts abroad as well as in various Divisions at Headquarters in the wake of above mandatory abolition of posts. This exercise was also aimed at streamlining the support staff available in the Ministry by providing sufficient number of more qualified senior staff, in the light of dwindling numbers of lower level staff particularly at UDC/LDC level.

A total of 3340 officers and staff are employed by the Ministry at Headquarters and in 162 Missions/posts abroad, as detailed in the table at Appendix I. This includes Indian Foreign Service A (IFS), Indian Foreign Service B (IFS B), Interpreters and Legal & Treaties (L&T) Cadres.

The Establishment Division remains a service Department responsible for renting and maintenance of all premises of the Ministry in India, renting of premises abroad, fixation of allowances and grants and supply of office and residential equipment, furniture and art objects to Missions as well as offices at Headquarters.

A system of mid-term review of the foreign allowance effective from 1 October every year was introduced to make the system of annual indexation introduced in 1998 more responsive to changes in the cost of living. The Indexation Team visited South Africa, London and Rome to examine problems related to the depreciation of the US dollar. On the recommendation of the Team, the ministry provided protection to the Representational Grant in terms of local currency and to the Foreign Allowance in certain Missions. A comprehensive review of the Representational Grant and Special Grants is under consideration.

The floors of Akbar Bhawan, vacated by CDoT, were renovated. The new Ministry of Overseas Indian Affairs will occupy part of it while the rest will be with the Ministry. Work is also to start soon on the renovation of C-I Hutments, where the Records Management Section is located.

The Committee for selection of art objects (OdA Committee) was reconstituted. Smt. Anita Saran, Spouse of Foreign Secretary is the Chairman of the Committee. Members of the OdA Committee are: Shri S. Projects Division

The Projects Division of the Ministry of External Affairs is a service Department administering expenditure related to Capital Outlay for purchase of built-up properties and construction and renovation projects in India and abroad. In addition, the Division is responsible for repair and maintenance of the Ministry of External Affairs' premises abroad.

Projects

The Ministry attaches high priority to the expeditious completion of planned construction projects in India and abroad and is moving resolutely to achieve this goal. Efforts to expedite construction on government owned plots have been intensified and substantive progress was made during 2004-05 in developing these plots and commencing planning and construction activities in a systematic manner.

The Ministry has successfully completed construction of the Embassy complex in Abu Dhabi. Other projects are in various stages of planning and implementation. Financial approval of the competent authority has been obtained for construction of the Chancery and staff residences in Warsaw, redevelopment of High Commissioner's Residence in Singapore and construction of the Chancery in Abuja. Pre-construction activities for these projects, such as finalization of drawings and obtaining local body approvals, have been initiated. Financial approval for the projects in Brasilia, Kathmandu, Islamabad, Tashkent, etc. is being processed. Design for the Dhaka Embassy complex has been finalized and the Ministry is in the process of signing an agreement with the consultant following which cost estimates will be drawn up.

For projects where financial approval already exists, Ministry is taking steps for their timely execution. The first stage building permit for the construction project in Beijing has been obtained and second stage approvals are being processed. The process of short-listing contractors has also been initiated. Fresh tenders are being floated for the Muscat construction project where the tendered cost turned out to be above the approved cost. The residential construction project in Moscow, which had reached an advanced stage of planning, has been stalled in view of the withdrawal of the plot by the local authorities and efforts are on to reach a mutually acceptable solution. Renovation of the PR's Residence in Geneva is underway and construction of residences at 8 SAS London has been initiated. Construction of a Cultural Centre in Tokyo and renovation of other properties of the Mission in Tokyo are at planning stage.

New plots for construction of Chancery were acquired in Mauritius and Bahrain. A plot offered by the Mauritian government in the upcoming Cyber City for construction of our Chancery, in lieu of the earlier plot, was accepted during December. In Bahrain, a plot in the new diplomatic enclave was purchased based on a decision of a Property Team that visited Bahrain in January 2005. The Qatar authorities have informed that a plot will be allotted to us in the new diplomatic enclave in Doha by mid 2005.

In India, construction of the Foreign Service Institute complex, including the hostel and administrative block and residences, is at an advanced stage of execution. An additional strip of land has been acquired for the FSI complex and local body approvals are being sought for the plans. The headquarters of the Asian-Afro Legal Consultative Organisation, being constructed in Chanakyapuri as a gift from the Government of India, is nearing completion. Construction of the ICCR building in Kolkata and Regional Passport Office building in Lucknow is also in progress. Construction of the RPO building in Chandigarh has been completed. Construction of a housing complex for the Ministry of External Affairs officers in Pappankala, Dwarka has also been completed and allotment of flats has already started.

Financial sanction for the construction of the Ministry of External Affairs Officers' Housing Complex in Chanakyapuri has been obtained and CPWD has been asked to implement the project within a stipulated time frame. CPWD is in the process of obtaining local body approvals.

The Jawaharlal Nehru Bhavan project has been entrusted to the CPWD for design and execution. Formerly known as Videsh Bhavan, the Jawaharlal Nehru Bhavan will serve as the headquarters of the Ministry of External Affairs, and will be located at the junction of Janpath and Maulana Azad Road. An in-house concept design has been prepared by CPWD which is in architectural harmony with the creation of Lutyens and other buildings on the Central Vista and is in consonance with the environment and surroundings. As the building would house the Foreign Ministry, which is frequently visited by foreign dignitaries, due care has been taken to ensure that the building not only meets the Ministry's functional requirements, but also has a notable presence, representative of India's stature in the international community.

The concept design of the Jawaharlal Nehru Bhavan has been approved in principle by the Delhi Urban Arts Commission while approval of the Central Vista Committee and other local bodies is being processed. Simultaneously, financial approval of the project is also being sought. The Committee for Non-Plan Expenditure has approved the project at a cost of Rs. 175.57 crores, based on CPWD estimates. Necessary steps are being taken to obtain Cabinet approval. CPWD has indicated that construction of the building will take forty months after receipt of all approvals. The Ministry attaches a high priority to the project and it would be the effort of the Ministry to ensure that the project is completed on schedule once the necessary approvals are obtained.

In pursuance of the recommendations of the Standing Committee of Parliament on External Affairs, progress of construction projects is being closely monitored and evaluated on a regular basis. Status of the projects is regularly reviewed with a view to ensuring proper follow up and timely implementation.

Purchase of Property Abroad

Ministry has been making efforts to cut down on government expenditure on rentals through purchase of built up property abroad. High rental stations have been identified and Missions in these stations have been asked to locate suitable properties for purchase. Increase in the Ministry's delegated financial powers for expenditure on purchase/ construction projects from Rs. 5 crores to Rs 15 crores has given greater leeway to Missions to explore possibilities of purchase. It has been the endeavour of the Ministry to process proposals received in an expeditious manner. Property for Ambassador's Residence was purchased in Panama in March 2004. A Property Team visited Buenos Aires and Georgetown in January 2005 and recommended purchase of Chancery and Embassy Residence in both the stations. Various formalities associated with purchase are being processed with a view to concluding these purchases within the current financial year. Proposals for purchase of property in various other stations are under active consideration of the Ministry.

e-Governance & Information Technology

A new Division, called e-Governance & Information Technology, was created to reflect the increased importance attached to the e-Governance initiatives in Ministry of External Affairs, in addition to the ongoing hardware supply aspect.

A major project on a worldwide scale was initiated and completed during this period, namely, Project Standardised Email Addresses and Management. Through the implementation of this project, all Ministry of External Affairs email users have been brought under a single domain of user@mea.gov.in. Every Mission/Post has also been given the standard email IDs under the scheme. Moreover, all officers have been given Name Based Permanent Email IDs that can be used based on anywhere-anytime basis.

Apart from this, various other projects like Mission Passport and Visa package, Diplomatic ID card digitization, Parliamentary Assurances Monitoring Systems have been completed. Ministry of External Affairs's website has been standardized under www.mea.gov.in domain name.

The Coordination Division consists of three Wings: Parliament Section, Coordination Section and Students Cell.

Non Resident Indians and People of Indian Origin Overseas

After creation of the new Ministry of Overseas Indian Affairs, most of the subjects which were being handled by this Division have been transferred to the new Ministry. Since the NRI/PIO Division is still a part of the Ministry of External Affairs, some of the subjects handled by the Division during the period under review are given below:

Third Pravasi Bharatiya Divas 2005

The 3rd Pravasi Bharatiya Divas was organized in Mumbai from 7-9 January 2005. NRI/PIO Division gave full secretariat backup to the newly formed Ministry of Overseas Indian Affairs (MOIA) in organizing the event. The Prime Minister inaugurated the event and Pravasi Bharatiya Samman Awards were conferred by the President on 15 prominent NRIs/PIOs. It gave an opportunity to the Government to feel the pulse of the Indian diaspora vis-à-vis their expectations and to evolve a broad framework of policy to engage the diaspora for mutual benefit.

Inaugurating the 3-day event, Prime Minister announced the extension of dual citizenship to overseas Indians in all countries who migrated from India after 26 January 1950. Following PM's announcement, Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) is taking action in simplifying the application form and format of citizenship certificate and issue of OIC visa. The Indian Citizenship Act and Supplementary Rules are accordingly being amended and this will be notified to all concerned.

Grievances Received from NRIs / PIOs

During the period in question, the Division received a large number of complaints from NRIs / PIOs regarding illegal occupation and violation of their property in India. These grievances were referred to the concerned state Governments for amicable settlement. Complaints were also received regarding failed and fraudulent marriages of Indian girls with NRI/PIO grooms. Since the problem was assuming serious proportions, State Governments were sensitized to create a separate Cell to handle such problems, including counseling and legal options, in line with recommendations of the National Commission for Women whose report highlighted the plight such women seeking urgent redressal.

Launching of Virtual Campus for Mid Career Training

Foreign Service Institute (FSI) established in 1986 was originally tasked with the mid-career training for our officers. In pursuance of this objective competent authorities approved an Internet based training programme for mid-career officers. The proposal for Internet based training programme was made in view of the fact that our officers are scattered at different posts and jobs across the world in different time zones and the movement of officers on transfer either to headquarters or to another mission, at different times, make them unavailable for headquarter-based training in significant number at any given moment.

The mid-career training shall focus on the following Groups of officers:

- Target Group 1 (TG-1): officers with service of 11- 13 years
- Target Group 2 (TG-2): officers with service of 18-20 years

The training course started in July 2004 with 1992 batch officers in TG- 1 and 1985 batch officers in TG-2. The online training focused on foreign policy, security, economic and regional issues for both the groups. For the TG- 2 officers, FSI organized a two-week residential module from 3-14 January 2005 in New Delhi. The aim of the residential module is to supplement the online learning with interaction with important decision-makers. As part of the two-week module the TG-2 participants also attended a three day module on "Strategic Management and Leadership" at Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore.

There were five students for MBBS, seventeen for engineering and one for Diploma course, for whom the Division carried out formalities with the Ministry of Health and Ministry of Human Resource Development. 55 seats in Kendriya Vidyalaya were utilized by the children of the officers/staff of the Ministry of External Affairs. Cases with the Police authorities were taken up to the satisfaction of concerned officials. During the year, other welfare measures undertaken by the Division were arrangements for collection of funds for Flag Days for Communal Harmony, Red Cross, Armed Forces and Ministry of External Affairs Staff Benefit Fund.

A secure transport service has been started for families returning from abroad during night-time. In the area of stress management 'Art of Living' course was conducted at Headquarters and a paper with questionnaire on Stress Management in Missions abroad has been circulated for benefit of Ministry of External Affairs employees working abroad.
